Silva Gives Bond Ideas For Novato

New Police Station, Road Work, Park Sites Sought

A five-million-dollar bond issue, to provide Novato with a long list of capital improvements, was proposed for the November ballot last night by Novato City Councilman M. E. Babe Silva.

The councilman suggested that his four-part program be presented to the voters item by item. It was given to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget, who was asked to get expressions from city department heads.

1. A two-story concrete block police station, with holding cells and with a city maintenance garage in the rear, at the location of the present police station and the neighboring George Morrison home. He estimated this would cost $200,000 to $300,000.

2. A broad program of street improvement, to run between three and four million dollars, including: reconstruction of South Novato and Novato boulevards from Highway 37 to Wilson Avenue; reconstruction of all of Grant Avenue; completion of widening of Center Road to Wilson Avenue; widening of Simmons Lane from San Marin Drive to Novato Boulevard, and "any other major street projects which the public works department feels should be on the list."

3. Covering and fencing of many open drainage ditches in the city, notably on Diablo, Tamalpais, Olive and Vallejo avenues, where children must walk to and from school beside streams of water three and four feet deep, estimated to cost up to a million dollars. "Novato has been lucky in the past that no child has fallen into one of these ditches and drowned," said Silva.

4. Park site acquisition. Silva said if the county park bond issue passes, it will give the city "a good deal of money" for this

Red Vessel Still Coy Off Coast

A Coast Guard spokesman said today that a cargo of fish was being transferred from the Russian fishing vessel Skryplev to the Chernjakhovsk, the Russian ship that is supposed to be in need of engine repairs.

Monday night the Chernjakhovsk's master radioed the Coast Guard in San Francisco that his vessel's engine breakdown had created an emergency, and requested permission to enter San Francisco harbor to make repairs.

The Coast Guard refused permission, and radioed the Russian master that his ship would be boarded if he attempted to enter the bay. The Russian master radioed back that he had no objection to being boarded.

The Coast Guard had indicated it would probably agree to board the ship, either in international waters or in Drake's Bay, to see if it is in dire need of repairs.

The Russian master indicated that the Chernjakhovsk would transfer cargo to the Skryplev for two or three days before the inspection. The Coast Guard spokesman said he could not understand why the Russians would be transferring fish to the disabled ship, instead.

International law provides that calm waters must be allowed a ship in an emergency.

DRIVE-IN PETITION SIGNING

Taking a cue from banks, opponents of Marincello today took to Southern Marin roadsides to flag down cars and get signatures in their campaign for a referendum on blocking the development. With a boost from a few disc jockeys, they parked today near the Spencer Avenue on-ramp of Highway 101, waving to each driver to pull off and sign. At least 13 persons did so. Here, Mrs. John T. Vander Male signs as Mrs. Peter Erickson holds the petition.

Viet Nam Political Feuding Affecting War: McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today political disorder in South Viet Nam has reduced the effectiveness of U.S. military operations.

However, McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this "reduced effectiveness in recent weeks will terminate shortly."

As a measure of the reduced effectiveness, the Pentagon chief said the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese fatalities fell about 50 per cent in the first three months of the year.

This, he said, is "some measure of the effect of the political situation."

"South Viet Nam is in the midst of a political ferment," he said, "and we should expect a ferment at a time when a nation is seeking to form institutions that had been absent in the society."

In an earlier exchange on Viet Nam, McNamara said the Viet Nam, McNamara said the Viet Cong is "losing what support they had of the population" in South Viet Nam.

McNamara said if a new emergency flares while war rages in South Viet Nam, the United States may have to summon military Reservists to active duty.

But McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he does not expect any Reserve callup this year.

Asked about the possibility of escalation, McNamara said "the strategy and tactics we're following are designed to avoid extending the war."

"We're doing everything we can to make clear to the North Vietnamese and the Chinese the limited character of our military objectives," the defense secretary said.

"The United States is showing great restraint."

Shifting to Latin America, McNamara defended the military assistance portion of the foreign aid program, which Fulbright called "one of the most controversial issues in the bill."

Some critics of the military aid have argued it has been used to keep military regimes

Russian-Built MIGs Fire Missiles, Miss

SAIGON (UPI) —Communist MIG 17 fighters attacced U.S. war planes twice over North Viet Nam yesterday and in one attark fired air-to-air missiles for the first time of the war, a U.S. spokesman reported today. The missiles missed, but two U.S. planes were shot down by groundfire.

The Communists reported five American plans shot down over North Viet Nam Tuesday but the Air Force said two planes were lost and one pilot was rescued. It was during his rescue the MIGs appeared, the Air Force spokesman said.

The spokesman said a flight of three Russian-designed MIG 17s shot a pair of heat-seeking air-to-air missiles similar to the at Air Force planes protecting a pilot shot down in North Viet Nam 105 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The missiles missed and the MIGs fled, he said, and an Air Force helicopter recovered Capt. Martin A. Mahrt, 32, of Custer, S.D., in the longest successful rescue mission of the war.

Before yesterday's attack, the MIGs relied strictly on 20-mm cannons the few times they ventured out to challenge attacking U.S. fighter planes, the spokesman said.

U.S. pilots also reported for the first time that the Communists are using surface-to-air antiaircraft missiles (SAMs) to protect the vital Gu Mai Pass which is the gateway to the main Communist supply route into South Viet Nam. Previously most SAM missile sites were in the industrial area around Hanoi.

A spokesman said two SAMs were launched at a reconnaissance flight of U.S. Air Force Phantom jets yesterday as they streaked by at more than 1,500 miles per hour. The missiles missed.

Supervisors Tee Off Golf Course Purchase

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Fore!

They approved in principle the suggestion that a non-profit corporation be formed to buy the course from San Geronimo Valley Properties through sale of revenue bonds.

The 146 acres would be deeded to the county, the revenue bonds would thus become tax-free and would be paid off over a 25-year span through lease of the golf course under administration of the non-profit corporation.

The proposal was announced by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen April 18, after he conferred with Robert Roumiguière, one of the principals in San Geronimo Valley Properties.

It has brought protest from the Kentfield Civic League, which does not want land removed from the tax rolls, and from the Town Council of Corte Madera, who feared the course in San Geronimo Valley might lessen supervisors' interest in backing a public course in Corte Madera.

Roumiguiere told supervisors yesterday that possessory interest tax would still be paid on the property by the non-profit corporation. The reduction in taxes would be about $2,000 a year, he said.

He said the deal would be an advantage to his firm because it would receive back its "hard costs" in development of the course.

U.S. Using 'Great Restraint' In Viet Nam, Johnson Says

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — President Johnson today replied to charges of American "arrogance of power" in world affairs by saying this nation has used "great restraint" in Viet Nam and other world crisis spots.

"The exercise of power in this century has meant for the United States not arrogance but agony," the Persident said in apparent reply to recent statements by Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"We have used our power not willingly and recklessly but reluctantly and with restraint," Johnson said in a speech prepared for delivery at dedication ceremonies for Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson school of public and international affairs.

"What nation," he asked, "has announced such limited objectives or such willingness to remove its military presence once those objectives are achieved?"

"What nation," the President continued, "has spent the lives of its sons and vast sums of its fortune to provide the people of a small, striving nation the chance to elect a course we might not ourselves choose?"

Johnson's statement presumably referred to U.S. willingness for South Viet Nam to elect any government it chooses.

The President flew to Princeton to make his speech and accept an honorary degree in a hastily announced trip. He replaced Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner as the main speaker at the ceremonies.

Administrator's Job Elimination Hinted In Hub

By STEPHEN COOK

San Anselmo's new city council began showing its colors last night with an intimation that some would like to abandon the city administrator form of government.

Implications were that it could be replaced by the city's commissioner government of nine years ago, backed by an advisory council of citizens willing to donate time and skills.

Vice Mayor Arthur W. Smith raised the flag at the end of last night's council meeting with an announcement he wants to discuss "the advantages and disadvantages of a city administrator" at the council's June 14 meeting.

Smith, who has been on the council 23 years and was mayor when the city changed from the old system in 1957, said today he has been asked by councilmen about the advantages and disadvantages of the two systems.

He said councilman Woodrow V. Capurro approached him on the subject "some time ago," and that, more recently, newly elected councilmen Duane C. Ragan and Robert M. Scott have asked the same question.

"Because of my experience under both systems, they have asked me what the disadvantages would be under the non-manager government. I want to talk to all the councilmen at once about this at a public meeting," Smith said.

When Smith asked for time on the June 14 agenda, Mayor John M. Reichmuth cautioned:

"Now, if you are going to consider changing our city administrator government, I think we will need extensive public hearings on it so that all the public interested will have a chance to state their views."

Smith later recalled he voted for the switch to a city administrator government in 1957. He declined to say whether he has changed his mind. "I'd rather wait until June 14," he said.

Smith's announcement came on the heels of a surprise suggestion by Councilman Scott that the council establish "the advisory Council of San Anselmo" —a suggestion immediately supported by Smith and Ragan.

"Its purpose shall be to establish a group of civic minded persons skilled in the arts, science and professions who will

Fire Ruins Residence In Fallon

All retired dairyman John Nelson and his wife, Ethel, had worked for and saved in their lifetimes was destroyed in a few minutes yesterday when their seven-room home at Fallon was burned to the ground.

Marin County Fire Department units from Tomales, Point Reyes Station, Hicks Valley and Chileno Valley fought the $14,000 blaze but Fire Chief Louis Bloom reported, "The fire was so well underway when we arrived all we could do was try and prevent it from spreading."

No one was home at the time. Mrs. Nelson had left for work at Dillon Beach and the couple's two children, Philip, 11, and Mary, 14, were at school in Tomales.

John Nelson, 62, on a visit to brothers in Illinois, was unaware today that the house, where the couple had lived for 14 years, was gone.

Candidates' Views Vary On Prop. 14

Court's Decision Makes It Debut In Political Arena

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's campaign for governor got a bristling new issue today, provided by the State Supreme Court's decision to overrule a popular vote that allowed racial discrimination in housing.

Candidates fired away with comments on the high court ruling that threw out a constitutional amendment giving landlords and homeowners the right to refuse to rent or sell to anyone—even on grounds of race or religion.

Two lawmakers demanded that Democratic Governor Edmund G. Brown submit the issue to an election-year legislative session already packed with controversy.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, Brown's main foe in the June 7 primary, said "the philosophy and political persuasion of the justices is playing an increasingly decisive role in their decisions," he said.

Ronald Reagan, campaigning for the Republican nomination for governor, called on Brown to start enforcing the Rumford Act, the anti-discrimination law that

Hub Council Refuses Again To Back Bonds

San Anselmo City Council again refused to endorse the $4.3 million county park bond issue last night, instead voted 4-to-1 for a resolution explaining the bond issue and stating what would be done with San Anselmo's $218,514 share if the issue passes.

Councilman Robert M. Scott voted "no," recommending citizens take a self-help approach to recreation, building a park and a recreation center themselves. The audience applauded.

Scott said he opposed the bond issue "because taxes are high." Then he asked those in the audience favoring the bond to stand and watched as half the audience rose. In a dramatic tone, he asked:

"Now let's see where you really stand. How many of you would be willing to donate your own labor and $5 out of your pocket for a park project?"

All nodded that they would. Scott suggested that a poll be taken of parents of high school and seventh and eighth grade parents to see if they are similarly inclined and of the city's teen-agers to see if they want a recreation center.

"We could do things with our own hands that would make the people of San Anselmo stand taller than if we run to Washington or Sacramento or anywhere lese for help. These things may be dirty words today, but we could even have an old-fashioned barn raising," Scott said.

Applause greeted this. Councilman Duane C. Ragan stepped in with a pitch for more parents to take an active part in little league baseball.

On the park bond proposal, only Woodrow V. Capurro said the council should endorse it. "The people look to us for guidance and we all know we could use the money," he said.

Arthur W. Smith said, "There is no question but that we can make good use of the money, but endorsement should be left to the taxpayers."

Mayor John M. Reichmuth

Guatamala Discord

GUATEMALA (AP) — In a move to head off trouble, Guatemala's military government last night declared a 30-day state of siege after Congress elected Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro to a four-year term as president. Government spokesmen said the state of siege was prompted by the kidnaping of two officials by rebels last week.

Laos Meeting Asked

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said today that another international conference will be needed eventually to restore peace to divided Laos. In a Constitution Day speech he declared: "As long as the Pathet Lao continue, with the help of foreigners, their 'war of national liberation,' there's slim hope to re-establish peace in Laos."

Guinea Rebels Die

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Forty-two rebels and two Portuguese soldiers were killed in Portuguese Guinea during the first week of May, an army communique said today. Portugal has been fighting an ambush war in its Guinean territory. More than 60 Portuguese soldiers have been reported killed this year.

Long Island Rail Road Halted

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was, after all, a matter of principle. If the executives can't be counted on to set a good example, who can?

Pryor

That was the "official" explanation yesterday when diesel engineers on the Long Island Railroad suddenly walked off their jobs and disrupted the normal routine for 12,000 evening rush hour passengers on four branches of the nation's busiest commuter line.

Three weeks ago, three employees were suspended for drinking beer with their lunch.

Goodfellow

The walkout was called by Harold J. Pryor, president of the LIRR local of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. He said the luncheon honoring LIRR President Thomas Goodfellow "was notable for a free-flowing liquor supply."

The strike was a short-lived affair. It was ended by a federal judge's temporary injunction, and all the engineers were back on the job today.

Kidnaped Priest Freed In Spain

ROME (AP) — Black-masked kidnapers freed a Spanish priest-diplomat unharmed today after holding him for 12 days in a vain attempt to get Pope Paul VI to intercede for political prisoners in Spain.

Msgr. Marco Ussia, ecclesiastic councilor of the Spanish Embassy to the Vatican, was released 28 miles north of Rome. He said he had been held in some sort of house, he did not know where, and could not recognize his captors.

Police said they had located the area where they believed an anti-Franco group of Spanish anarchists was holding Msgr. Ussia.

China Fallout Heads For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service and other agencies are bracing for some hard work later this week when radioactive fallout from Red China's third nuclear device explosion begins drifting across the United States.

Depending on the weather conditions, it may be four or five days more before the radioactive cloud appears in this hemisphere and can be analyzed, officials said yesterday.

Until then, reconnaissance planes operating out of the Far East will pick up debris and take it to laboratories in South Korea and this country for analysis to determine the exact nature of the Chinese blast, which took place Monday.

SOAP PLANT WRECKED — The demolished plant of the Wayne Soap Co. in downriver Detroit after it was rocked by a heavy explosion yesterday. The blast shattered windows as far as a mile away. Children in an elementary school nearby were sprayed by glass fragments. Some 80 children and 27 adults were injured. One worker in the plant died of burns today. Damage was estimated at $250,000 to the company's three buildings. (AP Wirephoto)

Old Hit-Run Case Solved By Driver

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police sent manslaughter and hit-run warrants yesterday to Florida where an appliance salesman was quoted as admitting a hit and run fatality here nine years ago.

Police in Jacksonville, Fla., said that Paul M. Gess, 46, told them he was wanted in San Francisco in the accident.

Married and the father of four children, Gess told Florida policemen he thought about the accident daily and had nightmares about it each night.

Lloyd V. Stephens, 66, a machinist at Hunters Point Navy Shipyard, was struck by a car and killed April 14, 1957, at Mission and 17th streets.

Witnesses said the death car was driven three blocks, swerving and braking to dislodge Stephens' body which had been caught on a fender.

Gess, then a soldier stationed here, was quoted in Florida as saying he had his car repaired and sold it after the accident. He was discharged at Ft. Ord two years later and since has lived in Galveston, Tex., Atlanta and Pensacola, Fla. He moved to Jacksonville in 1965 and has been a department store appliance salesman.

Pulitzer Prize Party Draws 165 Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — A distinguished and lively assembly, one which may not come again for some years, brought together 165 Pulitzer Prize winners last night celebrating the 50th anniversary of the awards.

Edward W. Barrett, dean of the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, which presents the awards, told the dinner audience the occasion was a "special, one-time family affair."

Next year, Barrett said, the prizes would be awarded by the old procedure—announcing them the first Monday in May and mailing of checks.

It was the first time since World War II that the year's winners received their awards in a public presentation. Of prizes awarded to nearly 500 persons, about 300 still are living. All were invited to the dinner.

Poet Archibald MacLeish, a three-time winner, told his audience the prizes "have warmed the world in which the art of letters must be practiced."

On hand to welcome the guests was Joseph Pulitzer Jr., grandson of the founder of the awards.

James Reston, associate editor of the New York Times and a two-time Pulitzer Prize winner, said journalism must find a way to merge its "publish and be damned tradition" with its "new sense of intelligence, duty and responsibility."

Reporters, while smarter than ever, Reston said, "don't knock down as many doors," adding: "We are going to have to use blunt instruments and have some tough characters around."

Admiral Applauds Australian Fighters

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — U.S. Vice Adm. Paul H. Ramsay said today that Americans and Australians are fighting side by side in Viet Nam in the same spirit of cooperation and dedication that they showed in the Coral Sea battle 24 years ago.

Birth Control Bill

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts has lifted its 87-year-old ban against the dissemination of contraceptives and birth control information. Gov. John A. Volpe signed the bill yesterday.

Dirksen Receives Foes' Best Wishes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen's political foes have tried to pin him down many times. Today they did their best to get him up from a hospital bed with words of encouragement.

Some of his friends sent cards. Some of them sent flowers. President Johnson sent a jet and a helicopter—to bring Mrs. Dirksen to her husband's bedside from the Tennessee home of their daughter.

A hospital spokesman said the operation to put a pin in Dirksen's hip had had "excellent results" and reported a fracture "in the neck of the femur" as a result of the fall.

The spokesman said he slipped from the edge of a hospital bed early yesterday. He had entered the hospital late Monday, after a full workday, for what his office described as the latest in a series of routine checkups.

The Illinois Republican, one of the most colorful and hardest working members of the Sente, has been hospitalized several times in the past two years for treatment of painful abominal spasms of apparently unexplained origin.

He also suffers emphysema, a congestive lung disease, and complained during the 1964 political campaign of severe back pains caused by a hairline facture of the vetebrae.

Dirksen was expected to remain at Walter Reed for two or three weeks. He probably will have to use crutches for several more weeks after he leaves the hospital.

Rowena June Stores, 40, of 14 Mar Vista Court, Tiburon, was placed under citizen's arrest on a charge of petty theft by David Elizondo, Red Cart Market clerk, at 4:01 p.m. Monday after she had allegedly taken a 16-ounce jar of honey in her purse from the store without paying for it. The store is at 759 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Astronauts Practicing

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —With an excellent countdown rehearsal behind them, the Gemini 9 astronauts today planned a day-long series of test runs for next Tuesday's launching.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan were to make simulated launchings and practice emergency procedures for the three-day orbital flight, including a make-believe rendezvous with an Agena target satellite.

Stafford and Cernan yesterday suited up and crawled into their spacecraft as launch teams conducted a flawless double countdown on the Titan 2 rocket that is to hoist Gemini 9 into space and the Atlas which is to lift the Agena.

Water Scalds Infant Left Sitting In Sink

Nine-month-old Astra Fletcher, daughter of Mrs. Kathleen Fletcher of 6A Deer Park Lane, San Anselmo, suffered second and third degree burns on her trunk and legs last night when, left sitting in a sink, she turned on the hot water.

The infant was in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital.

Police said she was left with a 12-year-old baby sitter while her mother was at a party in Sausalito. The sitter left the child in the sink while she went for a fresh diaper, police said, and found scalding hot water running over her when she returned.

The frightened sitter first told officers the child was scalded when water splashed out of the sink and onto the baby sitting on the floor, Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said.

Small Safe, Cash Taken In Burglary

Burglary of a small combination safe containing $52 cash, a $60 check, and two penny coin collections from the home of Andrew W. Zimmerman at 115 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Zimmerman said the safe, which had been looted of $42 only last Saturday, was taken from a closet. No forced entry to the home was evident.

Deputies said burglars also entered the panel truck of Gary Hoffman, 100 LaPaseda Way, Santa Venetia, taking its radio valued at $30. The truck was parked at a Santa Venetia service station.

An unsuccessful attempt to enter the home of Herbert J. Stout, 575 Whitewood Drive, Terra Linda, also reported. Stout told officers he discovered pry marks on a rear door.

Brown, however, said "I don't think this will be a political issue." And George Christopher, another Republican candidate for governor, said "further quarreling would not seem to be in California's best interests."

All the candidates were aware of the 1964 election in which the voters approved the amendment by more than a 2-1 margin. The vote, crossing party lines, amounted to a massive rebellion against the 1963 legislature's bitterly contested housing law.

"Evidently the will of the people no longer counts," said William Penn Patrick, a San Rafael businessman campaigning for the GOP nomination for governor.

But Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, a Democrat up for election, said he will intervene in favor of anti - discrimination housing laws if an appeal is made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Reagan said Brown should begin enforcing anti-discrimination laws "until the legislature decides whether it wants to take some further action reflecting the will of the people."

Other comments:

Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson: The decision "will usher in a new era in California human relations and assure equal rights for all our citizens."

Lloyd Hand, former U.S. chief of protocol and Democratic candidate for Andersons post: The decision is a "bow for equal housing for all our citizens and a better life for all our citizens."

Thomas M. Braden, president of State Board of Education and third Democratic candidate for Lieutenant governor: The decision is "a breakthrough toward de facto integration of our schools."

Democratic candidate for governor Dr. Carlton Goodlett: "I would like to urge that when the case is finally adjudicated in the U.S. Supreme court, the real estate interests live with the decision rather than try to circumvent it. The decision shows once more that the court can be a refuge for oppressed minorities."

purpose, but said the parks and recreation department should make up a request for what it thinks the city should have, and city bonds could finance whatever is required.

"The assessed valuation of Novato is now approximately $35 million. That means that the city has a total bonding capacity of $5,150,000," he said.

He pointed out that the city now has a $100,000 bond issue for the swimming pool, which was passed while he was mayor. This would leave approximately $5 million availiable for bonding, he said.

"I think that the bond issue should be presented item by item with the estimated cost on it so that the voters will know exactly what they are voting on," he said.

Two Boys, Man Hurt In Wreck

Two 17-year-old Greenbrae youths and a Novato man suffered cuts and bruises from a two-car head-on collision at Vista Grande and Patenco streets near Greenbrae at 3:22 p.m. yesterday.

Treated at Marin General Hospital were Mark E. Meyer of 305 Vista Grande; his passenger, Diane Simpton of 445 Vista Grande, and Alexander R. Dougan, 29, of 660 Midway Boulevard, Novato.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Meyer was driving north bound uphill when his car collided with Dougan's south bound auto.

Ky Repeats Prediction Of Power

SAIGON (AP) — Fresh Buddhist agitation was reported today in units of the Vietnamese army as Premier Nguyen Cao Ky repeated his prediction that he and his military government will remain in power at least another year.

Informed sources said Buddhist chaplains were stirring up troops against the government in the 1st and 2nd Corps areas. Both are north of Saigon, toward the frontier with Communist North Viet Nam.

Most of Viet Nam's 15 million people are Buddhists, but only a small part of them are politically organized.

Ky again told newsmen he thinks it will take a year or more to get an elected civilian government for South Viet Nam. He said he intends to stay in power until then.

of funds would be returned to the developers to be used in future development" of the San Geronimo Valley, he said.

There was no price mentioned yesterday, but Roumiguiere said that the developer would expect it to cover cost of the course, clubhouse and other facilities and pay about $2,700 an acre for the land. This, he said, would be about half the selling price the developer could expect if the property were sold for subdivision.

Approval in principle was the first of three steps needed to consumate the deal, he said. Next, the Internal Revenue Service must rule whether the revenue bonds would indeed qualify as tax-free municipal bonds.

After that Ebasco Services, a national consulting firm, would study the proposal for feasibility.

Under county ownership, the course would be open to the public, but use of the clubhouse and swimming pool would be through membership, Roumiguiere said.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that there have been some "unfortunate rumors" circulated about the proposal. He particularly wanted to scotch the rumor that the revenue bonds proposed were involved in any way with the proposed $4.3 million general obligation bonds issue for parks purchase and development to be put to voters June 7.

serve without pay and who will give their talents as they may be requested from time to time by the city council and any city agency, including the chamber of commerce," Scott said in a proposed resolution.

The council should be composed of eight divisions, he said —public relations and communications counselors, architectural arts and design, fine arts, music and museum, engineering and construction, economic finance and purchasing, insurance, legal, and public health.

He provided a list of 38 persons who should be immediately appointed to the council and said they should, in turn, recruit others. "It would not be exclusive," he said.

Scott moved adoption of the resolution and Ragan seconded. But Mayor Reichmuth and Councilman Capurro objected to immediate action.

"You throw something at us we've never seen before. That's not being fair to us," declared Capurro. Scott said he wants unanimous council support for the matter and agreed to hold it over.

Smith, asked later if he thought the advisory council would be a logical addition if the city were to revert to the commissioner form of government, said:

"I think that it would work hand in hand with that very well."

Red Cross officials in San Rafael and at Point Reyes Station were assisting the family by supplying emergency clothing. Mrs. Nelson was staying on the ranch where her husband formerly worked.

Chief Bloom said he believed the blaze was caused by a leaking butane gas pipe which neighbors had attempted to repair earlier.

in power in Latin-American countries.

But McNamara contended the aim of the program is to keep Latin-America armies small. He said "there is no question in our mind" that the problems of Latin America depend on economic development and the elimination of poverty and disease.

Meanwhile, the committee said Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, will testify tomorrow on the Southeast Asian war at a closed hearing.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Lodge spent nearly an hour today discussing the agricultural situation in South Viet Nam.

Lodge, who is in Washington conferring with the administration officials, would make no comment on the conference except to say that "Viet Nam is an agricultural country."

Lodge met last night with President Johnson and the National Security Council.

He had other conferences scheduled today with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and South Vietnamese Ambassador Vu Van Thai.

U.S. Considers New Eagle Trial

The U.S. attorney's office in San Francisco said today no decision had yet been made on whether to seek a new trial for Leroy Martinelli, whose day-long trial in U. S. District Court Monday for shooting eagles ended with a hung jury.

The government has, however, 30 days to press the prosecution if it wishes.

After debating five hours, the jury Monday could not agree on whether Martinelli had violated federal law when he shot two eagles on his Point Reyes ranch early in 1965. The rancher had testified the birds were attacking new-born lambs.

Artur Argiewicz, 85, widely known violinist and resident of Marin County for almost 40 years, died yesterday in Sequim, Wash.

Argiewicz was born in Warsaw, Poland. He came to the United States in 1905, and to San Francisco in 1917. He moved to a home he had built at the end of Tamalpais Avenue in Mill Valley in 1919, and moved to Ross about eight years ago. He left Ross for Washington less than a year ago.

His lifelong friend and mentor, violinist Fritz Kreisler, paid Argiewicz the extraordinary compliment of appearing as his accompaniest on the piano when Argiewicz made his London debut.

Argiewicz became a naturalized United States citizen just before World War I, when he was on the faculty of the Institute of Musical Art in New York, which later became the Juilliard School of Music.

He came to San Francisco to be with his sister, Eugenia Argiewicz Bem, also a well-known violinist. He was a member of the San Franicsco Symphony for 39 years, and its concert master for eight years, retiring in 1956.

He continued to teach music at his home in Ross until he left the county.

He is survived by his wife, Destiny; a son, Artur Jr. of Mill Valley, a daughter, Angela, of Sequim, Wash.; his sister, Mrs. Bem of San Francisco, and four step-children, Frances Willson of San Francisco, Mildred Goodman of Berkeley, Josephine Belmont of San Francisco, and Victor Jacobs of Beverly Hills.

Slim Chance Seen For Redwood Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The proposed and controversial Redwoods National Park in Northern California today had only a slim chance to get financial support during this sesson of Congress.

The Senate Appropriations Committee followed the House lead yesterday and refused to recommend funds for the park. Instead, it took the $10 million in President Johnson's budget for the redwoods and reallocated it to several forest service and national park locations.

The Senate conceivably could write money for the park into the committee's recommended appropriations for the Interior Department when the bill reaches the floor. But such a possibility was remote.

Money for the redwoods was to come from the Land and Water Conservation Fund. Johnson had recommended a total appropriation of $110 million from that fund.

Supervisors Require Plywood Fire Safety

Marin County supervisors, after hearing protests from the plywood industry yesterday, adopted a change in the county building code requiring noncombustable backing on plywood partitions of less than a half-inch thickness.

The action was by a 4-1 vote, with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen dissenting. He urged further study of non-combustible finishes for plywood.

These were described to him in a letter from Gerald E. Misner of Albi Manufacturing Co., producer of a fire-resistant paint.

"I don't want to wait for further study while some company gets a monopoly," Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker declared he was most insistent that the code change be adopted yesterday and parried the arguments put up by the plywood representatives.

Malcolm Hill, speaking for the national hardwood plywood industry, urged that the board delay for further study.

Leydecker replied that the industry has had two years to study and make recommendations on improving fire resistants and changing building codes.

Yesterday's change, adopted as an urgency ordinance to take effect at once, was prompted by a March 22 fire in Lucas Valley, which took the life of Rebecca Ellen Fong, 7.

After the board adopted the change, supervisors unanimously approved Kettenhofen's motion that the County Board of Appeals study any further suggestion that might be made by the building industry on preventing spread of fire.

County Building Inspector Hans Berge told supervisors it would be nearly impossible to conduct proper inspections to assure that fire resistant paints or a certain quality of treated plywood was being installed.

Ads Opposing Park Bonds

Fifteen members of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. met last night and agreed to place a series of newspaper advertisements opposing the $4.3 million county-wide park bond issue which will go before county voters June 7.

P. J. Rowland, president, said members also decided to seek the support of four political candidates for a plan the association has long advocated to do away with property taxes, substituting a "gross transaction tax" on goods and services.

"If they run on this, we think they can get elected," he said.

Rowland said his group will propose the idea to candidates Ronald Reagan, Robert H. Finch, James Pockrus, and Pearce Young.

Seminary Professor Sets USF Precedent

Dr. James W. McClendon, professor of systematic theology and philosophy of religion at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry, has resigned and accepted a joint appointment at University of San Francisco and Stanford University.

McClendon has been a member of the Golden Gate faculty for 12 years. His USF appointment makes him one of the first Protestant theologians ever given faculty status at a Catholic university.

He will spend the fall semester at USF as an associate professor in the theology department, teaching a graduate division course in Protestant thought. During the spring of 1967 he will be a visiting professor of religion at Stanford, in the special programs in humanities.

Although not sponsored by his denomination in the USF and Stanford positions, Dr. McClendon said he will remain active in the Southern Baptist ministry.

"I believe the ecumenical scene has been unbalanced because it has been too long dominated by Protestants who think very nearly alike. There is another Protestant understanding of Christianity reflected by such groups as the Baptists, and that understanding needs to be rethought and presented to the world," he said.

Dr. Harold K. Graves, president of Golden Gate Seminary, accepted Professor McClendon's resignation on behalf of the trustees.

"He has made an outstanding contribution to this growing institution. His stimulating approach has been effective, not only in the seminary halls, but in communicating with college students, particularly those in the fields of philosophy and science," said the seminary president.

Mill Valley Planners Deny Auto Body Shop Permit

Mill Valley planning commission last night recommended that property at East Blithedale Avenue and Forrest Street be rezoned from office to commercial use, but refused to approve a permit for an auto repair and body shop at the location.

Commissioners recommended that the building, formerly containing Hagen and Smith, movers, and the adjoining Do-Nut Kettle and self service laundry be rezoned to general commercial, and that a lot to the rear be rezoned from offices to apartments. G. C. Kott of Mill Valley is owner of the Hagen and Smith building.

About 25 persons were in the audience in opposition to the body shop use, citing the noise which might be created. The moving company moved about a week ago to San Rafael.

The commission directed City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon and City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to study further a proposal to make Woodbine Drive a one-way street, after two motions failed by 3-3 tie votes.

First motion was to make the street one-way to end at Upland Avenue and Woodbine and to include an assessment district for minor street improvements. The second motion was to make the street one-way with no assessment district.

Commissioners approved a plan for Dr. Alex Finkle and Lee Ceccotti to build five shops at Lovell Avenue and Madrona Street. Parking is to be on the roof, and plan of Marinways Corp. to build eight condominium apartment units at East Blithedale and Catalpa avenues which will be the first condominiums in Mill Valley.

Hearings were set for 8:30 p.m. Tuesday for a map and ordinance revisions.

FAMILIAR NAMES TAKE PRIMARIES

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen and West Virginian John D. Rockefeller IV moved their family names back into the political spotlight today after strong victories in yesterday's primary elections.

Sorensen, 32, brother of former presidential aide Theodore C. Sorensen, won the Democratic nomination for governor in Nebraska by a wide margin. His Republican opponent in November will be political newcomer Norbert T. Tiemann, a small-town banker.

Tiemann, little known outside banking circles until six months ago, overwhelmed former three-term Republican Gov. Val Peterson.

Rockefeller, nephew of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and son of John D. Rockefeller III, led a 56-man Kanawha County Charleston ticket in winning a Democratic nomination for the West Virginia House of Delegates.

The 28-year-old bachelor, who has been an antipoverty program social worker for the past 19 months near Charleston, changed his party registration to Democrat earlier this year.

The Rockefeller-Sorensen elections topped primaries that also included a spate of congressional races and two battles for senatorial nominations.

Mayoral elections also were held yesterday in Trenton and Newark, N.J. in Trenton, Mayor Arthur J. Holland was defeated in a close election. It was his first bid for re-election since moving into a racially mixed neighborhood. In Newark, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio was forced into a June 14 runoff against former Mayor Leo P. Carlin.

Legislature Held By Taxes Constitution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Disputes between the Senate and Assembly over revising the California Constitution and avoiding a tax boost are balking the Legislature's drive toward adjournment.

Senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, told reporters after a caucus yesterday that not enough votes could be lined up to reach agreement with the Assembly on constitutional revision.

At issue in the constitutional revision problem is the question of whether legislators should set their own salaries. Burns declared, "The senators don't like the idea of allowing the Legislature to fix its own salaries. They don't think it can be justified."

The Assembly proposal for constitutional revision, voted overwhelmingly, calls for legislators to fix their own pay rates. It also would provide annual six-month sessions of the Legislature.

Proposed increases would boost the pay of lawmakers from $6,000 a year to $18,000 a year.

At the request of its sponsor, the Senate bill was sent back to the Governmental Efficiency Committee. The sponsor, Minority Leader John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, noted "There are many differences of opinion."

The Assembly failed to get enough votes to approve a method of avoiding a tax boost. The method, pushed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, has been passed by the Senate.

School Trustees Ask Volunteers For Finance Unit

The San Rafael Board of Education is seeking 30 citizens to serve on a finance advisory committee.

The board plans to appoint the committee to study the fiscal condition of the high school and elementary districts and conduct research relating to financial operations.

Members of the committee will serve three-year terms on an overlapping basis. Ten new members being appointed each year.

Auto Theft Trial Is Scheduled In Fall

Jury trial for Larry Cleary Walker, 18, charged with auto theft, was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for Oct. 3.

Medicare Approval

San Rafael General Hospital received approval yesterday from the Social Security Administration to provide Medicare Services under the health insurance benefits program for the aged.

After the first 60 days of hospital confinement under medicare, the patient will pay $10 a day up to the limit of 90 days.

Children To Be Party Hosts For Golden Wedding Couple

Mr. and Mrs. John Carl Uhte of Fairfax, married 50 yeads ago today, will be honored Sunday at a Golden Wedding champagne buffet at the San Geronimo National Golf Course clubhouse.

Hosts at the 2 to 5:30 p.m. reception will be their daughter, Mrs. Marge Ericson of San Anselmo, and son, Warren Uhte, who is flying from his Bellview, Wash., for the occasion.

The Uhtes, both native San Franciscans, met while he was a student at Lick-Wilmerding High School and were married at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in that city. She is the former Mabel K. Hadler. They have four grandchildren.

They have lived in Marin County for 43 years. Their home is at 51 Bothin Road.

Uhte taught shopwork at George Washington High School in San Francisco for many years until his retirement in 1955. In 1945, the Army sent him to England to help establish the Warton Technical School, where returning servicemen could take a six-week refresher course in their pre-war trades.

Since his retirement, he has remained active in Boy Scout work and recently received his 40-year pin. Until two years ago, he served as a substitute teacher in shopwork in Marin County schools.

He is a former member of the Fairfax Planning Commission and served as Fairfax building inspector in 1961-62.

Los Angeles Demos Blast Dorn, Yorty Over Stands

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee has passed a resolution critical of Mayor Samuel W. Yorty and Supervisor Warren M. Dorn, and charging Yorty with employing "smear tactics" and "McCarthyism."

Yorty, challenging incumbent Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, was accused in the resolution passed last night of "revising the old Communist smear tactic against the governor of California."

The committee then turned to Down, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and attacked his criticism of the controversial Kienholz exhibit at the County Museum of Art.

Also criticized was the State Senate Fact - Finding Committee on Un-American Activities, headed by Sen. Hugh Burns, D-Fresno.

The report, alleging Communist influence and homosexual activities of the Berkeley campus, was labeled "the same old hash" by the council.

In Pomona Ronald Reagan said he knew in advance the findings of the committee's report on the University of California.

The Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination told supporters at a rally here Tuesday night that the university should divest the faculty of any responsibilities and should require that the faculty maintain high campus standards.

Open Space Assessment Bill Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment intended to keep the suburbs from gobbling up California's remaining open land today faced just one more major legislative test.

The Senate-passed measure was approved yesterday by the Assembly Constitutional Amendments Committee and sent to the lower house floor.

If passed by the Assembly, the proposal would be returned to the Senate for routine approval of lower house amendments and then it would go on the November ballot for ratification by the voters.

Sen. Fred S. Farr, D-Monterey, said the Constitution now requires all property to be assessed at its highest value. In the case of land near cities, that value usually is for housing tracts. When a farm is assessed at the housing rate, Farr said, the taxation usually is so high the farmer must sell to a subdivider.

Farr's amendment would permit the legislature to authorize taxation of farm and recreation land at the value of its current use, ignoring its value as a subdivision.

But the legislation would have to provide an "enforceable restriction" requiring the property to continue to be used as open land. Farr said that part was to keep the plan from becoming a boon to land speculators.

School 'Team' Wins Applause

There was sustained applause for the Gearharts, who were present when their resignations were announced last night at a meeting of the San Rafael School Board.

E. B. Gearhart, a business education teacher at San Rafael High School, after more than 36 years, and Mrs. Gladys Gearhart, San Rafael High School librarian, who has served 12 years, will leave the district June 30.

Board President Carl J. Brown assured them they will be missed.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Reagan Will Appear At Montecito Center

Ronald Reagan, who seeks the GOP nomination for governor, will meet Marin residents and answer questions at a special "Reagan Rally" Friday about 10 a.m. at the Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael.

This will be his final appearance in Marin before the June 7 primary election.

Tomorrow night, two buses will take Marinites to the Cow Palace in San Francisco for the Bay Area-wide "Reagan Roundup."

James A. Rowen of Marinwood is handling the arrangements for the trip. Tickets are available at Reagan headquarters at 1417 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

RAFFERTY DINNER

A dinner honoring Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, will be held next Wednesday evening at Dominic's Restaurant, San Rafael. Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch of Novato is in charge of arrangements.

YOUNG CHAIRMAN

Assemblyman Young, D-Napa, is opposing Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, in the new Fourth Senatorial District, which includes Marin, Napa and Solano Counties.

Gibson, who has been in the state Senate for 18 years, announced last January he is retiring from the Senate. At that time, he came out with a strong endorsement of Assemblyman Young.

STORER CHAIRMAN

Herb Schulze, former postmaster of Santa Rosa, has been named Santa Rosa campaign chairman for Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress.

DRATH BACKERS

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, candidate for Democratic nomination for Congress, announced the appointment of two area campaign chairmen.

Mrs. Everett C. McKeage of 27 Legend Road, Sleppy Hollow, will be Drath's chairman for the San Anselmo area. Robert Dunn, attorney, of 170 Upper Via Casitas, Greenbrae, will be Drath's area chairman in Greenbrae.

Civil Rights Fund Request From Bagley

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, announced today he will seek large state outlays to implement human rights legislation.

Following the Supreme Court's nullification of Proposition 14, Bagley said that within a few days, he will present to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee these two proposals:

1. An outlay of funds, perhaps a half million dollars, to help local governments staff local human relations commissions with professional help.

2. An outlay of two or three million dollars to the Fair Employment Practice Commission, which has jurisdiction over fair housing as well as fair employment.

"I'm able to propose these appropriations because the Republican caucus has come up with suggestions for a budget cut of $60 million," Bagley said. "My proposal is to use a couple million of that for improvement in human relations.

"The idea is not to force, not to hire a lot of policemen to enforce. The idea is to create an atmosphere of acceptability. And the state Legislature, fostering fair housing, helps create that atmosphere."

County Awards Civic Center Drive Project

Marin County supervisors yesterday awarded a contract to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael for extension of Civic Center Drive to connect with the Terra Linda Interchange at Highway 101 at $58,305.65.

The second lowest of seven bidders on the job, A. J. Bresnan, with an offer of $59,576.62, had protested because Ghilotti's total offer had been higher. It was reduced when the County Department of Public Works found an error of $1,500 in multiplication of unit prices. Bresnan yesterday withdrew his protest.

Gordon Enters Innocent Plea On Embezzlement

Donald J. Gordon, whose alleged embezzlement from a Mill Valley man's San Francisco paper company put it out of business, pleaded innocent to the theft Monday in San Francisco Superior Court.

Judge Francis McCarty set the trial for May 20.

Gordon is accused of taking $90,000 from the now liquidated Bonestell and Co., which was owned by Daniel K. Beswick of 35 Elaine Avenue, Mill Valley. Considered a model employee until he and the funds vanished in September, he was captured March 18 in Cleveland by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The amount originally reported taken was $270,000, but the indictment against Gordon cited only $90,000.

Supervisors Beat Deadline On Mental Health Request

With only hours before the deadline, Marin County Board of Supervisors approved yesterday an application for federal and state funds which would help expand the mental health service program in the county over the next four years.

After making sure they would have the money to spend, supervisors asked the county administrator to supply by next week information on subsidies available for studies on the best ways to spend it.

The application approved yesterday was for a total grant of $345,736 by the fourth year for staffing a community mental health center. Of this, the county would have to provide $57,254.

Decision on the application was postponed last week when Dr. Clyde M. Miller was asked for more information and alternative applications.

He said yesterday he had reduced the county's share of cost in a new program which allows aid to new mental health services. The county would pay 6.25 per cent of the first year, 9 per cent the second year, 13 per cent the third year, and 16.5 per cent by the fourth year.

Supervisors were concerned that they had to make a decision on the fund application "at the eleventh hour."

Dr. Miller, director of the county's mental health services, said his department had been able to work on the matter for only a month.

Stanley Siederman of Ross Psychiatric Center criticized the section of Dr. Miller's plan dealing with alcoholics and described it as "a drop in the bucket." He said Miller should have been working on plans to co-ordinate the county's mental health program two years ago. (Miller has not been on the job that long).

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker said how additional staff were employed was a policy matter which concerned everyone. He said they should be employed through the many public agencies already in the field.

"Already there are many mental health agencies which are not co-ordinated in any sense. The idea of putting a expanded governmental empire on top of it all is all wrong," he said.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen asked what would happen if at some time the county wanted to reduce this staff.

Dr. Miller replied: "There is a lot of movement in this profession. I think if we want to cut back we can do it."

"At least, we would have the knowledge we were going in the right direction," said Kettenhofen.

Court Reporter Bill Passes Legislature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A court reporter pay bill which would give Marin court reporters $12,000 per year instead of $35 per day passed the Assembly yesterday and went to the governor for signature.

The bill, AB-139, was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, at request of the Marin court reporters and judges. In addition to the annual salary of $12,000, each fulltime court reporter is entitled to the same vacation, sick leave and other benefits of other county employees. The bill had already been passed by the Senate.

Bolinas Budget For Fire Jumps

Preliminary fiscal 1967 budget of $10,906 was set Monday night by the Bolinas Fire Protection District board.

This compares with the current $8,970 budget, reported board secretary Sherman Smith, the increase representing $2,000 toward a building fund for a new fire station and $500 toward providing one fire truck with a radio.

Tax rate, now 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation, cannot be estimated now, Smith said, because the commission doesn't know what the assessed valuation will be.

Commission Interest Wanes On Locomotive

Mill Valley parks and recreation commissioners expressed little interest Monday night in a suggestion that an old steam engine be acquired by the city for possible train service between Mill Villey and Sausalito on weekends.

They did not seem to think it could be used either as a playground object or for display purposes, reported Don Dimitratos, city parks and recreation director. However, Chairman Jerome C. Hauke said he will attempt to get further information including how much it would cost to bring an engine from Oregon or Northern California.

The idea was recommended March 28 by Dean N. Meyer, former commissioner, now a city councilman.

Commissioners suggested that that a model of a house, now at the Community and Youth Center, might be used for display at the new public library. The model is of a type of house first built in Mill Valley and was formerly housed at old St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon.

Names of Jack Larson, special teacher at Tamalpais Valley and Homestead schools, and Edward Sykes, a San Francisco high school teacher, were recommended to the city council to take the seat of Meyer.

The commission recommended that $12,000 be earmarked for capital improvements in the fiscal 1967 budget for Molino Playground, completion of Sycamore Park, new playground equipment at Freeman and Boyle parks, and improvement to the Optimist Club ball park at Project 17, Dimitratos reported.

Behr To Appear At Ross Council On Park Bonds

The Ross Town Council will hear a discussion of the $4.3 million county park bond issue by County Supervisor Peter Behr at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Also on the agenda is discussion of Shady Lane traffic by Police Chief John Harris and town engineer Philip B. Lygron.

Other items include a report by building inspector Elmer C. Scott on demolition of a building on Lagunitas Club property and trees at 18 Fernhill Drive.

Also to be discussed are the nuisance ordinance, and continuation of the Marin Art and Garden Center variance request.

Marin Catholic Student Wins Youth Award

John Bruemmer of San Rafael, a senior at Marin Catholic High School, has been chosen to receive the Archbishop's Youth Award for 1966.

The award will be presented by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of the Archdiocese of San Francisco next Wednesday at the seventh annual award dinner to be given at the Fairmont Hotel by the archdiocesan Catholic Youth Organization.

Young Bruemmer was one of four young men in Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties chosen for their "leadership and interest" in youth activities.

He is president of the Marin Catholic High School student body, was a delegate to the Governor's Youth Conference last fall, and attended the recent Catholic Youth Organization conference in Los Angeles.

He is a son of Mrs. Barbara Bruemmer of 100 Santa Margarita Drive, San Rafael.

LeCount Given Divorce Decree

An uncontested interlocutory decree of divorce was granted Samuel N. LeCount, College of Marin counselor, from his wife, Lucille I., Monday by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court.

LeCount, one-time candidate for county superintendent of schools, charged cruelty. His wife, of 27 Sierra Avenue, San Anselmo, did not appear in court.

They were wed in Kentfield June 4, 1955, and separated Jan. 15.

Supervisors Vote Down Heavy Industry Zone Near San Rafael

After considerable discussion yesterday, Marin County supervisors voted 4-0, with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen abstaining, to turn down heavy industrial zoning on 27 acres east of San Rafael.

The land on the south side of Highway 17 is owned by Henry Ghillotti and Elmo Maggiora, who want to put an equipment yard on a portion of the property.

Their attorney, Bryan R. McCarthy, said that under the present planned industrial zoning his clients must prepare a master plan for the entire acreage and get use permits for each use proposed.

Kettenhofen agreed it would be "ridiculous" to require a master plan when the owners did not know who users of the rest of the property would be, but said a use permit made sense.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the heavy industrial zone "is wide open."

Attorney Albert Bianchi, representing Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bartell, owner of 100 adjacent acres, said that the heavy industrial zone would deter his clients' plans for residential development.

Zucker said heavy industrial use would set an "image" not in keeping with Marin.

McCarthy attacked this vigorously.

Strike Number Sets Record Since 1953

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A total of 755 strikes began during the first three months of 1966, idling 406,000 workers, the largest number of any first quarter since 1953.

But because several major strikes were of short duration the total working time lost was not especially great, the Labor Department reported Monday.

Poverty War Official's Pay Not Yet Set

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to hold off setting of Douglas Quiett's salary as temporary county director of community relations, but said it would not be less than $753 a month.

The countywide advisory committee on the War on Poverty and the Community Action Committee for Marin City had both recommended that Quiett's salary be $870 a month, putting it in the same range as that of Walter Bremond, who was fired and subsequently resigned three weeks ago.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said a person not fully meeting the requirements for the job should not receive the full salary according to standards set by the office of economic opportunity.

Supervisors at one point appeared ready to adopt Bruce's recommendation and increase Quiett's salary from the $486 a month he was receiving as community aide to $753 a month, but Supervisor Peter H. Behr protested the two committees should be consulted first.

Quiett also said he thought this would be the best way to proceed.

The board agreed that whatever action is taken, the increase will be retrocative to May 1.

Union Campaigns For $1 Million For Pepperdine

FRESNO (AP)—"Any college or university which has the guts to turn down $1 million for a principle deserves support," said a group of union leaders planning to raise $1 million for Pepperdine College.

J. E. Batten, secretary of Chemical Workers Local 97, said he referred to Pepperdine's refusal last week to accept money that was contingent on the granting of an honoary degree to a conservative commentator.

The will of D. B. Lewis, multimillionaire dog food manufacturer, bequeathed $1 million to the Los Angeles school if it would confer an honorary degree on Dan Smoot.

But the college declined the offer, saying that "The academic process precludes awarding a degree based on the contingency of a gift."

Batten said representatives of Teamsters Union Local 431, Wine Workers Local 45, Butchers Local 128, Fire Fighters Local 753, and Machinists Local 653 are participating in the drive to secure funds for the college.

FRONT PORCH NEST

A family of Linnets is living in a planter box on the front porch of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Kowski, 430 Bee Street, Sausalito. The mother bird is standing watch over her brood which was hatched in the box containing false geraniums. There were five eggs laid, between April 10 and April 23, and the mother pushed one out of the nest, Mrs. Kowski reported. This is the second year the birds have had a nest and have been hatched there.

Mental Illness Rise Worries Officials

Marin County's population has increased by about one-third since 1959, but the rate of admissions to the state mental hospitals has doubled in that time, according to Mrs. Nevada Christian of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health.

The help of interested persons from the community is needed if the number of admissions and readmissions is to be lowered, Mrs. Christian said.

Mental patients are being returned to the community before they are entirely ready to resume their normal lives, Mrs. Christian said, because state hospitals are extremely overcrowded and because facilities like the Community Mental Health Services office at 610 D Street in San Rafael are able to provide limited out-patient care.

Patients on leave from state mental hospitals meet with social workers at the State Department of Mental Hygiene at 2144 Fourth Street in San Rafael. But these patients need more help than professional social workers and psychiatrists are able to give, Mrs. Christian said. Six of every 15 patients returned to Marin County from state hospitals returns to the hospital in a short time, she said.

Volunteers from the community to help patients adjust to the community could eliminate many of the relatively minor frustrations that send these patients back to the hospital, Mrs. Christian said.

Patients returning to the community are often not able to obtain a driver's license immediately, and a layman willing to provide transportation to grocery stores, to employment agencies, and so on, for these patients are needed, Mrs. Christian said.

Laymen willing to take a patient out for a drive to the beach, a trip to a museum, or just a ride around the county could help the patient overcome the feeling that he is entirely alone in the community, she said.

Some communities have organized "friendly clubs" where mental patients can find social life and recreation and can escape from loneliness, but no such facility exists yet in Marin County, she said.

College Hit By Burglary Of Equipment

Burglars stole about $3,000 worth of movie equipment and other items from a storeroom at College of Marin, sheriff's officers reported yesterday.

Stephen Hopper, audio-visual technician at the school told deputies entry may have been through a ground-level window to the storeroom, under the college library.

Officers said loot included two movie cameras, four projectors, a public address system, two sound projectors, a portable television set, and a tape recorder.

Two partially burned envelopes found on the storeroom floor may have been dropped by the burglars, officers said.

Richard D. Hamann, 29 Stanford Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, reported burglars entered his home via a bathroom window and took a wallet and passport owned by Frances C. Hamann, and $22 in cash.

The fellowships will be awarded first, to recent college graduates (within three years); secondly, to college graduates who have never taught, and third, to college graduates who have not taught recently. Experienced teachers are not eligible for the grants.

Applicants may write or telephone the dean of the graduate division of the college for application forms and further information.

Typewriter, Adder Stolen From Store

San Rafael police also reported a $185 belt sander was taken from the home of Mark McCoy Neadeau at 318 H Street some time since April 28, when it was last used.

Al Capone's Son Changes Moniker

He claimed that his father's reputation as a Chicago gangster "pushes me into the glare of publicity for even minor violations of the law."

Broward County Circuit Judge L. Clayton Nance, noting that "The sins of the father are often visited upon the son," told Capone before granting the change of name position: "I hope you will not besmirch your name so nothing will be visited upon the heads of your children." Capone, a divorced father of four, works for a Miami tire company.

Banana Desserts Perfect For Club

When it's your turn to entertain the bridge club this spring, serve a light and luscious banana dessert as a welcome change of pace from winter fare.

Banana Bavarian Pie and Banana Peach Tarts are quick and easy to fix, using packaged mixes to speed preparation. Both can be made ahead in the morning and just popped into the refrigerator until serving time.

LUSCIOUS BANANA DESSERTS to serve as a springtime menu change of pace when the bridge club meets include Banana Bavarian Pie and creamy Banana Peach Tarts.

BANANA BAVARIAN PIE

2 packages (3¾ oz. each) vanilla dessert mix
1 cup cold milk
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
3 large bananas, sliced
1 nine-inch graham cracker crumb crust

Prepare dessert mix following package directions, using 1 cup cold milk for the two packages; beat in cinnamon and almond flavoring. Chill 10 to 15 minutes, or until slightly thickened. Fold in sliced bananas; pile lightly into crumb crust. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Garnish with additional banana slices. Makes 1 nine-inch pie.

GRAHAM CRACKER CRUST

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Combine ail ingredients; blend thoroughly. Press crumbs firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill crust and fill. Or bake crust in moderate oven (350°F.) 8 to 10 minutes; cool completely before filling.

BANANA PEACH TARTS

1 package peach-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
Three drops yellow and two drops red food coloring
1 cup diced fresh, frozen or canned peaches
3 tablespoons sugar
3 bananas, sliced
½ pint (1 cup) heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon sugar
6 to 8 baked tart shells

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add coloring and cool until slightly thickened, reserving 3 tablespoons gelatin at room temperature. Combine peaches, sugar and 2 bananas; fold into thickened gelatin. Spoon into tart shells; chill. Chill reserved gelatin until slightly thickened; fold into whipped cream and sugar with remaining banana. Spoon over gelatin layer in tart shells. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Makes 6 to 8 tarts.

Quick Canapes

Quick canapes: first cut slices of bread into small squares — four from each slice. Mix soft yellow cheese with salad dressing and spread over bread. Bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes.

GOURMETS RECOMMEND adding marinated artichoke hearts and sour cream to the hearty goodness of fresh swordfish which is enjoying popularity across the country by being rushed from ship to shore and market.

Swordfish A Delicious Meal Wtih Artichoke Heart Toppings

Seafood aficionados across the country are enjoying swordfish more these days because it's rushed fresh or quick-frozen from ship to shore and market.

And San Francisco gourmets have found a way to make this tasty dish even better—by adding marinated artichoke hearts.

ARTICHOKE TOPPED SWORDFISH

1 jar marinated artichoke hearts
2 pounds swordfish steaks, fresh or frozen
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup fine cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons butter

Drain oil from artichoke hearts and coat baking dish. Combine lemon juice, salt, pepper and sprinkle over steaks. Top fish with marinated artichoke hearts, sour cream and top with cracker crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 25 minutes. Serves six.

Chicken Curry Steamed Rice
Condiment Tray Salad Bowl

RASPBERRY PEAR COMPOTE

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) pear halves
1 cup dry white wine
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries

Drain pears and reserve syrup. Pour wine over pears, cover tightly and refrigerate overnight; refrigerate pear syrup separately. Next day, boil pear syrup until it is reduced to ¾ cup; pour over pears and keep chilled. Before serving, defrost raspberries so they are still icy. Turn pears and wine-flavored syrup into a glass bowl; spoon raspberries and their syrup over the pears. Makes 5 to 7 servings.

New Items In Frozen Foods Easily Served

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frozen food sales this year are expected to total close to $7 billion, which represents a 50 per cent increase in four years and is $1 billion more than 1965 sales.

This estimate from a management engineering firm was announced at the 14th annual taste-testing lunch of the Eastern Frosted Foods Association EFFA, which is made up of packers, wholesalers, brokers and retailers.

Most of the new products tasted were thaw-and-serve, bake-and-serve or heat-and-serve items. One quality that many had in common was a spicy flavor. Some are being test marketed and others already are available nationally.

Frozen, ready-to-bake cup custards had the texture and flavor of homemade ones. The 4-ounce custards in reuseable foil containers are packed four to a box. New from the same manufacturer are individually-wrapped sweet buns swirled with cinnamon and honey and glazed with confectionary sugar frosting. They are ready to eat after 8 to 10 minutes in the oven.

New cocktail snacks include heat-and-serve clam cocktail of raw clams packed in tomato sauce highly seasoned with grated horseradish in reusable 4-ounce footed glasses and three varieties of ready-to-bake puff paste hot hors d'oeuvres. Forty-eight puffs about the size of butter pats are frozen in flat sheets. They bake in 10 minutes. The flavors are cheese, pizza and bacon.

Heat-and-serve seafood dishes include shrimpburgers, shaped like hamburger, and made of shrimp, spices, vegetables and bread crumbs; king crab newburg and crab au gratin in 2-serving packages; deviled crab containing crab, celery, onions, green pepper and seasoning, packed in reusable aluminum containers and topped with toasted bread crumbs; and shrimp rolls, adapted from traditional Chinese spring rolls. This 5-to-a-package item comes with a packet of ready-to-serve Chinese mustard.

Heat-and-eat stuffed baked potatoes now come with sour cream and chives mixed in. Four spuds to the package.

New poultry products include heat-and-serve all white meat boneless turkey roast in a 2-pound 6-ounce package and a 2-pound package of boneless sliced turkey in giblet gravy, containing 14 slices of light meat and eight of dark.

Spicy Sauce Livens Shrimp Omelet Dish

This Open Faced Shrimp Omelet served up with its Creamy Fresh Tomato Sauce is a perfect main dish for breakfast, lunch or supper . . . particularly when company is around. Cream and butter add good milk nutrition. Recipe makes 4 servings.

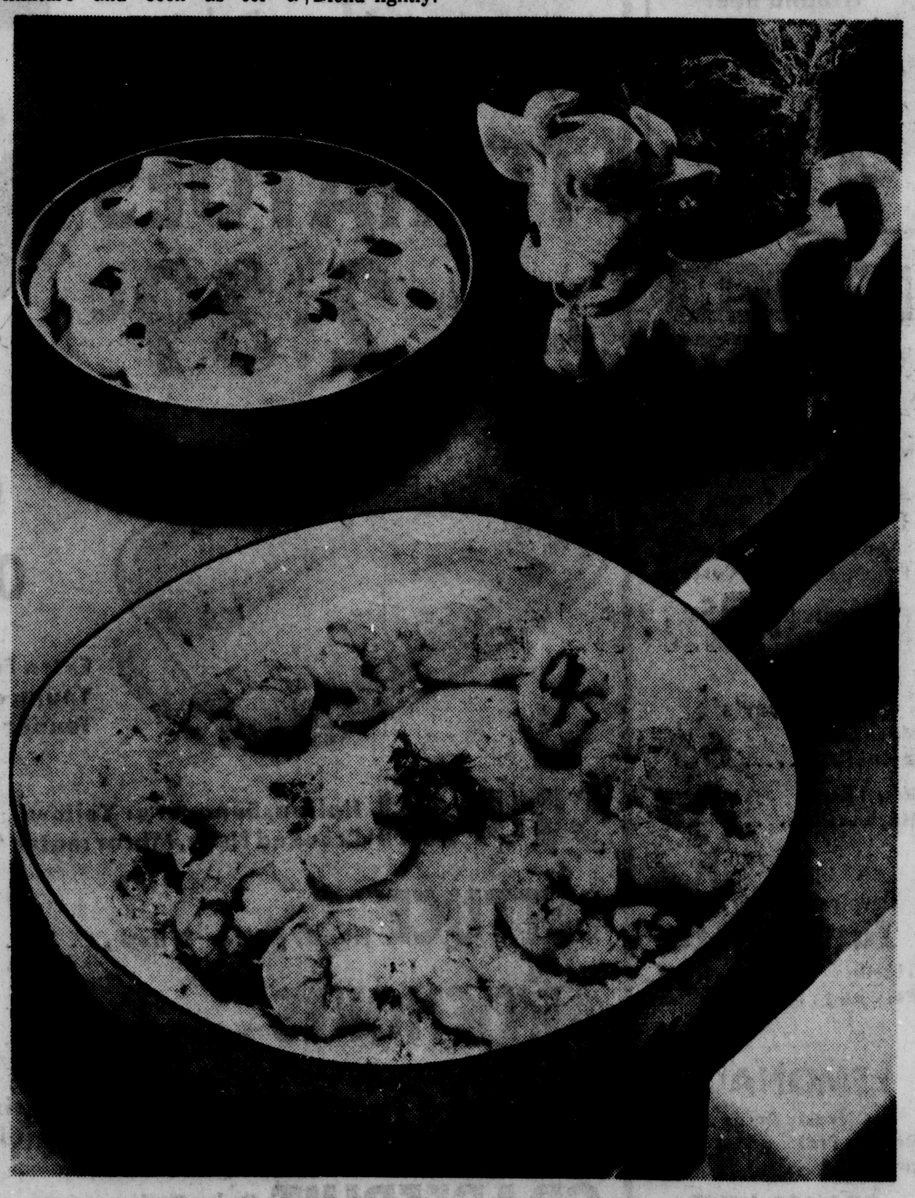
OPEN FACED SHRIMP OMELET

8 eggs
½ cup all-purpose cream
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon dried or ½ teaspoon fresh dill
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted
1 cup small cooked shrimp (fresh, canned or frozen)

Beat eggs slightly with cream, salt, pepper and dill. Heat 2 tablespoons of the butter in an 8-10 inch skillet or omelet pan until it bubbles. Pour in egg mixture and cook as for a French omelet, lifting mixture and tilting the pan to allow the uncooked portion to flow underneath. Do not fold. Toss shrimp with remaining butter; sprinkle or arrange in a pattern over the top. Slip pan under broiler or simply cover pan with lid for a few minutes to heat shrimp and set up top of omelet. Garnish with a bit of fresh dill, if available. Cut into quarters and serve immediately topped with creamy fresh tomato sauce.

CREAMY FRESH TOMATO SAUCE

Combine 1 cup (½ pint) dairy sour cream, 1 firm-ripe tomato, cut into small pieces, 2 green onions, minced tops and all, 2 tablespoons finely minced celery, 2 tablespoons finely minced green pepper, salt and pepper to taste and a dash of tabasco or curry powder, if desired. Blend lightly.



CREAMY FRESH TOMATO SAUCE complements this Open Faced Shrimp Omelet, a bubbly mixture sprinkled with shrimp and garnished with a bit of fresh dill.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

SPCA Counsel Needed For Bar Featuring Piranha Vs. Goldfish

DEAR HELEN:

Does the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals cover fish?

There is a new bar gambling game called Piranha Ante, and I think it should be stopped! Everybody bets a dollar, and then the bartender drops one of those fierce piranhas into a tank of goldfish. If he eats the goldfish you bet on, you win. The poor things are living bait.

This is worse than cock fights — at least the roosters have a fighting chance. And I imagine fish hurt too, even if fishermen don't like to think about it.

—SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Call your local SPCA. And I'd suggest that if your bloodthirsty bartender wants to make bets on his piranha he should put his own ten fingers in the fish tank, for bait. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

You were downright cruel in your reply to "20-Year Widow with a Live Husband." You said widow-wives don't rate much sympathy with you because "there is always something they can do, if they have the gumption to make a decision and stick to it."

If you, Helen, have a kind, understanding, cooperative, loving, sweet, self-sacrificing, obedient, spiritual husband . . . (Stop the music, friend: If this is what you think all husbands should be, you have got a problem.—H) . . . you should thank Heaven for your lucky break. I'm sure you don't possess any finer qualities than some of us who just happen to get stuck with a louse.

Decision? If you mean leave him, state law differs. We would be left with nothing to live on. See a counselor? He ties my hands with his sarcasm, saying it isn't he who needs one. He can see no fault in himself.

I have a husband who is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, taking all his hostilities out on me, hiding his cruelness in subtle ways, keeping God and me at arm's length. I could fill several pages telling you of the kind, thoughtful, religious front he has and how he is ruining lives through his deceitfulness, but I won't take time. There will be a day of judgment for the wicked. His day will come.

If a man commits adultery, is an alcoholic or has obvious vices, at least his sins are obvious and the wife can get sympathy. But when he is a troublemaker who loves to burden others secretly, what can a poor wife do except be a good Christian and hope his sins will someday find him out. To the world, he is a "wonderful person." Not to me.

Why don't you show a bit of pity to those who need an understanding friend? Don't be so sarcastic and caustic in your remarks. It doesn't make you look feminine, refined or compassionate.

—CHRISTIAN WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

What did I say? Only that women with gumption are mistresses of their own destiny. They don't have to wallow in self-pity — or play the saint to their husbands' sinner, which could turn almost any Dr. Jekyll into a Mr. Hyde.

Counseling might help if you'd listen, listen, listen . . . to yourself as well as the counselor. And learn that a man who is wonderful to others but mean to his wife may simply be living up to expectations. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Should you give a housewarming for a cold fish? This woman and her husband built a new house. She lorded it over the rest of us and our "old shacks." She never has anything nice to say, but always thinks she is the best. Most of the neighbors are against the housewarming, but a few think it is the thing to do because her husband is a great guy, and he is treated pretty badly by his wife also. Decisions, please? —D. T.

DEAR D:

Give the housewarming! If Mrs. Fish remains cold, you can feel self-righteous. If it warms her up, you'll be pleasantly surprised. Either way you can't lose. Have fun! —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

PREPARING FOR CONCERT—Flutists Carolyn MacPhail and Phillip Edwards intently follow their parts as they rehearse for the spring concert of the College of Marin Community Band to be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

College Band To Play Contemporary Works

Contemporary compositions and 19th century Russian folk songs will be among selections played by the College of Marin Community Band at its spring concert at 8 p.m. Sunday at the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

John H. Myers will direct the band in a program of music from different eras.

Contemporary American composers will be represented by "Canzona" by Peter Mennin and "Festival Prelude" by Alfred Reed. The band also will perform eight Russian folk songs by Anatol Liadov.

Thomas Donaldson, a sophomore music major at the college, will conduct works by Bach and Purcell.

The band also will play marches by John Philip Sousa and Kenneth Alford, and the "Barch of the Belgian Paratroops" by P. Leemans, a march with unusual melodic and harmonic ideas.

There is no admission charge.

False Teeth Sold

LONDON (UPI) —The army sold 60,000 pairs of unused false teeth for $1,288 at auction yesterday. They were snapped up by a Toronto firm of general dealers.

Candidates Swap Blows Over Plan

Two candidates for county supervisor accused each other of "lies" and "doubletalk" last night at a Santa Venetia gathering at MacPhail School.

Dr. William F. Upton repeated his charge that John F. McInnis, former mayor of San Rafael, favored the city general plan, which included "filling the bay."

In a radio talk in 1964, Mayor McInnis had called the plan "a most imaginative plan," Dr. Upton declared. "He supported the plan to fill San Rafael Bay to Marin Islands and McNear's Point with multiple dwellings."

"He was and still is a liar when he accuses me of being in favor of bay fill," McInnis stormed. The general plan "was not an official plan of mine or the city's," McInnis said. (It was turned down by the city council after a big outcry over its provisions for control of filling privately owned bay lands.)

McInnis said he admired the basic concepts of the plan, but "I defy you to find any quotation in which I approved filling of the bay!" In fact, said McInnis, he had worked to try to get privately owned tidelands into state ownership so they would not be filled.

"If McInnis says he didn't push this plan, (San Rafael general plan) then I can turn around and say that's a lie!" Upton replied.

The third candidate, Melvin Warenback of Terra Linda, steered clear of what he called "bickering and discussing the past." Warenback urged the county to look to the future for methods of eliminating duplication of districts and of broadening the tax base to relieve the property tax payers.

He said he would endeavor to get a University of California campus located in Marin County. He predicted that a "satellite of research industries" would develop around a university campus.

Warenback called for encouraging hotels and restaurants to handle the crowds that will be attracted by the Point Reyes National Seashore.

McInnis outlined his record as mayor of San Rafael and co-founder of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

Dr. Upton listed his 14 years as county planning commissioner, six years as chairman, and membership on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Upton pointed to the Francisco Boulevard area of San Rafael as an example of bad planning under Mayor McInnis. "It's a confusing array of signs and billboards."

He charged that San Rafael has divided Terra Linda, "biting off choice areas for tax revenue and then claiming a 10-cent drop in tax."

Upton said he was responsible in part for helping push through the McAteer-Petris bill to control bay fill.

Only about 20 heard the three speakers, at a meeting sponsored by a Santa Venetia citizen committee headed by Donald Anderson.

Meetings Changed

The Reed School District Board has changed its May meeting schedule and will meet May 17 at 8 p.m. in Tiburon School, Mrs. Helen Dias, secretary to the superintendent, reported. The other May meeting is scheduled for May 31.

Cluster Project Approved By San Rafael Commission

Overriding protests of Lynn Court and Irwin Street residents, the San Rafael Planning Commission voted 4-3 last night to recommend approval of a plan for townhouses on a hilly extension of Lynn Court.

Commissioners spent much of the 55-minute hearing trying to explain to the angry residents why developer Carl A. Warden had chosen to lump his 16 townhouses in a cluster at one end of his oblong 6.6-acre property instead of running them from one end to the other in conventional style.

Acting City Planner Charles J. Linthicum angrily replied to several persons who contended the cluster plan would cause drainage problems and force removal of most of the vegetation from Warden's land.

Linthicum termed the plan "a very desirable project." He said it was the type of thing the city was trying to encourage when it passed a zoning ordinance amendment last year to allow cluster developments.

Voting against the plan were commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole, John A. Miskimen and V. Judson Klein. They agreed with Linthicum that a cluster development was desirable, but said they were unimpressed with plans shown by engineer Beverly J. Whitlow which called for the 16 units to be made up of eight duplex buildings.

Miskimen suggested the plan be scaled down to a cluster of six buildings, with a total of 12 units.

A spokesman for the angry citizens in the audience was Norman B. Campbell of 14 Lynn Court. He insisted the hilly property could be developed conventionally without loss of many trees, but Whitlow said three engineering firms had tried it and given up.

Washington Grave Marker Offered

Roy Magnaghi, owner of Marin Monument Co., has offered to donate a marker for the grave of Catherine Washington, 104-year-old Marin City resident who died last year and was buried by the county.

Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, when Mother Washington lies in an unmarked grave, may waive the customary $25 fee to install the marker.

Magnaghi said he will donate the marker because "it's better than a number. If I had a loved one I'd want something to remember them by."

The marker will be the standard flat rectangular style used in the lawn area where "Mother" Washington is buried, and will include engraving. Who will decide the words to be engraved hasn't yet been determined. The county's responsibility has been fulfilled with the burial, according to County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

A few readers have mailed money to the Independent-Journal to pay for a marker. This will be returned to them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has been directed by county supervisors to learn the cost of providing markers for all indigents buried by the county. The investigation was called for after an Independent-Journal story on May 2 disclosed that the county buries all indigents in unmarked graves.

CITY FATHERS CAN'T AGREE ON PARK BOND

Like Tweedledum and Tweedledee, the Belvedere City Council and the Belvedere Park and Recreation Commission don't agree. Cause of the disagreement isn't a rattle, but the proposed $4.3 million county park bond issue.

Tweedledum is the Belvedere City Council, already on record in favor of the issue.

Tweedledee is the Belvedere Park and Recreation Commission, members of which last night expressed disapproval of the bond issue.

After listening to County Park and Recreation Director Pierre Joske speak on behalf of the issue, commissioners decided they weren't in favor "because more than 50 per cent of the funds would go to special districts which have no definite park program," said secretary Norma Bunker.

Empire Fund Discussed

Concern over a proposed cut in Marin County's contribution to the Redwood Empire Assn. was expressed by Carney Campion, association manager, in a talk to the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting yesterday.

The county's preliminary budget shows a cut from $8,400 to $1,600 in its contribution next year.

"Tourism is an industry," Campion said, "and we have a serious problem in Marin since the county is tourist oriented."

Campion said a new advertising campaign, including increased magazine, travel poster and billboard advertising and establishing a visitors information bureau north of Grants Pass, Ore., is planned by the association.

Novato Sets Three-Week Clean-Up

Novato's annual clean-up campaign will run next Monday to June 5, the City Council decided last night.

Trash will be picked up in three special free pickups: The northwest section of the city on May 22, the central part on May 29, and the southern portion, including Bel Marin Keys and Loma Verde, on June 5. The Novato Sanitary District and the city are sharing expenses.

In addition, the city will hire 16 Novato High School boys to work three Saturdays, starting May 21, to clean up debris on city rights of way.

Hamilton Air Force Base officials have promised to make a major effort to clean up Raphael Village.

Civic clubs were asked to work on projects of their own choosing.

Architecture, Budgets Busy School Trustees

The San Rafael Board of Education last night set a busy schedule for itself for the remainder of this month.

The board is to meet May 21 to inspect the work in Marin of three architectural firms seeking to be hired as architects for the Peacock Gap School.

A regular board meeting will be held at Terra Linda High School library May 24 at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a special meeting to review preliminary drafts of the high school and elementary district budgets for fiscal 1967 at the district office, Third and E streets, May 31, at 7:30 p.m.

The preliminary budgets are, San Rafael High School District $3,707,094, and San Rafael Elementary School District, $3,373,913.

Woman Claims Table Cloths Taken By Man

Linda L. Roberts of 21 Enterprise Drive, Corte Madera, complained to police Monday that she trusted two table cloths worth $70 to a man representing himself as Rod Smalley of Locust Cleaners in Mill Valley, when he came to her door in January. They have not been returned, she said.

Corte Madera police said people at the Mill Valley cleaning shop knew a man named Smalley, but said he never worked for them.

SAN RAFAEL HIT BY SUPERVISORS

San Pedro Road Utility Undergrounding Dispute Brings Sharp Board Comments

The San Rafael City Council came under fire from Marin County supervisors yesterday in the long-standing debate on undergrounding of utilities in connection with San Pedro Road widening.

The city council wants uitilities streamlined, that is with main lines on light standards and distribution lines underground, even if it costs an extra $43,000.

Supervisors several weeks ago resolved that lines could be streamlined as far as Lowrie Yacht Harbor, but from there to the end of the project at Marina Boulevard, all should be underground.

George M. Henderson, a Marin manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said the undergrounding might cost $48,000 more. He wondered who would pay it.

Since about 500 feet of the section is in city territory, the supervisors proposed that the city pay $12,000 and the county pay the rest if any pay is required.

Councilmen have refused to agree. Yesterday Henderson revised his estimate, putting the added cost at $43,000.

About 500 feet of San Pedro Road to be widened next year is within the city. The council is reluctant to require undergrounding in this section when it might have to be carried on next year at added cost to the city, Henderson explained.

"It just gripes me," Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said. "Here is this tremendous leadership of the City of San Rafael just sitting on its haunches."

"The trouble was," Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said, "that the staff work went too far before it came to either board. So they got us."

"Can't we get together?" Supervisor William A. Gnoss asked.

"With that council? No," Leydecker answered. "You just don't know those people."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that the supervisors were "on the side of the angels" in the dispute. The heavenly position, however, still might prove more costly.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said he thought PG&E had agreed to bear the extra cost. He said he would like a letter from the utility stating its position.

Supervisors confirmed their demand for underground utilities from the yacht harbor to Marina Boulevard, and asked Maloney to confer with utility officials to see what might be worked out on the cost.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Set second hearing on the West Marin Master Plan for 8 p.m. July 27 at the Civic Center.
2. Put off consideration of access to Marincello via Bunker Road until after action on the West Marin Master Plan.
3. Continued until next week consideration of the final map on Sharon Park in Bolinas, next to the county park.
4. Approved modification of cal installations for lights in the Marin garden apartment development plan in Meadowsweet, allowing a facade on the building backing onto Highway 101.
5. Amended the County Building Code to require that electriswimming pools be done by a licensed contractor.
6. Rejected all seven bids on road resurfacing projects after Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported a section of Wilson Avenue near Novato was to be dug up in connection with sewer line installations. He said he just learned of the sewer job yesterday afternoon, a few hours after the bids were opened.
7. Put off action on Robert Lewis's request for encroachment permits for television cable installations after discussing the possibility of crossarm installations to allow more than one cable on a utility pole.

Demonstrations Out Of Control, Chief Complains

CHICAGO (AP) — Group civil disobedience has "gotten beyond the ability of the police to handle it," a California police chief said yesterday.

Berkeley Chief A. H. Fording, was taking part in a panel discussion on civil disobedience and the law. The discussion was sponsored by the Bar Assn. of the Seventh Federal Circuit.

"I've witnessed the debasing of the philosophy of pure civil disobedience," the chief said. "We're at the point now where it's gotten beyond the ability of police to handle it."

"We are not getting any clear-cut guidance," he continued. "We can look only to the courts for guidance."

The council also voted to donote $100 toward cost of the bond campaign, Mrs. Lucheta reported.

ICICLES, NOT BLOSSOMS

A sparkling sun glistens through a tree that is loaded with icicles at Wilmington, Del., yesterday as cold weather gripped much of the East. Temperatures dipped to a record-equalling 33 degrees and Ronald A. Young breaks off the icy points that spread over trees after a sprinkler had been left on by mistake all night. The frost killed crops from the Carolinas to Connecticut and in the Midwest. Thunderstorms hit the Great Plains with tornadoes on the edges. (AP Wirephoto)

San Anselmo's Magnolia Pots Barking Shins

San Anselmo city councilmen last night found themselves in at least partial sympathy with an inebriated gentleman who attacked seven of the potted magnolia trees in the downtown area early Monday.

The man damaged the plants after telling police they were a hazard to citizens trying to walk San Anselmo's sidewalks. Councilmen agreed they are, adding that they are also a hazard to opening car doors.

The occasion was City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt's announcement that the 59 trees planted five years ago are dying as their roots fill out the pots. Only 28 now survive, he said.

The Chamber of Commerce, which bought the trees, is talking about replacing them with flowering shrubs with a longer life expectancy, he said. The remaining trees could be transplanted in a park.

Councilmen approved the suggestion, but some thought the pots themselves should be planted elsewhere.

"I've had many a car door scratched on those things," said Duane C. Ragan.

"I'm not so familiar with the problem of car doors," said Arthur W. Smith, "but I've had many a bruised shin because of those pots."

"I wonder why the man did that to the trees," mused Mayor John M. Reichmuth.

"Perhaps he bruised his shin," suggested Flautt.

San Anselmo City Council also:

1. Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday to discuss a fire protection contract with Sleepy Hollow Fire District commissioners.
2. Appointed Grant Thompson Jr. as police sergeant on Chief Raymond Banfield of Santa Venetia as police officer at $517 a month, and called for a civil service examination to create an eligibility list for the police department. Police Chief Buchignani said the only man remaining on a list promulgated two weeks ago failed the eyesight examination.
3. Agreed councilmen would like to meet individually with the newly formed San Anselmo Police and Fire Assn. to learn of the organization's purpose.
4. Introduced an amendment to the subdivision ordinance which allows the city engineer to set standards for curbs and gutters and requires a labor and materials bond in addition to a performance bond.
5. Held over two weeks a request to reconsider refusal to change the fire zone for property at 20 Tamalpais Avenue.
6. Approved placing a concrete sack rip-rap wall in Sleepy Hollow Creek at 46 Park Drive, and a concrete retaining wall in San Anselmo Creek at 5 Hooper Lane.
7. Set June 15 as the deadline for clearing grass, debris and other fire hazards from lots.

Novato Moves To Buy Lots For City Park

First major steps toward acquiring city parks for Novato were made last night by the Novato City Council.

The council approved application for federal matching funds for the purchase of two lots adjoining the Ranch School from the Housing and Home Finance Agency. It then approved taking an option to buy the lots from Joseph Glickberg for $20,000.

Also approved were options to buy four acres from Taylor and Napier for $49,000, and two acres from Daniel Wise for $22,374, to add to Pioneer Memorial Park. An application for federal matching money for this park has already been approved by the HHFA.

Appraisals on the first parcel ran from a low of $46,650 to a high of $51,000 and on the second from $17,500 to $20,000.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget said Wise wanted $2,374 above the high appraisal to repay the cost of engineering for a subdivision, for which he had already filed the map. Councilmen agreed to this.

The council thus committed $93,374 of the approximately $100,000 voted by the last council in a special 30-cent tax rate for park acquisition. However, it should get half of this back from the federal government.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Approved plans for the Novato Auto Mart with the stipulation that the entire area be filled and not have a one-acre ponding area, that it have a frontage road to Scottsdale Avenue, and an access road to Hill Road.
2. Approved purchase of right of way easement for $3,520 for the Diablo Avenue Bridge over Novato Creek and for an easement at the Novato Fair Shopping Center for a temporary bypass for $420.
3. Introduced an ordinance rezoning from single to multiple family the lot at 1110 Olive Avenue owned by Anibel P. and Velma R. Azevedo.
4. Accepted withdrawal of an appeal by Bud Rose of planning commission denial of a permit for a barn close to the property line at 1037 Simmons Lane.
5. Approved annexation of four and a half acres on Eucalyptus Avenue near Vineyard Road, owned by Harold Fraser.
6. Adopted a budget for expenditures of gasoline tax money to be submitted to the state, carryover for one and two years of funds for the Diablo - De Long Avenue realignment project.
7. Approved the parade for the Holy Ghost Festival for May 22 for the IDESI of Novato.
8. Set May 31 as "Student Government Day."
9. Agreed to postpone the scheduled May 24 meeting until May 31.

Johnson Offers Aid In Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Labor executives telegraphed President Johnson yesterday asking "fullest possible support" in the solving of the shotgun slaying of two Painters Union leaders.

In its telegram, the AFL-CIO group said the slayings suggest "an evil plot against unions and union officials."

Killed were Dow Wilson, leader of Local 4 in San Francisco, and Lloyd Green, financial secretary for Local 1178 in Hayward. Wilson was shot April 5 and Green last Saturday, each after attending night union meetings.

Book Complaint Revision Asked

San Rafael School Form Raises Queries

The San Rafael City Schools' proposed new system for handling complaints about books and other instructional material was sent back for revision last night.

After comments from several residents, the San Rafael Board of Education agreed the policy should have a preamble stating that it does not stop a parent from complaining orally to the teacher.

"The first and most appropriate place to go is to the teacher," Board Member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said.

Board Member Anita C. Strom said she hoped that parents will have spoken to the teacher, department head or assistant superintendent before reaching the point of filing a complaint.

Under present policy a parent must file a complaint by filling out a form provided by the schools office.

Under the proposed policy, a parent could either fill out the form or submit a letter containing "substantiated reasons" for the complaint.

Supt. Bert C. Corona said the word "substantiated" was added because persons might object on the grounds of philosophy or general presentation, and "we feel we have to have details."

One resident objected to the form questions, "Are you aware of the judgment of this material by literary critics?" and "What do you believe is the theme of this material?"

He asked, "Are you going to grade us?"

"That's why I asked for the letter."

Theodore Lachelt, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, urged that the wording that the parent "may" present his complaint by either form or letter be changed to "must."

Paul L. Jones of Terra Linda countered that parents have a right to object orally. "A lot don't have time to document their objections," he said.

Board members assured him that the policy wouldn't stop a parent from talking to the teacher or principal before filing a complaint.

Mrs. Strom said filing of the complaint should not be the first step, but the "last step."

Another proposed revision is to have the review committee select its own chairman. There were objections to the original proposal to have assistant superintendent or his delegate act as chairman.

The board referred the proposed policy for inclusion of a preamble and the substitution of "must" for "may" regarding presentation of complaints by form or letter.

Mrs. John M. Douglas of 80 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael, said it is not clear at what point an inquiry becomes a complaint.

The board also received a proposed policy on complaints made against teachers and other staff members, but delayed full discussion until May 24 after Mrs. Strom said she got her copy too late to evaluate it before the board meeting.

Mrs. Strom also reported that she had received telephone calls from parents who wanted to discuss the proposed policy.

The policy calls for complaints to be "processed in a professional and respectful manner." Anonymous or second hand complaints will not be acknowledged.

The board received a letter from Mrs. Irene Pettit of Mill Valley, an English teacher at San Rafael High School, who has resigned, saying she was disturbed by the attitude of the board and administration toward the teachers.

"I refer to their failure to give as much weight to the professional judgment of teachers as to the criticism voiced by anonymous parents," she wrote.

Mrs. Pettit said she was "struck by the complete lack of support for the professional competence of the teachers. It was possible for those who complained anonymously to disrupt an entire program planned for those qualified to plant and teach."

The board agreed that its next agenda will be available a week in advance of the meeting. Under the present system, the agenda is prepared on Friday preceding the Tuesday board meetings.

Attorney Bella H. Aaron said letters must be submitted to the board by noon Friday, but an agenda is not available at that time. Therefore, there may be an item on the agenda that she would want to submit a letter about, but she wouldn't know about it until after the deadline for letters.

Mrs. Strom said that getting an agenda earlier would give board members more time "to do homework."

Board members agreed that the agendas available would be the full agendas, not the abbreviated form.

Tam High's Canteen Now Just Debris Pile

The much-maligned Canteen located at Stadium Avenue and Homestead Boulevard near Tamalpais High School has been flattened.

Tamalpais Fire Chief Herbert Owen said today that he arranged for demolition with the owner, Blanda Tealander of Mill Valley. It was carried out Monday.

Debris is in two piles awaiting disposal. Miss Tealander is paying for the razing, Chief Owen reported.

The former eating establishment, largely patronized by high school students, was object of three fires in recent months, all believed set by arsonists, plus a "bang-in" by youths in cars. The place went out of business over a year ago after it was declared "off campus" by the school administration.

YOUR ACHING BACK

By HANS KRAUS, M.D.
(Eighth in Series)

By now you will have tried the K-W exercises and know which ones you failed. If you have back trouble you will have checked with your doctor to be certain that exercise won't be harmful.

And now, knowing which K-W tests and which muscle problems you have, you are ready for the set of six general exercises.

These are the exercises to relax you and help strengthen muscles that will precede and end every exercise session. They are done in order 1-2-3-4-5-6 at the beginning of each session, and 6-5-4-3-2-1 at the end. Regardless which K-W test you failed, do all these general exercises.

To begin, strip down to your underclothes, take off your shoes and stockings, and lie on your back on a rug or pad on the floor. Get in a comfortable position. Put a pillow under your knees, a pillow under each arm, and another pillow or rolled-up towel under the back of your neck. Now, remember you do each exercise two or three times, and rest between each time.

EXERCISE 1.—Loosen up by wobbling your neck, your shoulders, arms, thighs and legs and feet. Raise your arms slowly. then let them drop. Do the same with your hands, legs and feet. Let your head drop to the left, then to the right. Take a deep breath—do not strain—exhale slowly.

Now try to feel heavy—let your head, shoulders, arms and legs rest on the floor. Do not keep them up even slightly by tensing your muscles.

Breathe again. Close your eyes. Let your jaw sag. Try to exhale as slowly as possible, humming or hissing.

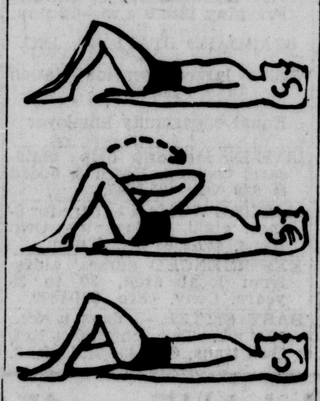
Tighten your arm muscles, then let go. The important thing is the letting go, not the tightening. The tightening is important only to make you feel the difference between tenseness and relaxation.

Breathe again, slowly lift your shoulders to your ears. Let them go, shrug.

EXERCISE 2—Get up, sit on a chair, shrug your shoulders again. That's all there is to it.

EXERCISE 3—Turn your head all the way to the left. Then return it to the normal front and center and relax. Turn all the way to the right as far as you can, return, and let go. If you have a stiff neck, do this while sitting as well as lying down.

EXERCISE 4—Lie flat on your back with all pillows removed, this time with your knees flexed. Slowly draw your right knee up as close as possible to your chest. Slowly straighten your leg. Let it fall to the floor limp and relaxed. Pull up again to the flexed starting position. Now do the some thing with the other leg. Alternate legs.



EXERCISE 5—Lie on your left side, place a pillow under your head so it rests comfortably and your neck can relax. Keep both knees flexed and hips slightly flexed. Slide your right knee as close to your head as is comfortably possible, then slowly extend the leg until it is completely straight. Let the leg drop to the floor relaxed. Do the exercise two or three times on one side, then turn over to the other side and do the same thing with the other leg.

EXERCISE 6—Turn over on your stomach. Fold your hands under your head and let your head rest on your hands comfortably. Then tighten your seat muscles. Hold for two seconds, then relax.

That's all there is to the six general exercises. From here on out, you will have to know which of the K-W tests you failed to get your exercise prescription from the next set of corrective exercises.

You may have weak stomach muscles that need strengthening. You may have stiff back muscles, or you may find that you are tense.

Then again you may have a combination of weaknesses. But once you know your deficiencies, you can do prescribed exercises, designed to correct these specific difficulties. These are exercises with a purpose to right what is wrong with you.

You may have been given exercises previously and they may not have helped. Do not let that discourage you.

You may not have done the correct kind of exercise the right way for a long enough time. Perhaps you can decide this for yourself by answering the following questions:

Have you been given a muscle test before exercises were prescribed? If not, the chances are you were not given the correct exercises.

Were these exercises just given to you without detailed descriptions of how they were to be performed? If so, the chances are you didn't do them properly.

Were you supposed to do all the exercises at once, or were you given a gradually increasing sequence? If you were given the whole program at once, the chances are it was not effective.

Were you told to repeat each exercise many times, say five, ten, or more? If so, this may have been too much.

Have you done your exercises every day, gradually increasing the number of minutes up to 20 or 30 minutes, slowly, relaxed, and consistently, for several months? If not, again, you may have missed the boat—and ticket to a healthier life.

Tomorrow, we will describe the corrective exercises. Don't do them when you read them. The final article in the series will help you prescribe for yourself—on the basis of your K-W failures—which exercises and which sequence is right for you.

Tomorrow: Corrective exercises—read, but don't do them yet.

Southwest's Residents Eye Northern California Water

WASHINGTON (AP)— Northern California was suggested today as a potential source for more water for the Colorado River basin.

The suggestion was made at a House Interior subcommittee hearing on a bill to authorize the $1.6 billion Colorado River Basin Project. Included would be two big dams in Arizona, five smaller irrigation units in Colorado and a study into whether water should be imported from other river basins.

The import proposal has touched off some fireworks. Congressmen from the Pacific Northwest have protested what they call plans to raid Columbia River waters.

Northcutt Ely, California special assistant attorney general and special counsel for the Colorado River Board of California, was questioned on a 30 - page statement he read to the committee.

He said any import proposal would have to be approved by Congress and the affected states.

"No Columbia basin state may be deprived of protection except by its own consent given in an interstate compact," he testified. "By the same token, if California rivers, instead of the Columbia, are the source of the exported waters, California receives the same protection."

If Northern California provides the 2.5 million acre - feet of water estimated to be needed annually for diversion to the fornia will contribute a quantity Colorado River, Ely said, "Cali- of water which is several times the quantity that this bill would give us out of the Colorado."

Questioning of Ely was de - layed briefly by a committee dispute. The chairman, Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., an - nounced members would be restricted in questioning the witness, "or we'll be here a month."

Chinese Bomb Hottest Yet, Japanese Report

TOKYO (UPI) —Comminist China's third and biggest nuclear test explosion Monday produced radioactive fallout 200 times greater than fallout from its first explosion and 100 times greater than from its second, Japanese scientists reported today.

Prof. Takeo Kosaka of Niigata University said 29 were detected in Niigata Prefecture, on northern Japan's west coast which faces China, less than 48 hours after the blast.

Although the level of fallout was high, Kosaka said, it was not sufficient to endanger humans.

One of the particles registered a radioactivity of 500,000 counts or 1.5 million micro-microcuries. Its radioactivity was 100 times as great as that found in particles two days after the second Chinese test on May 14, 1965.

Particles detected in Niigata after the first Chinese test on Oct. 19, 1964, contained a radiation content of from 1,800 to 7,500 micro-microcuties.

Red China said the test materials," indicating that it may have been experimenting with a hydrogen bomb or a triggering device for such a bomb.

Kosaka said the nature and scope of the explosion could not be determined from the preliminary samples of radioactive debris detected so far. But he said first indications were that the bomb components were "very much like (those) of the second Chinese experiment."

Japanese scientists said detection of the radioactive debris came at least a day earlier from this Chinese test than from the two previous explosions, probably because it was carried on a "jet air current" from the test site in Western China.

Weathermen in Osaka, in central Japana, also reported they detected radioactivity in rain that fell last night. They had not yet determined the radioactive content, however.

The zoning administrator and the planning commission had recommended denial.

Committee Votes To Hike Wage Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Rules Committee today cleared for floor action legislation to raise the federal minimum wage by 35 cents to $1.60 an hour and extend coverage to seven million new workers.

The vote in closed session was 9 to 6.

The bill, backed by the Johnson administration, had been stalled in the committee since late March. House leaders now are expected to schedule it for debate within two weeks.

The measure would increase the minimum wage for about 30 million workers to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and to $1.60 a year later.

The wave floor for newly covered workers would start at $1 an hour next Feb. 1, and rise in 15-cent yearly steps to $1.60, except for 485,000 farm workers whose minimum would stop at $1.30.

Other congressional news:

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Leprosy Becomes More Prevalent, But Vaccine May Stop Disease

VAN DELLEN

Leprosy (Hansen's disease) is twice as prevalent in the world today as it was 10 years ago, according to a British report.

The disease has been one of the last to receive the benefits of medical investigation, but research is catching up with the condition and two new preventives are promising.

BGG, the anti-tuberculosis vaccine, has been used as a prophylactic against the disease for at least a decade. A large scale BCG project was started in Uganda several years ago by the English and the preliminary results are most encouraging. The study involves more than 16,000 children under 10 years of age.

AT THE END of three years, 107 of these youngsters were leprous. Eighteen victims were among the 8,091 BCG vaccinated children whereas 89 were among the 8,071 unvaccinated youngsters. The figures 18 to 89 are significant.

A similar study is being conducted in India using dapsone as a prophylactic. The Indians selected 585 children living in homes where contact had been made with a leper. During the next two years 43 of the youngsters developed the disease: 14 in 291 contacts of the group receiving dapsone, and 29 in the 294 who received placebos.

Time will tell whether others will catch the disease. Leprosy is a slowly progressing chronic malady of variable course.

Three years is too short because some contract the disease only after years of exposure. All that can be said is that these procedures offer protection against the early forms of leprosy for at least 36 months.

NINETY PER CENT of the children develop the neural tuberculoid type which is less serious and spontaneous healing occurs occasionally. However, if untreated, severe nerve damage may ensue.

Less than 10 per cent develop the lepromatous form against which the individual has no natural resistance.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

WEIGHT LOSS, CANCER

Mrs. D. writes: Is there a type of intestinal cancer that a person can have and not lose weight?

REPLY

Early, yes; late, no. In this respect, weight loss is inevitable when the cancer is permitted to grow in its usual lawless fashion.

HIGH TONES

N. P. writes: Could you explain what hearing loss in the higher tones means?

REPLY

This type of hearing loss is referred to commonly as nerve deafness. Here the higher tones go first, which means that the sibilants such as "s" are indistinct.

VOICE MATURATION

P. O. K. writes: Can a man's voice be matured by treatment?

REPLY

It is conceivable that the voice could be deepened by speech training but medicines such as hormones will not be effective.

Rh AND JAUNDICE

Mrs. E. P. writes: Is it possible for Rh incompatibility to cause jaundice in a woman after the birth of the baby? I know the baby can develop jaundice.

REPLY

To my knowledge, this complication never develops.

San Rafael Planners Deny Gas Station In Loch Lomond Marina

Armed with an opinion by City Atty. David Menary, the San Rafael Planning Commission last night turned down Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s application to put a gasoline station in the Loch Lomond Marina shopping complex.

Menary told commissioners in a letter that he did not believe service stations were a proper use under the marina's commercial C-1 zoning.

The attorney said the city was not obligated to follow a "master plan" for this or any other project because there is no such thing mentioned in the zoning ordinance. But he said the planning commission and city council could follow such a plan if they chose.

This latter opinion, however, failed to settle a debate which started last month among commissioners as to whether they should have any more to do with the marina's master plan. Commissioners Pat Hetherton and Carl S. Brown, who have been on the commission since the plan was accepted, argued this was proper and that Menary's opinion did not make the plan any less binding.

Brown went so far as to say Menary might be wrong.

Commissioners rejected a request by attorney Roger P. Garety, representing Humble, that they consider changing the zoning ordinance to permit service stations in C-1 zones. But they agreed to consider including master plans in the ordinance.

They set June 28 and July 12 hearings on this and on reviewing the marina master plan—provided the ordinance change goes through.

Two other actions—both of denials of architectural approval for advertising signs—renewed the often-voiced displeasure of sign maker Robert Bohanna.

One sign would have advertised Zenith appliances in the window of McPhail's Inc., 917 C Street. Acting City Planner Charles J. Linchicum said the store now has eight signs.

The second would have gone on the roof of Pearson Yacht Sales, 557 Francisco Boulevard, for which the commission approved another sign April 12.

Bohanna, who has long charged that commissioners unfairly interpret the zoning ordinance, promised once fore to fight it out with the city council.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Recommended that the city council amend the zoning ordinance to eliminate requirement for excavation permits when no dirt is taken on or off the site.

2. Granted Chrysler Corp. a permit for a Dodge agency at 1075 Francisco Boulevard, and granted a "subdivision" reducing five lots to two, after ironing out technical problems.

3. Granted Lafargue French Laundry a permit for commercial parking lot at 902 B Street, requiring that it be surfaced with asphalt.

4. Granted Leon C. Felton Co. a permit for an auto body repair shop at 102 Mill Street.

5. Moved first hearing on the San Rafael General Plan up to June 29. It had been set for July 5, but the commission will not meet that night.

Woman Dies With Plastic Bag On Head

Mrs. Phylone Noble Schwartz, 68, of 546 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley, was found dead with a plastic bag over her head at her home yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Bon of 39 Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, went to Mrs. Schwartz's home at 5:15 p.m., but got no response when she knocked at the front door.

Mrs. Bon went to the back of the house and saw Mrs. Schwartz lying on her bed. Mrs. Bon entered with a key, found Mrs. Schwartz was dead, and called the Mill Valley fire and police departments.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley said today that Mrs. Schwartz had apparently been dead since Friday. She left a note dated Friday.

Mrs. Schwartz's husband, Roy John Schwartz, 69, died of a heart attack in a Mill Valley doctor's office April 11. The couple had no children.

Bradley said Mrs. Schwartz's sister, Mrs. Sylvia McKeon of Saratoga, had stopped in Mill Valley Saturday and called the home by phone, but no one answered.

Mrs. Schwartz was born in Oakland. She is survived by five sisters.

An autopsy will be performed at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Man, 21, Found Dead Atop Electric Pole

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UPI) —Donny Ray Ellis, 21, of Wichita Falls, was found dead atop an electric pole in the middle of a pasture two miles from the nearest road yesterday. No one knew how he got to the pole or why.

He had been fatally shocked and his body was badly burned by the electric power.

Bogus $5 Bills Found In Prison

COLUMBIA, S.C. AP — A prisoner who worked at the printing shop at the South Carolina State Penitentiary has been charged with counterfeiting $5 bills.

Warden William D. Leeke said yesterday James Trembley, 21, formerly of San Diego, Calif., used a photoengraving process to manufacture seven bogus bills.

None left the prison, the warden said. He added that the shop now is "temporarily closed."

New VFW Group Set In San Anselmo

A new post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, being organized in San Anselmo, will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Hub City Barber Shop, 564 San Anselmo Avenue.

Alva J. Fleming, national extension service director of the VFW, will attend to enroll charter members. Veterans of overseas service interested in joining may notify Barney Oldfield, temporary chairman of the new post, at the barber shop.

County Auctions Off Six Surplus Parcels

County supervisors yesterday sold six parcels of surplus property at public auction for a total of $18,345.

Most bids were offered on a buildable lot on Cardinal Road next to Coyote Creek in Tamalpais Valley. Robert Middagh, an employee of the county public works department, was the highest of eight bidders at $1,675. He was also the highest of five bidders at $3,555 on another buildable lot on Maple Street in the same area.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost called supervisors attention to the fact that Middagh was a county employee, working in the same department that arranged yesterday's sale. Supervisors agreed he had as much right to bid as anyone else.

Bringing top price was a lot and house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield, purchased by C. T. Ladd, of Bechtel Corp. for $13,020. A second lot and house next door brought no bid.

Joel B. Hart of Tiburon purchased three small parcels along Coyote Creek at $30, $35 and $50.

Growers Backed On Strawberries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Tieburg, director of state Department of Employment, has endorsed a request by Salinas Strawberries Inc. for 1,000 imported Mexican workers and passed it on to the U.S. Department of Labor for decision.

Tieburg yesterday certified that the firm is guaranteeing a minimum wage of $1.40 an hour and offering other conditions to U.S. workers. The government requires that these conditions be met before a grower is eligible for Mexican workers.

Tieburg said that the recent failure of Northern California asparagus growers to meet the federal requirements kept them from getting his endorsement of their request for 1,500 Mexican workers and resulted in federal rejection of their bid.

Employment Now Highest Ever

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A total of 7,015,000 persons held jobs in California last month, the state history, the Department of Employment reported today.

The report showed employment was 330,000 higher than April of last year.

At the same time, the Department of Industrial Relations said the statewide unemployment rate was 4.6 per cent last month, the lowest figure in 6½ years. The rate was 4.9 per cent in March and 6.1 per cent in April a year ago.

Hospital Will Honor Workers

Fifty-one San Rafael General Hospital employees will receive service award pins at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at ceremonies in the hospital dining room.

The award program will be a part of National Hospital Week observance at the hospital.

Mrs. Pauline Elder, hospital board trustee, and hospital administrator Arthur G. Burns will present 39 one-year pins, eight five-year pins, and four 10-year pins.

Early Sports Stamp

ATHENS (UPI) —Greece issued the first sports commemorative postage stamp when it printed 12 stamps on the occasion of the Olympic games in 1896.

Attention Earth People!

We have just received another message from Howard Benedict.

Every time something takes place or takes off from Cape Kennedy, we hear about it from Howard Benedict. And so do you.

Benedict is the chief aerospace writer for The Associated Press, and one of the chief reasons why our reports of the space program, from the first Alan Shepard flight in the Freedom 7 to the latest space feat, have been so complete and so authoritative.

In seven years, Benedict has witnessed more than 1200 countdowns and spent countless hours with every expert in the space program. He's as much up on the subject as anyone can be who hasn't been up in space.

Howard Benedict, of course, is just one of the many skilled AP reporters, writers, researchers and photographers covering the field. There are dozens of them, and they're all there just to make sure that we get all the news from space. Just so we can get it all to the earth people, our readers.

Everything that's going on, goes into our newspaper. That's why you get so much out of it.

TELEVISION REVIEW

CBS Takes On UFO In A Documentary

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Is it possible that there are more intelligent beings than those who inhabit this planet?

Is it possible that there aren't?

In one way or another, "CBS Reports" touched on these matters last night in a one-hour color documentary about unidentified flying objects entitled "UFO: Friend, Foe or Fantasy."

Quite naturally, the program, whose host and chief reporter was Walter Cronkite, was prompted by the alleged "sightings" of unidentified flying objects not long ago in Michigan.

And quite naturally, there could be no definite type of answer to the questions posed, though the hour was decidedly skeptical in its attitude toward flying saucers—while rather believing in its views on life evolving elsewhere.

A standard documentary format was employed in looking at the subject at hand. There was the usual history backdrop, and there were the interviews with alleged eyewitnesses of sightings, and there were the experts who were skeptical, and those who were not so skeptical.

One English authority, rather miffed at the possibly conceited attitude of earthlings who think they are the center of attraction of the entire universe, asked who we thought we were anyway?

"We're a potty, fifth-rate lot," he suggested.

Other points, however, were brought up. One of them was the oft-repeated charge by some believers that the truth is being covered up by the military establishments. Of course this was denied.

Then there was the suggestion that as a result of illusions, reflections and other tricks of nature, there has really been less there than meets the eye.

Then there was the rather sure that the undertaker of a Michigan town is also the Civil Defense director.

In addition to the recent focal area of Michigan, last night's program was also filmed in California, Colorado and Britain, but not even "CBS Reports" was able to solve the dilemma.

The same network, by the way, has two more rather timely hour documentaries coming up in the next week:

On Friday, it will offer a broadcast about the current auto safety controversy. One of the guests is Henry Ford II, and another is lawyer Ralph Nader, whose book "Unsafe At Any Speed" and congressional testimony have been key highlights of the arguing.

Next Tuesday, CBS-TV will have a program about "The Use of the Powerful and Controversial Drug LSD—not its headlined use by young people seeking thrills but its use as an important tool in serious research in the field of mental medicine."

Wallace Victory Still Larger

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Official election returns from last week's Democratic party primary show that Mrs. George C. Wallace, aspiring to succeed her governor-husband, dealt nine male opponents a more thorough defeat than was first thought.

The final returns, released in Birmingham by Roy Mayhall, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, showed that Mrs. Wallace got 480,841 votes, or 54 per cent of the total votes cast for all 10 candidates. When tabulations ceased last week, she had 52.3 per cent.

Mrs. Wallace got more votes alone than her nine male foes together, which was 407,997. Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, who polled much of the new Negro vote, was runnerup with 172,386.

Terra Linda Inks Poverty Firemen Pact

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District last night approved a contract with College of Marin for employment of four students as assistant firemen in the Terra Linda Department at $2 an hour.

The agreement was made under the War on Poverty program, aimed at providing employment for low-income students. The federal government will provide 90 per cent of the cost, District Secretary Mrs. Cleo D. Murray reported.

Directors accepted the resignation of chairman W. H. Beckstead. An engineer with the State Division of Highways, Beckstead is to be transferred to Sacramento.

Director Richard L. Less was named to replace him as Chairman, and Alan Shattuck was named to fill the vacancy on the board.

Shattuck was an opposed candidate for director and was to be appointed by supervisors after the June 7 election to replace Beckstead, who had not sought another term.

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District also:

1. Set for 9 p.m., June 14, adoption of the preliminary budget for fiscal 1967, and for 9 p.m., June 28, a public hearing prior to adoption of the final budget. Both will be at the Terra Linda Community Center.

2. Heard from Less that Pacific Gas and Electric Co. plans improvement of street lighting on Del Ganado Road and Las Gallinas Avenue at no cost to the district.

3. Adopted a resolution seeking annexation of Terra Linda Terrace, a tract proposed on the South side of the district. The County Planning Commission approved preliminary map on the tract on condition that all of it is annexed to the Terra Linda Community Services and Recreation and Parks districts.

Quail Hill Townhouse Plan Gains Approval

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night put its blessing on the Draper Companies' plan to put 216 townhouses and 34 conventional houses on Quail Hill, west of the Northgate Shopping Center.

Action came after a 30-minute hearing in which members of the Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Assn. said Draper had eliminated all of the features which had stirred their violent opposition to two previous plans for the hill.

Commissioners unanimously recommended that the city council zone the 82-acre hill as a planned community district, then approved a use permit with eight conditions attached.

One condition requires that the unfinished link of Nova Albion Way be completed at the same time Draper carries out the first phase of the project, whatever that may be. Another, requiring a pedestrian easement through one corner of the area, was added when engineer Carlos Gonzalez said this was planned anyway.

Attorney William G. Corrigan, representing Draper, said open areas will be owned by a non-profit corporation, in which each person who buys a home on the hill will become a stockholder.

Gonzalez said the San Rafael High School District has talked of paying half the cost of completing Nova Albion Way. He tried in vain to get commissioners to word their conditions so Draper would only be bound to finish half the street.

He got some sympathy on this point from commissioners Carl S. Brown and Thomas R. O'Toole, but Chairman Fred C. Robbins said he would not hear of it.

The developer must see to it that the whole road is done, said Robbins, "and if you can't get the school district to improve half, that's just tough."

First plan for Quail Hill, submitted in 1964, called for 1,200 units. The second, last year, reduced the number to 949 units. Each was turned down by the city council.

The new plan, unlike the others, will call for sale rather than rental of each unit. Like the others, it will use one acre at the southeast corner for administrative-professional buildings.

Park Budget Up In Terra Linda

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night adopted for study a preliminary budget setting expenditures for fiscal 1967 at $75,700, up about $2,000 from the current year.

The district's tax rate will remain unchanged at the legal limit of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, bringing in a total of about $28,000, Recreation Director James Hand reported. Other revenues will come from fees charged for various district programs.

Public hearing on the budget was tentatively set for 8 p.m. June 8, at the Recreation Center.

Giants Keep It Alive: Nine Down, Juan To Go

PITTSBURGH (AP) — For a while it looked as if the trade had been made a little too early.

Here the San Francisco Giants were battling the Pittsburgh Pirates without either Willie McCovey or Orlando Cepeda. But they managed to win their ninth straight last night by beating Pittsburgh 2-1 in 15 innings, extending their National League lead to 3½ games over the second-place Pirates.

The only extra base hit the Giants got all night came off the bat of starting pitcher Bob Bolin. He tripled in the fifth and came home on Tito Fuentes' infield hit that tied the score.

Earlier in the day, Cepeda made his debut for St. Louis and hit a homer as the Cards beat Chicago 4-2. Cepeda was traded Sunday for Ray Sadecki because the Giants considered they needed a left-handed starter and didn't need two first basemen.

But the Giants didn't have even one regular first baseman after the second inning because McCovey re-pulled a muscle in his right leg and had to leave the game after singling.

The injury was not believed serious and the move was considered precautionary because of the cold weather. The game started in 44-degree temperature and the thermometer read 35 when the game ended 3 hours and 46 minutes later.

McCovey could play tonight when Juan Marichal goes for his seventh victory without a defeat. Don Schwall was the probable opponent.

The Giants won last night on a 15th inning bases-loaded force play and survived a shaky bottom of the inning when the Pirates put men on first and third with one out.

After Tom Haller led off the 15th with a single off losing reliever Bob Purkey, the Pirates fouled up a force play at second with both runners safe. Frank Linzy loaded the bases with a single.

Fuentes flied out too shallow for an advance but Len Gabrielson, playing his first major league game at first base, hit into the force at second that scored Haller with the winning run.

But ex-Giant Matty Alou and Roberto Clemente singled in the 15th off the winning Linzy. Ex-Pirate Joe Gibbon entered at this point and got pinch-hitter Andre Rodgers to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

Pittsburgh manager Harry Walker put on a special new shift against Willie Mays. The third baseman stood on the line, the shortstop moved toward third and the second baseman played on the left field side of the bag. It went into effect after Mays singled in the first inning and it worked.

Mays went one-for-six and the shift took a base hit away from him in the eighth inning when second baseman Bill Mazeroski stopped a ball from leaving the infield and threw Mays out at first.

"Say, Chub . . ."

"Yes, Horace?"

"That's a mighty fine looking first baseman the Cardinals have. What did you say his name was and where did they get him?"

"Uh . . . well . . . sure is a nice day today, eh, Horace?"

"Chubbykins, you are evading my question . . ."

"Well, Horace, I don't remember. Everything is blank. I guess they brought him up through their farm system. Ha-ha, yep, that's it, farm system."

"HMMM. MIGHTY fine looking young man. Big and strong, popular with the fans, bright smile, and oh, such POWER! Sure reminds me a lot of that feller we have on the bench. That Cepeda feller. Wonder why Herman hasn't used Cepeda lately. Especially since I boldly declared back in May that he would not be traded."

"Hey, Horace, look at that little blonde broad down there in Section 5!"

"BOY, THAT Cardinal first baseman has been murdering us, Chub. Especially the day before yesterday when he hit that grand slam in the ninth; and yesterday when he doubled home the winning run; and just last inning when he hit Hunter's Point. On the fly. Boy, I can't get over how much he looks like our boy Cepeda that I insisted I wouldn't trade. Why, he even limps like him."

"Aw, come on, Horace, let's go get a soda pop and talk about something else."

'YES, CHUBBY, quite a slugger, that Card first sacker. Thought I'd die when he hit four homers off that new southpaw pitcher you got for me. What's that lefty's name—Sadistic, or something?"

"That's Sadecki, Horace, and just because he's lost 10 straight games, you don't have to be so facetious, you old smartie pants."

"WELL, THAT'S okay, Chub. You've made some good trades for me, getting rid of Stu Miller and Bill White and Ernie Broglio and those two Alou boys and Billy O'Dell and Jose Cardenal and . . ."

"Oh, shush your mouth, Horace."

"AND REMEMBER the time you talked me into paying $150,000 bonus for that Santa Clara pitcher, Bob Gibraltar, or something? Ha-ha, you little devil you, Chubby."

"Please, Horace, you are making me ill."

"WELL, I'LL let bygones be bygones, Chubbykins, but I'm sure glad I didn't let you talk me into trading Cepeda for a left-handed pitcher earlier this season. Remember when I told the press Cepeda was not trade bait. Why, I wouldn't have traded him for the world, and I told everybody just that. The press was sure suspicious when you flew to St. Louis on May 8. They said you were going to trade Cepeda for some lefty. Ha! Sure glad I stopped you. I did, didn't I, Chubby?"

"UH, LISSEN, Horace. I got a great trade cooking with the Cards. We give them that new left handed pitcher, along with McCovey, Mays, Hart, Marichal, me, my wife and kids, your new Cadillac, a year's lease on Big Al's topless joint, Russ Hodges, the south tower of the Golden Gate Bridge and a two-year subscription to the Independent-Journal, serving all of Marin County."

"Yes, Chub, but who will we get in return?"

ELSEWHERE AROUND THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

Koufax, Cepeda Star; Reds Sweep Pair

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quick, sprinkle salt on their tails before the Los Angeles Dodgers steal the National League pennant again.

Walt Alston's go-go boys and their chief second story man, Maury Wills, ran all around the Philadelphia Phillies last night with their oldtime speed and their oldtime Sandy Koufax producing a 6-1 victory.

Wills stole three bases, Lou Johnson two and Ron Fairly one but Alston denied the six steals meant Los Angeles would be running regularly now.

"Sometimes you can run," Alston said, "and sometimes you can't. That's the way we're going to play it too. We're going to keep them guessing."

Koufax, whose lengthy holdout cut deeply into his spring training, pitched a strong six-hitter, striking out 10 and winning his fourth game in five decisions.

The performance had to please Alston, whose ace was shelled from the mound in two innings against San Francisco last week. "He came up with a sore elbow in San Francisco and it worried me a bit," Alston admitted.

"He's looking better every game he pitches," the manager added.

Koufax said he still does not feel as strong as he would like. "The curve could be better, and the fast ball too," he said.

"He's pretty good," said Mauch, "even when he's not at his best."

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, St. Louis blanked Chicago 8-0, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 8-2, 8-0, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 2-1 in 15 innings and New York bested Houston 7-4.

The Dodgers had stolen 21 bases in their first 25 games but the six against the Phillies accounted for their biggest one-game haul. It was Wills' second three-steal game and pulled his season's total to 11.

"It's the first time all season, I felt really good," Wills said. "I had a good jump on the pitcher and that's what counts."

Fairly's two-run double was the big hit for the Dodgers in the first inning as they gave Koufax a quick 3-0 lead against Chris Short. That was all Sandy needed.

Orlando Cepeda, acquired from the Giants just two days earlier, poled his first homer for St. Louis and three other Cardinal homers made it easy for Bob Gibson, who pitched a six-hitter. Gibson, Mike Shannon and Curt Flood hit the other homers.

Jim Maloney and Milt Pappas pitched the Reds to their sweep over the Braves, who managed just seven hits in the doubleheader.

Maloney, out two weeks with an arm ailment, gave Atlanta a pair of first inning runs in the opening game and then shut them out on one hit until the eighth when Don Nottebart came in to finish up. Pappas hurled a four-hitter in the nightcap.

Pete Rose had three hits and Tony Perez and Leo Cardenas drove in two runs apiece in the second game after the Reds pumped 14 hits including a two-run homer by Deron Johnson to win the opener.

Dick Selma worked four and two-thirds innings of sharp relief and the Mets pounded three homers to defeat Houston. Selma permitted just three singles, all of them in the ninth inning. Johnny Lewis, Ken Boyer and Jim Hickman homered for New York.

Russell No. 1 Pick In NBA

The 6-foot-5½, 218-pound athlete scored 800 points last season and ranked third in the nation among the major college performers with a 30.8-point average.

New York, last in the Eastern Division, won the right to make the first pick by a flip of the coin with Detroit, which had finished last in the Western Division of the league.

Russell, 21, was the most valuable player in both the East-West college all-star game and the AAU tournament in which he led the Dearborn (Mich.) Mustangs to the title.

Detroit chose Dave Bing, 6-3 Syracuse University guard, who was the fifth highest scorer in the nation with a 28.4 average.

WARRIOR PICK

San Francisco, with the third pick, selected Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, who averaged 22.7 for the season. Lee, 6-9 and 220 pounds, has said he will play in Italy next year.

St. Louis picked Lou Hudson of Minnesota. He's a 6-5, 207-pounder.

Baltimores' pick was Jack Marin of Duke, who is 6-6, 200 pounds. He was the leading scorer for Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference champions, with 558 points.

Then came:

Boston — Jim Barnett, Oregon, 6-4, 180.

Philadelphia — Mass Goukas, St. Joseph's (Philadelphia), who has announced he will play another year of college ball.

BYE-BYE, CEPEDA

New Soccer League To Import Players

NEW YORK (UPI) —Eleven teams in cities throughout the nation will form the proposed North American Professional Soccer League, the first major soccer league in the United States, with play scheduled to begin in the fall of 1967.

Robert Hermann of St. Louis, president of the league, and William Cox, president and founder of the International Soccer League, announced yesterday the teams would represent Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Diego, San Francisco and Hartford, Conn.

The U.S. Soccer Football Assn., which governs the sport in the United States, has not yet given official sanction to the new league but has scheduled a meeting later this week to consider formation of such a league and possible franchises. No decision is expected until next month.

"We decided simply to take the bull by the horns and make our announcement now," Cox said, in announcing the league's inception at a press luncheon. "Several of our club owners flew to England last week for a personal meeting with Sir Stanley Rous of Federation International de Football Assn. FIFA and we have his blessing."

Cox also made clear that the new league would make use of about 200 imported players for the first few years. Many would be younger European and Latin American players until a college draft procedure and system for developing young American players was established.

More Trout Stocked In Marin Waters

Champagne Flows For Maple Leafs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) —The Victoria Maple Leafs took the Lester Patrick Cup home today, after winning it Tuesday night with a decisive 5-1 hockey victory over the Portland Buckaroos.

Goal tender John Henderson blunted the Portland attack with 40 saves while a Victoria line of Larry Keenan, Mike Labadie and Dick Lamoureux accounted for four goals and seven assists.

Portland was denied in its attempt to become the first Western Hockey League team to win both the regular season title and the cup in successive years.

Champagne flowed in the Victoria dressing room after the victory, and coach Frank Mario would up in the showers.

Aussie Giant-Killer Wins Italian Tennis

ROME (AP)—Australia's Tony Roche, the upset sensation of the tournament, defeated a discouraged Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy 11-9, 6-1, 6-2 today to win the men's singles of the Italian International Tennis Tournament.

PREP BASEBALL

Novatan Pitches 2-0 Masterpiece

Novato righthander Wayne Jones pitched a one-hitter to pace the Novato High School baseballers to a 2-0 victory over Drake High School yesterday on the winners' field.

The game was originally scheduled for Drake, but a swampy diamond caused the game to be switched to Novato.

Jones, a senior, had pin-point control and didn't walk a batter. And since his teammates played air-tight defense without an error, just one man reached the basepaths for Drake. It was catcher Don Alvarado who slammed a line drive to left field in the third inning. He stole second base and died there, making the third base coach for San Rafael a very lonely boy.

PREP ROUNDUP

Novato scored its two runs in the top of the third. Ev Fritz and Frank Perachiotti had back-to-back singles and then shortstop Tom Corder struck out. John Dolinsek, Novato first baseman-pitcher who has tossed a no-hitter this year, slammed a single to score Fritz, and then Perachiotti scored on Tom Owens' grounder that went through the shortstop for an error. Dolinsek had a perfect 3-for-3 day.

Jones, now 2-0 in league play, struck out nine. Roy Bunt, losing hurler for Drake, fanned eight and walked one, and allowed five hits.

The triumph kept the Hornets in first place in Marin Athletic League standings. one-half game in front of Marin Catholic. On the other end of the scale, Drake iststill looking for its first win after nine league losses.

'Keane A Man Of Principles And He Must Live With Himself . . .'

HANLEY

PITTSBURGH—"Johnny Keane is a man of principles and must live with himself," said Bing Devine when Keane resigned as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals less than 24 hours after they won the 1964 World Series from the Yankees.

Had Keane been a man of flexible principles or pride he still would be managing the Cardinals with a long term contract at $60,000 a year instead of being a jobless ex-Yankee manager who just got the sack.

THE STORY behind Keane's present disappointments goes back to August of 1964 when the Cardinals seemed hopelessly out of the National League race that year, 11 games off the pace. Gussie Busch fired Devine, St. Louis general manager, and there were strong reports that he intended to fire Keane as soon as the season ended.

THEN, THE Cardinals won the pennant on the last day as the Phillies faded and the Reds failed in the final week on their home lot in Crosley Field. Busch, a very happy club owner whose joy was unrestrained when the Cardinals won the World Series, went to the St. Louis dressing room and tried to force a handsome contract on Keane. But Keane declined to talk contract.

It was a most embarrassing moment for the disillusioned millionaire owner of the team. However, it was nothing compared with the embarrassment to which he was subjected the next morning when Keane not only announced his resignation but disclosed he had been carrying the letter of resignation in his pocket for a month.

BUSCH MUST have felt like an old-time slapstick comedy stooge who had a pie pushed in his face. The warm afterglow every club owner enjoys following a World Series victory was short-lived for Busch. Keane saw to that in his retributive humiliation of Busch while keeping faith with his own fierce pride and inflexible principles.

KEANE, HIRED immediately by the Yankees, acted the way he did in leaving an organization with which he spent all 35 years of his baseball career out of loyalty to his good friend Devine. He didn't forgive Busch for firing Devine. But there was another reason, too, for the way he acted and once again it involved his pride and principles.

"I wasn't disparaging Keane," Groat said later in an apology he made to Keane in front of the Cardinal team, an apology that Keane and Devine insisted he make.

BUSCH HEARD about the incident that occurred early in August. Shortly thereafter Devine was fired. And the word was that Keane was next on Busch's dismissal list. But Keane subsequently beat his boss to the punch in preserving his pride and principles, a very costly punch in view of what ultimately happened.

Marin 'Cats Nip Troy 3-2

Staying on the heels of front-running Novato, Marin Catholic nipped Terra Linda High School 3-2 yesterday in Marin Athletic League baseball action on the Wildcats' diamond.

A bases loaded single by Dave Edson accounted for Terra Linda's two runs in the top of the third inning, but Marin Catholic came back with three of its own in the bottom of the sixth.

Joe Adams singled and then went to second on a passed ball and scored on shortstop Bob Lombardi's single. Lombardi got all the way around to third on an outfield error and then scored on an infield error. Catcher John Komo, who had got on base as a result of that infield error, eventually was squeezed home on a bunt from rightfielder Rick Denning, good for the winning run.

Ben Burch got the win for Marin Catholic, although needing relief help from Brian King in the seventh. Burch fanned four and walked three. In addition he got two singles in two at bats. Ed Beckley was Terra Linda's losing pitcher.

Buldogs Bop Redwood 5-2

A three-run rally in the top of the eighth inning pushed the San Rafael High School baseballers past Redwood 5-2 yesterday on the Redwood field in Larkspur.

The triumph kept the Bulldogs in the thick of the hectic Marin Athletic League scramble. San Rafael is now 5-3 and Redwood 4-5.

Redwood scored two runs in the bottom of the second, but San Rafael came back with one in the third and another in the fourth. After going through the regulation seven innings tied 2-2, the Bulldogs got to reliever Bill Poole for a walk and four straight singles—in the eighth.

Joe Cunningham, Sam Crowell, Jay Widmer and Rocky Shone all rapped hits, Crowell, Widmer and Shone driving in runs with theirs. Barry Stockwell came in to put out the fire, getting his man to fly out.

Mike Donahoo rapped two doubles for San Rafael, and Crowell had three singles in four trips. Joe Cunningham went the distance on the mound for the Bulldogs, striking out four and walking two-while limiting the Giants to just two hits.

Tam 'B' Swim Team Wins Championship

Malcolm Foster notched a pair of first place victories as Tamalpais High School's swimming team dumped the visiting Redwood Giants, 60-34, culminating the dual meet Marin Athletic League season for both teams, yesterday.

The Tam Class B mermen climaxed their campaign as victors of the MCAL championship with an unblemished 10-0 mark, and they won every practice meet, too.

Foster won the 100 fly in 1:02.5, and copped the 400 free, 4:41.3. And for the freshly crowned "Bees", Eric Young and John McClellan were both double winners.

The Tam varsity finished fourth in the final team standings with a 5-5 won-lost record, while the Giants were sentenced to help Novato's Hornets support the ladder until next year's campaign, both teams winding up with a lack-luster 1-9 mark.

Redwood Hands Tam 1st Loss; Drake, Novato Win

Redwood High School's tennis team handed Tamalpais High its first Marin Athletic League net loss yesterday, the Giants winning 3-2 on the Tam courts.

It was a hotly contested meeting, with two of the five matches going three sets and another taking more than an hour to complete. That marathon match was in singles action, Redwood's Ward Johnson defeating Tam's Ray Harper, 8-6, 9-7.

Mitch Fink and Jim Bedilion of Redwood earned the right to compete in the North Coast Section tournament next Saturday when the doubles team bested Tam's Dave Griffeath-Bill Clark duo, 6-3, 3-6, 10-8.

In other league matches yesterday, Drake whipped Marin Catholic 4-1 and Novato beat Terra Linda by the same score. Drake's Mark Vance, a junior, won his 14th match without a loss, and will be representing the Marin Athletic League in the singles portion of the North Coast Section tournament Saturday at Cal State, Hayward, beginning at 9 a.m.

SWIMMING CHAMPS

San Rafael Wins 44th Straight

San Rafael High School's mermen yesterday wound up their 1966 dual meet season by winning their 10th straight Marin Athletic League meet of the year, crushing Terra Linda's visiting Trojans, 63-32.

It was San Rafael's 44th consecutive league victory without defeat in four-plus campaigns, and adding luster to the MCAL crown which they clinched last Friday.

The Bulldogs have won the crown four years in a row, and won their last six league meets of 1962 before embarking on that incredible championship record.

That's a helluva indication the San Rafael splashers will more than make their presence felt in the MCAL trials, slated for 4 p.m. Friday. The finals, which are expected to get underway at 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon, will follow Saturday morning's eliminations, scheduled for 9 a.m. at Novato High School.

With the 200 medley relay team starting it off, San Rafael grabbed the lead after the first event, and limited the Terra Lindans to just two firsts the rest of the way. Bulldogs Bill Cannedy and Dave Strauss both breezed to two first place finishes, Cannedy taking the 200 and 400-yard freestylye events, and Strauss capturing the 50 and 100 free. Both have turned in better times than they did yesterday.

In a surprise triumph for San Rafael and a stunning defeat for Terra Linda, Scott Hewett racked up 201 points in diving competition, his best ever, out-doing Trojan ace Bob Keller, who has registered 224.6 points this season, tops in the county.

In Class B competition, Bullpups Randy Kline and Steve Strange each won two events to lead San Rafael to victory over Terra Linda's lightweight aquamen. Frank Seewester was a double winner of the Trojans "Bees."

Drake Whips Novato High In Swim Meet

Drake High's 200-yard medley relay team raced to a record-breaking clocking of 1:46.9 as the Drake aquamen thrashed Novato, 58-37; and the Pirates' Class B swimmers made it a clean sweep for the visiting San Anselmo preps, winning their first league meet of the season, 45-41, in Marin Athletic League competition, yesterday.

Drake's old school standard of 1:47.3 rated as the best time churned in that even in the county this season. It's still better than any other MCAL squad has done. Tamalpais High, with a 1:48.1, is the closest competitor for the top spot.

Novato got some satisfaction out of the final dual meet of the season for both teams when, in the last event on the menu, its 400 free relay team established a new school standard, 3:54.0.

They made precious little of their Bourbon, but what they made came up precious good. Rich and full. And so incredibly smooth that the Hill cousins were able to sell their whiskey for three times the going price.

Today, Hill & Hill is still made the same old way. As patiently as the Hill cousins meant it to be.

Happy Valentine Clobbers Angels

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Valentines everywhere have their day in February, but Washington's Valentine has had two in May.

He certainly didn't have any in March.

This Valentine, named Fred, lashed four hits for the second straight game last night, sparking the Senators to a 4-1 victory over California.

Rapping eight hits in his last 10 times at bat, Valentine has raised his average 71 points, from .229 to .300. He battered Angel pitching for three singles and a homer Monday night, then came back last night with a single, two doubles and a triple.

Life wasn't so romantic for Valentine during spring training. In the last three weeks of March, he was hit by baseballs five times, and he hit a catcher once and a wall once.

In fact, it seemed as if he were a better target than milk bottles at an amusement park booth.

On March 12 he was hit by a Frank Howard grounder and suffered with a sore ankle for a week. On March 15 he chased Curt Blefary's fly ball into a fence and was dizzy for the rest of the game.

If the 31-year-old outfielder's love affair with baseball had diminished any by this time, it could have been extinguished altogether in the last few days of the month.

On March 28 Jim Grant tried to pick Valentine off first but hit him on the shoulder. Two days later Valentine was hit on the head by Jack Fisher's pickoff throw, then was hit in the head by a pitch from Jack Hamilton.

The end of the month finally came but not before the valient Senator, running from first to second, was hit in the back by Gony Horton's throw for an attempted force play.

"It's better these things have happened now than in the season," Valentine philosophized.

It's better, too, that the hits happened now than in the spring.

The other three American League games ended 3-2, Baltimore edging Chicago in 12 innings, Kansas City trimming Boston in 10 and Detroit nipping Cleveland in nine. Rain washed out New York at Minnesota.

Valentine's lusty performance provided more than enough support for Pete Richert, who stopped the Angels on three hits. Valentine tripled and scored in the first inning and triggered a two-run eighth with a double.

Brooks Robinson singled in the 12th inning and scored Baltimore's winning run as Russ Snyder grounded into a force out. J. C. Martin's passed ball put Robinson at third. Another Robinson, Chicago's Floyd, ignited a two-run rally in the seventh that tied the game 2-2.

Bill Freehan singled in the Detroit ninth and raced home on Willie Horton's pinch-hit double. Mickey Lolich limited Cleveland to three hits before departing for Horton.

Kansas City won in the 10th inning when Ozzie Chavarria reached first on Mike Ryan's passed ball on the third strike, stole second and scampered all the way home as Bert Campaneris beat out a hit to third.

CHAMPION MARIN TENNIS TEAM

Indy 500 Record By Andretti

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Mario Andretti became the man to beat for the pole in the Indianapolis 500 yesterday, whisking around the speedway at unofficial record speed of nearly 165 miles per hour.

The dazzling performance by the national driving champion highlighted the busiest practice day yet and overshadowed the first two accidents, both minor, since the 2½-mile oval opened April 30.

Andretti was piloting the same rear-engine Ford in which he finished third last year, winning "Rookie of the Year" honors. The record will not be official because all records must be established during qualification, not practice, runs. They begin Saturday.

The unofficial mark came in mid-afternoon on a chilly but sunny day, certainly not ideal for racing. Andretti, a 26-year-old native Italian, clipped off four laps in about 164 m.p.h. then hit 164.5.

Five other drivers, including two-time winner A.J. Foyt, also surpassed the 160-mph mark. Foyt and George Snyder were clocked at 162.1 mph, Dan Gurney at 161.6, Carl Williams at 161.2 and Gordon Johncock at 160.1.

Britain's Graham Hill, former world grand prix champion, made his first practice Hill made his debut here three years ago but did not try to qualify because of no time to prepare.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

Extra Goodies For New Orleans Event

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In addition to the $100,000 purse in the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tourney, eight pros have a good crack at some Lagniappe —which is Louisiana French for an added extra special tidbit.

The Lagniappe for the tournament which gets under way tomorrow over the demanding Lakewood Country Club course, is the Seymour Weiss All-America Gold Cup, plus $5,000 cash.

Weiss, a retired hotel man and onetime associate of the late Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, annually puts up the cup—valued at $1,500—and $8,500 in cash for the pro having the lowest aggregate score for the U.S. Open, PGA, Masters and Greater New Orleans Open tournaments.

The other seven within striking distance are slimmed down Billy Casper at 870, young Raymond Floyd at 871, Doug Sanders at 872, Gay Brewer Jr., 874, Julius Boros 876, Gardiner Dickinson Jr., 878 and Frank Beard 879.

Nicklaus, who tied for fourth in last year's Greater New Orleans, won the gold cup and the $5,000 in cash that goes with it a year ago.

Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Sanders and other top stars of the play-for-pay ranks got their first look of the year at Lakewood today in the $5,000 pro-am preliminary.

The nonexempt pros qualified for 40 spots yesterday with Wayne Yates, a youngster from Atlanta, showing the way with a five-under par 67. Yates will be making his fourth start on the PGA circuit.

Ken Lawrence, the Lakewood club pro, predicted Tuesday a 276 for 72 holes would win this year's first prize money of $20,000, provided the weather holds. There were heavy rains throughout the week, but three days of sunshine has dried out the course.

'Li'l League For Kids, NOT Adults'

"Little League baseball is great, but sometimes adults take it much too seriously, instead of letting the kids have fun while they are learning fundamentals of the game.

"There is too much overemphasis of winning or losing for an 8 or 9-year-old, who should be having fun and finding out about team-work on his own."

Musial, a vice president of the Cardinals, and here for a series with the Chicago Cubs, said the National Physical Fitness program was progressing well.

"Trained staffs are demonstrating techniques of fitness training for teachers throughout 50 states," he said. "Many states have strengthened fitness programs for youth at neighborhood levels and in industrial plants."

Clay's Witless Fight With 'Ammering 'Ennery

Cassius Marcellus Clay, the 6-foot 3-inch theologian, the only major power who has not yet taken a stand on Viet Nam, is still busy running a million-dollar business into a nickel, I see. The world heavyweight championship, which was once at least as good as a seat on the Stock Exchange or a marked deck in a riverboat game, is headed for receivership.

IT WAS Jack Hurley, quondam fight manager, promoter and advance man for any kind of a clip game, who once said, "God deliver me from amateurs!" Cassius Clay's entourage has more bonafide amateurs than the Davis Cup squad.

THEY HAVE already dynamited two heavyweight "naturals" in the same night. By the time they got through with the Clay-Ernest Terrell match—which would only have determined which was the REAL heavyweight champion of the world—not even Terrell showed up. The fight had started out in New York, but the Board of Health or somebody ran it out of town. When last seen, it was heading through more tank towns than a goldbrick salesman.

WHEN A BIG fight like that blows up on you, the card to play is the joker. You hustle your chauffeur or your best friend in the ring, or you round up some neurasthenic challenger from the Medicare wait-list and promise to coast with him for seven or eight rounds and not kill him.

Clay's corporation, which ironically, calls itself "Main Bout Inc." and is run by a football player and a couple of guys whose sole qualification is they once subscribed to the Police Gazette, quickly substituted George Chuvalo, a guy whose grasp exceeds his reach, but who was the only really legitimate challenger to the title on the horizon.

CHUVALO SHOULD have been saved for a big outdoor shot in some major league city with a two-month buildup. Here he was pushed into the ring in a quasi-barge fight in a stopover town with a buildup so short the promoters had to phone a few close friends the afternoon of the fight, otherwise the audience would have consisted of the referee and a timekeeper. As a theater attraction, it was a bigger bust than Anna Sten.

LIKE JOE LOUIS, Cassius feels the necessity for fighting often to keep his competitive edge. But Louis was always careful not to use anybody who could be publicized up to major challenger status—any guy who had a "cosmic" punch, a beer belly silhouette or a light-heavyweight championship was saved for the carriage trade. Louis let the pros run his career. Cassius settles for 10 cents on the dollar.

CASSIUS IS taking the act to Blighty next. He's going to fight 'Ammering 'Ennery Cooper, the guy who has so many stitches in his face that if you look close, you can see Warren Giles' signature on it. 'Ammering 'Ennery owes his success to the fact his blood clots. Ringsiders bring their umbrellas when he fights.

HE'S WORKING on a winning streak of 11 straight sparring partners. He put Cassius on the deck the last time they fought but Cassius was arguing with a ringsider at the time. 'Ennery normally sees so little of his opponent in the ring that he not only can't hit him, he can't even identify a picture of him the next day.

IT'S A WITLESS fight for Cassius anyway. It will be somebody like Cooper who does him in one of these days—turns him from the Sahib Swat to the So What of Swat. Cassius fights best from hysterical fear—like the lion—or the mouse. With 'Ennery, all he can muster is hysterical laughter. His reputation was tarnished because he couldn't put Chuvalo on the canvas, or keep Floyd Patterson there, maybe 'Ennery will pull the switch on him and put him in real stitches for a change.

Today is Wednesday, May 11, the 131st day of 1966 with 234 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

Irving Berlin was born on this day in 1888.

On this day in history:

In 1832, the first political platform was drawn up for the campaign to elect Henry Clay President.

In 1846, President Polk sent a war message to Congress concerning what he called an invasion of American territory by Mexico.

A thought for the day—Roman philosopher Epictetus: "Whatever you would make habitual, practice it; and if you would not make a thing habitual, do not practice it, but habituate yourself to something else."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Find Most Harmful Opponent, So He Can Be Shut Out Of Your Game

In some hands only one of the opponents is able to hurt you, and you must play in such a way as to keep that opponent out of the lead.

Opening lead — ◇ K

West opens the king of diamonds, and South must refuse the first trick. Otherwise, East would win a later trick with the jack of diamonds.

He would return a club, and the defenders would get a diamond, two clubs, and a heart.

ANOTHER DIAMOND

West leads another diamond when allowed to hold the first trick. South takes the ace, and leads a heart.

If West puts up the king of hearts, South lets him hold the trick. The "normal" heart play would allow East to take the third heart trick.

He would then lead a club to defeat the contract. If South gives West a heart trick, he can later run the rest of the hearts, and West can take only one club trick.

TAKE ACE

It West plays a low heart when South first leads the suit, declarer should win in dummy with the ace and get back to his hand with a trump to lead another heart.

West gets the king of hearts and can only take the ace of clubs; he cannot defeat the contract.

West may try to get out of the trap by discarding the king of hearts when South leads the third trump to his hand.

If so, South leads a heart to dummy's queen and returns a club.

TWO CLUB TRICKS

West gets his two club tricks but must then lead a diamond or a club. In either case dummy ruffs while South discards his losing heart.

South makes the contract by keeping East out of the lead for the entire hand.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ K J 8 7
♥ A Q 5 3 2
♦ 10 4
♣ 9 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid despite the length in both major suits.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Groundbreaking Rites Prepared For Pacheco Plaza Shop Center

Groundbreaking ceremonies are scheduled to be held tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. for the Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center, Ignacio, on the site of the home of pioneer Ygnacio Pacheco, who a century ago owned about one-third of Marin County.

The development, a project of Walter Kleckhefer Co., of San Rafael, will comprise 70,000 square feet of retail area, including a 20,000-square-foot Safeway store, Taylor Variety, Russell Ziebell's drug store, Donald Sparrow's third Royal Beauty Salon, U-Save Liquors—plus a cleaner and laundry and several other potential tenants. A bank location is also available but has not been leased.

Architects Apaydin, Angell and Lockwood designed the layout — now Crown Development Co. of San Rafael has been awarded the contract to build it at approximately $800,000.

The company has its main office and manufacturing plant in Redwood City, where it got into production about eight years ago. Local office, which covers all of the North Bay as far north as Ukiah, is managed by William Geery, now a resident of East San Rafael and brother of the firm's owner.

Products are tub enclosures and shower doors supplied to plumbers, contractors and builders, and there is some retail trade. No manufacturing is done in San Rafael, but Geery said eventually this branch may duplicate the Redwood City facilities. The company also acts as a distributor for some other bath and shower products.

BELVEDERE ASSOCIATES has opened its new real estate offices at 1647 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon. This is in a new building next to the entrance of Tiburon Lodge. Principals are William A. Slater, Laura Dornbach, Jack McCormick, Brooke P. Halsey and Loretta Baker. All are residents of the Tiburon-Belvedere area except Slater, who still maintains his home in San Francisco. Bottle Shop of Tiburon, Inc., has also moved here from across the street.

REDWOOD TRAVEL ADVISORS, San Rafael, will open another branch office soon — this one in the lobby of Tiburon Lodge when the latter gets under way.

ZUT ALORS, new shop in Tiburon handling fresh flowers, soaps, candies, jewelry and gifts, has chosen an upstairs site at 14 Main Street for its location and should be open a week from today.

The owner, previously designated as "Corinne L-N," is now identified as singer Corinne La Comble Navarro of Tiburon no matter how she signs her checks. She has with her as a partner in the business Fatima Du Shey, a Turkish dancer, who will also be holding private classes in her art. Turkish or Egyptian dancing, she says, is usually handed down from mother to daughter through succeeding generations — and that's the way she acquired her training.

RICHARD HEXTER of Terra Linda has taken over the entire ownership of the San Francisco wholesale men's apparel firm Harry D. Grant Co., after a four-year partnership with Karl E. Graupner of San Anselmo. The latter's future business plans are still undetermined.

CONVENTIONS. Clifford O. Le Rud, San Rafael general agent for New York Life Insurance Co., reported from last week's meeting of leaders in Colorado Springs that the company passed the two-billion dollar mark in life insurance in force while he was there . . . Rudolph E. Lindquist of San Rafael, president of Bearing Specialty Co., and his wife attended last week's gathering of the Anti-Friction Bearing Assn. in Scottsdale, Ariz.

NEW HOME FOR FOOD PRODUCTS MANUFACTURER

La Ville Food Products owned by Maurice Bertauche has moved to this 8,000-square-foot building on Carlos Drive, Northgate Industrial Park after 20 years at 120 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo. The firm markets gourmet food items throughout the world. The building was designed by John Marshall and David Gibbs and constructed by Ronald Antonioli.

Eichler Homes Sells Holdings To Charles Paar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Charles H. Parr Sr. and a group of Southern California associates bought control yesterday of Eichler Homes Inc., San Francisco development and construction firm.

Joseph L. Eichler and two sons owned about 65 per cent of the 499,542 Eichler shares, and those holdings were valued at about $1.5 million.

No purchase price was made public, however.

In its 18 years, the firm has built and sold more than $100 million worth of homes and apartments in this area.

Investors Want New Stock Market Index

By ANDREW BALDWIN

The Dow Jones Industrial Averages have been part of investors' language for some 70 years as the barometer of stock market trends. A growing number of market experts, however, have wanted to install other indicators of market trends.

The Dow Jones averages, a list of 30 leading blue chips, offer a composite reading which last June represented a total value of about 35 per cent of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The major criticism of this index is that it is misleading because it is limited to only 30 select stocks and can result in exaggerated price swings. For instance, a short time ago the averages rose 3.45 points in one day in a change almost entirely due to two of the 30 stocks, General Electric and Eastman Kodak.

The 30 issues had 1964 sales of almost $95 billion, equal to about 15 per cent of the U.S. Gross National Product for that year. Indeed, only two countries in the world had a 1964 GNP greater than the 1964 sales of the 30 issues, the United States and West Germany.

Now after months of study the New York and American stock exchanges have decided to come up with a better median. With prodding from the White House, the two exchanges will start compiling computer prepared market averages of their own this summer. The Pacific Coast Stock Exchange, where most of the issues are also traded on the New York exchanges, informed this column that it is studying the New York move.

The New York Stock Exchange (the "Big Board") will have two indexes; the first is a composite average which will come out every half hour of all the listed common stocks (1,268) that appear on the ticker tape. The second is a separate index for four industry groups—industrials, transportation, utilities and finance.

The American Stock Exchange will publish three averages: a price level index for its 1,040 common stocks that will be issued every hour, a daily tabulation of the point spread by which all stocks rose or fell, and the first price earnings index ever to be issued by any exchange, on a monthly basis.

Both exchanges will list their composite average in dollars and cents instead of points as is now the case. The new averages will provide the most comprehensive reading we have had to date. As for the Dow Jones averages, few think that the new indexes will push the Dow Jones list into oblivion, but it will, at the very least, have to share the spotlight.

Recovery Attempt Runs Out Of Steam

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today after a recovery ran out of steam.

Trading was only moderate in early trading as stocks resumed their comeback from a severe battering. The list reached its peak around the middle of the session, then began to back away as traders took profits.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.2 million shares compared with 9.03 million yesterday.

Blue chips held gains ranging to 1 or 2 points while the glamor issues were several points ahead in some instances. A number of early gainers backed away from their peaks. Some showed small losses.

IBM was up 10, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer 4, Motorola 5, Zenith 3 and Douglas Aircraft 2.

Aerospace-airline-color television-electronics issues — the same big winners in the early 1966 advance — emerged as the best gainers in the recovery. Plus signs were shown also by drugs, tobaccos, chemicals, oils, electrical equipments and farm implements.

Studebaker, halted temporarily in trading, spurted more than 4.

Hess Oil looked like a repeater as most active stock but backed away from an early rise and showed a fractional net loss.

Teledyne, Cyprus Mines, KLM Airlines, Anaconda, Eastern Air Lines and United Air Lines (new) were up around 2 or better.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher in heavy trading.

Stocks React In Confusion To Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI) —To car-conscious Detroit, the Wall Street reaction to disclosure of a slight spring cutback in auto production made little sense.

Yesterday's stock rally thickened the fog.

The market bounded up on an announcement from Chrysler Corp., that was cutting 4,700 cars from June production schedules but would still set a company record for June output.

Chrysler's June cutback will involve closing assembly plants at Newark, Del., and Los Angeles for four days starting May 31, laying off about 6,000 workers.

From here the news from Chrysler was about the same as that from General Motors Corp., late last week and Ford Motor Co., Monday. But the GM and Ford cutback disclosures were blamed for sharp declines in stock prices.

Their total effect will be to cut about 160,000 cars from earlier May through July production schedules which were pegged during the rosy glow of January, February and March when car sales were booming at a fantastic annual rate of 10 million a year.

All indications now point to total 1966 moel year sales of a little more than 9 million cars, down only slightly from the record 9.3 million o the 1965 model year.

April sales were down a little, prodding the car makers back to earth and forcing the schedule cutbacks. But car sales during the last 10 days of April set an all-time record, dampening speculation that the car safety controversy was starting a downward trend in auto sales.

Assets Increase At Tiburon Bank

Tiburon National Bank has reported total assets in excess of $8.5 million at the end of the first quarter of 1966.

Deposits were 73 per cent higher than a year ago; outstanding loans increased 125 per cent.

Charles Tijerina, president and chairman of the board, said a branch office is expected to be opened in Sausalito this fall. Headquartered in Tiburon, the bank also maintains offices in Alto, Kentfield and Corte Madera.

Chemical Sales Aid Earnings For Grace

NEW YORK—W. R. Grace and Co. stockholders have been told that "we are confident that the balance of this year will continue to show good improvement in earnings."

President J. Peter Grace said, "Chemical sales were $662 million last year amounting to 66 per cent of the company total. In the past five years chemicals have become a much more important part of the company with sales increasing at an average annual rate of 23 per cent. In 1961 they amounted to only 48 per cent of total sales versus the 1965 figure of 66 per cent."

FREE DISCUSSION URGED IN CLASSES

Faculty, Citizens Committee Back Talks Without Bias On Controversial Subjects

A policy of free discussion of controversial issues in schools, without bias or prejudice, was recommended last night to the San Rafael Board of Education.

Committees of citizens and of faculty jointly recommended the policy, stating that free discussion of controversial issued is essential to the learning process.

The proposed policy states that "teachers shall strive to maintain an instructional atmosphere free of bias and prejudice in which controversial issues can be discussed in a fair and responsible manner."

It also states that "teachers shall strive to teach students to weigh issues, to think critically, to respect the value of differing viewpoints, to arrive at their own conclusions and to appreciate the role of controversy in the democratic decision making process."

The teacher has the responsibility to determine that the issues are germane to the course and that the students are ready for the topics and materials involved.

H. David Sokoloff, chairman of the citizen committee, said the committees worked independently at drafting a proposed policy. "The drafts of the two committees proved to be in essential agreement," he said. During a joint session, the two committees arrived at the recommended policy, Sokoloff reported.

In the proposed policy a controversial issue is defined "as one on which there is no unanimity within the community."

If adopted the proposed policy would replace the present policy on teaching controversial subjects which reads, in full:

"Teachers of the district shall feel free to teach controversial topics related to their subjects of instruction. They shall establish a classroom atmosphere whereby students may search for ideas and judge their implications."

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer moved for adoption of the policy. But Supt. Bert C. Corona reminded the board that it is its custom not to adopt a policy matter the first time it is before the board. Action was then postponed until the May 24 meeting.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

1. Directed Corona to prepare and distribute a fact sheet on the proposed unification of San Rafael City Schools and the Dixie School District, which will be on the ballot in the June 7 primary election.

2. Postponed until budget discussions a proposed contract with the Louise Boyd Natural Science Museum to provide museum services at a cost estimated at $450.

3. Appointed William Burns, San Jose State College senior, as physical education teacher, elementary district, at $5,600 a year; Robert Gornett of Kings County, phychologist, elementary district, $12,443; Lee Crews, graduate student at Sacramento State College, speech therapist, elementary and high school districts, $8,332; Napoleon Curtis, substitute custodian, $2.22 an hour; Mrs. Dorothy Edwards, nurse, elementary district, $6,005; Jerald Gill, coordinator of the work experience program, high school district, $12,684; Mrs. Marie Goff, graduate student at Dominican College, French teacher, $6,410; Harry Holland, graduate student at San Francisco State College, assistant principal and teacher, elementary district, $7,625; Robert Laurin, substitute bus driver, $2.22 an hour; Thomas Truchan, research assistant, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., social studies, high school district, $6,815; Delmer Waggoner, custodian, San Rafael High School, $4,620; Edward Walsh, bus driver, $2.22 an hour, and Mrs. Gerry Ziegler, summer school clerk, Santa Venetia.

4. Accepted resignations of Don Boucher, health education teacher at Terra Linda High School; E. B. Gearhart, business education teacher, San Rafael High School; Mrs. Gladys Gearhart, librarian, San Rafael High School; Mrs. Patricia Oertle, second grade at Laurel Dell School, and Mrs. Valerie Silvestri, sixth grade at Coleman School.

5. Granted leaves of absence for the 1966-67 school year to Margaret Freedman, English teacher at Terra Linda High School, to live in England, and Margaret Tierney, social science teacher at San Rafael High School, to teach in Bolivia.

6. Extended leaves through the 1966-67 school year for Phyllis Hancock, second grade teacher now teaching in Germany, and Mrs. Anne Sorelle, English teacher at San Rafael High School, now on maternity leave; and extended a leave of absence for Irene Szol, German teacher at Terra Linda High School, through the remainder of the 1965-66 school year, due to illness.

7. Approved a contract with KQED for educational television service for the 1966-67 school year at $2,094.

8. Postponed until budget discussions entering into a National Defense Education Act project to establish an art-crafts center for elementary school at a cost of $2,597, with the district to pay half.

9. Accepted as gifts $1,200 from Glenwood School Parent-Teacher Assn. for instructional materials, $475 for library and classroom books and $85 for drinking fountains from the Coleman School Parent-Teacher Assn., and a copy of "John Steinbeck," a biography, from Joseph Fontenrose, for the Terra Linda High School library.

10. Cancelled both of its regularly scheduled meetings in July, subject to call for any emergency session.

Bagley Requests Strike Inquiry

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced a resolution in the State Assembly asking for study to see whether stronger law is needed to prevent strikes in public transportation and other public services.

The resolution was referred to the rules committee.

Bagley said he researched California law in this field and found it "very uncertain and inadequate." He says rights of the public versus those of public employees are "very ill-defined." He made the study as an aftermath of the New York transit tieup.

Support Mental Health Center Drive For Funds

Marin County does not merely talk about its concern for the mental care of its citizens. It acts.

The County of Marin and the Marin Hospital District have joined to sponsor a Community Mental Health Center for the care of both public and private psychiatric patients.

The center will be located northeast of and adjacent to Marin General Hospital.

The Community Mental Health Center will be jointly financed. The County of Marin has set aside $150,000 for construction, and another $150,000 will come from the Marin Hospital District. A third $150,000 is being raised via a public fund-raising campaign.

With this local contribution of $450,000, matching funds on a two-for-one basis will come from federal and state agencies in the amount of $900,000.

We urge full public support in this worthwhile fund raising campaign. Money raised locally will go a long way because for each dollar contributed here, two additional dollars will be received from federal and state governments.

The goal is to bring to Marin County a $1,350,000 center with the finest and most modern mental health care facilities possible.

The new center will expand and extend the services now offered at the Community Mental Health facility at 610 D Street in San Rafael, and at Ross general and San Rafael general hospitals.

Existing agencies in Marin have already adopted the modern concept of giving patients care and treatment in the home community with the least disruption in the patients' lives.

The proposed new Community Health Center will further this modern trend toward home treatment, among familiar surroundings and familiar faces. This also increases the opportunity for friends and neighbors and other volunteers to lend a helping hand to those who are temporarily distressed.

The proposed Community Mental Health Center has the enthusiastic support of various mental health agencies and professional workers, both public and private.

We trust that the public and private organizations and individuals will also support the project and contribute their share ($150,000) to the $1,350,000 structure.

A Potential Pandora's Box

Now that man seemingly has it almost within his grasp to divert storms, precipitate rain, reduce fog, and otherwise modify the weather, some people are taking a thoughtful second look at the situation. Such tampering with the weather could produce a Pandora's box of litigation, according to legal experts.

People will accept floods, hurricane force winds, or sun-blistered artichokes as long as they are created as "acts of God." But, suppose for example, that the government tried to divert a crushing winter storm from the Eureka region and succeeded only in funnelling it down to Marin County. We would be angry about the broken trees, the crushed buildings and the flooding. Predictably, many Marinites would sue.

It would be very nice to be able to control the weather. But will it be possible to please everyone? Making the desert into a lush garden sounds great, but what about the poor guys with sinus or asthma conditions who like dry air?

Propaganda Gives Wrong View Of California Farmer, Labor

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — So much propaganda has been circulated during the past few years to the effect that the California farmer is a rich and voracious despoiler of domestic farm labor that many people, without investigation of facts, have come to believe the malignment.

The propaganda has been aided and abetted both by the administrations in Washington, D.C., and by the state Capitol in Sacramento.

THE FACTS are that the farmer is no different than any other citizen who is trying to run a business, pay the wages the product will warrant, and at the same time pay the excessive taxes assessed both by the federal, state and local governments.

The government effort to downgrade the farmer now has reached the point where it is hitting the consumer with higher prices and decreased food supplies.

The Council of California Growers has surveyed the situation in the production of asparagus and come up with the announcement that failure of the U.S. Department of Labor to recognize the justice of the request for supplemental workers from foreign countries has doomed some 15,000 acres of asparagus, worth $6 million.

THIS IS the amount of asparagus for canning that will not be harvested this year, unless at least 2,500 additional workers are found almost immediately, officials of the council state.

The U.S. Department of Labor has refused to consider a grower request for workers, stating asparagus farmers have refused to undertake an effective recruitment program for domestic workers.

A. R. Duarte, manager of the San Joaquin Farm Production Assn., said the department ignores the intensive recruitment program the association has had under way. He said growers have through their own efforts, recruited more than 500 out-of-state workers and hundreds more within the state. Wages have been increased and are averaging more than $2 an hour. Housing conditions and menus have been improved materially, he said.

The department of labor, Duarte pointed out, allowed Florida importation of foreign workers when efforts to recruit in that state bogged down.

"WHEN OUR OWN effort to recruit began to lag," Duarte declared, "we asked the California Department of Employment for help. This was given us, but now it also is falling far behind our needs. In the past two days, only seven men have been recruited from Oakland and 16 from Los Angeles, to fill a need for 2,500.

"We will continue our efforts in every way possible, but failure to find 2,500 workers spells financial disaster for growers. It means a loss of 30 million pounds of asparagus this year following a 50 per cent reduction last year, because of the secretary's domestic recruitment program failure."

Asparagus is not the only crop needing labor. In Salinas, reports from Assemblyman Alan Pattee, S-Salinas, are to the effect that fields of strawberries are being plowed under for lack of harvest help. Pattee says growers purchased a trailer park for better housing and so far have been unable to keep it half full.

Gulf Gas Stations For Marincello?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In the current issue (May 1, 1966) of the financial magazine, Forbes, appears an article dealing with the increasing entry of large corporations into the real estate field. The article contains the following two paragraphs of local interest:

"Real estate operations in the oil industry are no less varied than in the aluminum and railroad industries. Perhaps the most varied is Gulf Oil's. Gulf is a backer of the satellite city that Robert E. Simon Jr. is building in Reston, Va., 18 miles from Washington. The payoff for Gulf includes first choice of gas station sites in Reston.

"In Marin County, Calif., Gulf has bought a huge tract that it is gradually selling off to a developer. Gulf expects to make a profit on the land but, once again, a condition of sale is first choice of station sites."

Mammals Menace Habitat

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Richard Lyttle's article on those pesky, messy starlings was of particular interest to me inasmuch as I had just been reading reports on another European immigrant which has "flocked across the United States" during almost the same interval of time.

These two-legged mammals do extensive damage to any environment into which they move and have a similar talent for "messing buildings," streets, parks, and beaches, as well as polluting and poisoning the air and water around them with fumes, sewage, garbage, and pesticides. They have also been known to drive egrets from their nests and shoot American eagles.

The biggest threat in Marin is the gradual disappearance of trees and green hills. An alarming portent is a rumored swarming and breeding area on the barren Golden Gate headlands, which had been thought to be an unnatural habitat and hence safe from invasion.

Control of the problem becomes increasingly difficult. Perhaps, after we have at last crowded and poisoned ourselves out of existence, the world will once again be safe for starlings.

Why Waste Money On Youth Symphony?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On April 30, I attended a concert of Marin Youth Symphony in the gymnasium of the College of Marin. . . .

. . . The admission of $1 could have been better invested in a donation to a local charity such as Sunny Hills, than to an obvious glorification of a mediocre performance by neglectedly trained school children in a subject which was recently dropped from the school curriculum by California State legislators: Music! When legislators, who know more about how to raise hogs than young musicians, interfere in school education, the result is usually hogwash.

This is what one could almost call the performance of the last movement, by Marin Youth Symphony, of Dvorak's immortal New World Symphony. I heard many student orchestras perform this work, but this performance was the last word in sour delivery of that glorious music one could imagine. . . .

The violin soloist displayed an evident talent, but insufficient technical equipment for a composition like Bruch's G-minor concerto. . . . The highlight of the concert was the piano solo by a talented child who evidently had excellent technical and musical training with a private teacher. . . .

The usually gifted conductor Hugo Rinaldi did the best he could with the bad material at hand. It was due to his cool self-control and poise that he managed to overcome the handicap of poorly trained youngsters and bring the concert to a seemingly satisfactory conclusion . . .

Musically speaking the performance as a whole was totally unsatisfactory and far off the fine standard the Marin Youth Smyphony established at previous performances. . . .

The reason can be traced directly to the curtailment of music instruction in public schools recently enacted by the State Legislature. . . . If music is to remain in public schools, it has to be part of the school curriculum and a sufficient number of qualified music teachers must be available for music direction . . . I hope this letter will arouse a sufficient number of parents and music lovers of Marin to write to their state legislators and demand the restoration of music in the school curriculum in California public schools.

Withhold Payments Of Property Tax

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Let us have a unanimous "second" to taxpayer Carruther's motion to withhold payment of property taxes for the December-April installments and perhaps even longer. . . . All efforts short of withholding are predestined to failure. . . . The proposed reassessment clearly demonstrates that all rational protest falls on deaf ears and now is the time for all good taxpayers to come to the aid of one another and do something about this horrendous taxation. . . .

What's to lose on a 1 per cent delinquency penalty? (6 per cent invested at 5 per cent.) . . . There is no question in my mind that the rate is confiscatory right now. My tax bill represents 75 per cent of my yearly combined principal, interest and long term mortgage insurance. At the present four-year reassessment rate, the next reassessment will be equal to my whole mortgage payment mentioned above for each year paid.

. . . Remember taxation without representation and the Boston Tea Party? Let us initiate an effective tax party of our own . . . It is up to you now, fellow taxpayers. Shoot the works! No meetings, no committees, no fees, no strain, no pain. Just remember not to pay your property taxes in December and April. Then they will be asking for your advice instead of telling you what they are going to do with your money.

BENNETT CERF

COMMUTERS from Connecticut have become used to horrendous railroad service, but when a local limped into N. Y.'s Grand Central an hour-and-a-half late (on a scheduled forty-minute run) even one meek little man from Mount Vernon protested. The conductor reminded him, "We're always late when it's snowing." "I know that," persisted the man, "but this morning there isn't a cloud in the sky." We're not responsible for that," concluded the loyal conductor. "SNOW WAS PREDICTED!"

RISING YOUNG comedian Dick Cavett, fresh from the sticks, recalls that his mother raised him beatuifully on a salary of less than twenty dollars a week. She did some moonlighting on the side, however—taking in washing at night — off other people's clotheslines. "My whole first year at Yale," add Cavett, "I wore brown and white shoes. This didn't prove practical. The white one kept getting dirty." On the Jack Parr show, Cavett won instant national fame by his introduction of a famous actress: "Here they are folks: Jayne Mansfield."

CASKIE STINNETT tells of the very proper and proud Bostonian who marched up to the ticket window of a railroad station in London and announced firmly, "I would like one excursion ticket, please, to Cambridge—ENGLAND."

Negro, White Vote Shows Up Significant Election Aspects

The most significant aspects of the Alabama Democratic primaries last week are these:

1. For the first time since Reconstruction large numbers of Negroes voted—and their votes were counted. There was no resistance, no disorder, no violence.

The central meaning is that racism is at the point of becoming a dead end street for both Democrats and Republicans. Negro voters can no longer be neglected. They will find that the exercise of voting rights is the open door to all other civil rights.

2. There was no indiscriminate Negro bloc-voting — although it is not at all unreasonable that there should be.

3. Even more important, there was no visible move toward black-government-for-its-own-sake anywhere in the state, not even in districts with overwhelming Negro majorities and where Negroes, voting freely for the first time, might understandably want their own in offices so long denied them.

4. Despite the pleas of national Republican leaders—like Richard Nixon who warns that the GOP "must not go prospecting for the fool's gold of racist votes" in the South—it looks as though the probable Republican opponent, Rep. James D. Martin, will run against the Wallace ticket in a campaign keyed to a strong anti-Negro bias. In my judgment this is no proof that racism is the wave of the future; it just shows how blind and mistaken some politicians can be.

The fact that nearly all the whites voted for Lurleen Wallace, as the proxy for her husband, and nearly all the Negroes voted for Richmond Flowers, the state attorney general, produces the quick opinion that bloc-voting would be the instinctive, even irresistible reaction of the newly-franchised Negro voters and that it could well lead to a kind of racism-in-reverse.

There is no present evidence that it is going to be so. No candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Alabama conducted a racist campaign, but Attorney General Flowers was the only candidate to speak out for the cause of racial justice, to bid openly for the Negro vote. No wonder it went overwhelmingly to the man who sought and earned their support.

But does this mean that Negro voters are going to oppose white candidates because they are white and support Negro candidates just because they are Negroes?

NOTHING in the Alabama voting justifies this conclusion. The evidence thus far is that Negroes are going to vote their interests with discrimination and are not headed toward practicing any degree of racism-in-reverse.

In two Black Belt counties, where Negroes have never voted before and where they have approximately a 2-to-1 majority, the Negro voters rejected two young Negro candidates for sheriff and nominated two incumbent white sheriffs who have been in office many years.

In some districts it appeared that white candidates were saved from defeat by Negro votes. There were more than 50 Negro candidates for local and legislative offices; none won nomination but several will be in run-off contests.

It would not be surprising if some Negroes wanted to replace white government with black government in districts with big Negro majorities. But what is needed is good government, not color government, and it will be the Negroes' gift to the nation and themselves if, after long harassment, they shun reprisal.

Russians Testing Missile-Jam Device

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Russia is testing a deadly new jamming device in the aerial battles over North Viet Nam.

This radar counter-weapon appears to be highly effective against the two principal U.S. air-to-air missiles, the Sidewinder and Sparrow. Only one of the first 38 of these missiles fired at MIG-21s, most advanced Soviet fighter in Viet Nam, hit its target and destroyed the plane.

That's the disturbing report received by Air Force and Navy experts probing the failure of U.S. air-to-air missiles. Pilots expressed the belief that the MIG-21st are equipped with a jamming device that neutralizes the radar-guidance systems used in launching U.S. missiles.

DURING THEIR dog-fights with the MIG121s, the pilots stated that electronic impulses from the enemy aircraft repeatedly "unlocked" their radar as they zeroed in their guidance system for missile firings.

In clashes with slower MIG-15s and MIG-17s, this radar problem has not appeared. Careful checks of the guidance systems seem to rule out other reasons for their failure.

Sidewinder missiles, which are attracted to heat, have been found to be most effective against the MIGs when fired toward their jet engines in the rear. In making attacks, U.S. pilots maneuver into this position to "lock on" their radar guidance system to the tail of the enemy aircraft for the best results.

When the MIGs come within range, the missiles are automatically fired by radar. Any major disturbance to the radar system causes the missiles to veer off course and greatly reduces the chances of hitting the targets.

SPARROW MISSILES, with a much longer range, are guided to the target by radar. MIG-21 pilots apparently are diverting these weapons by directly jamming their guidance systems.

U.S. authorities have known for some years that the Russians were equipping their jet bombers with this anti-missile device. However, until the encounters in Viet Nam, it was the view of U.S. experts that the jamming system was too large for installation in the smaller MIGs.

This electronic development is rated a major breakthrough for the Soviet, as U.S. scientists still have not perfected a similar device for either bombers or interceptors.

Air Force officials are gravely concerned that the jamming device will give the MIG-21 a decided advantage over the F-4C Phantom jet, speediest fighter in the world.

WHILE THE MIG-21 has proved somewhat more maneuverable, the supersonic Phantom has a longer range, can attain a higher altitude, and is much faster. Its speed is "more than 1,800 miles per hour" compared to 1,600 for the MIG-21.

Monitoring of radio conversations indicate that both Russian and Vietnamese speaking pilots are manning the MIG-21s. These jets are based at Pucyen airfield, 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, and at Kep, 37 miles northwest of the capital.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have repeatedly proposed that these two bases be bombed, since all of the estimated 60 MIG-21s in North Viet Nam are stationed on them.

The number of jet aircraft permanently based in North Viet Nam is now estimated by the Air Force at 160. In addition to the MIG-21s, there are 30 MIG-15s, 40 MIG-17s and 30 IL-28 light bombers.

Stiff Backs, Hard Hats Are Some Problems Of Patrolmen

Have you ever been stopped by a California Highway patrolman and cringed as the officer, dressed in shiny helmet and boots, seemed to swagger toward you?

Well, he wasn't really swaggering. According to officers Arthur S. Olson and Theodore E. McGuire of the highway patrol's Corte Madera office, the officer was probably walking that way to stretch and loosen up his back muscles.

IT SEEMS a highway patrolman has to sit in his car for long periods of time. On night shifts he may sit for as long as three hours before he gets a chance to flag down an errant motorist.

That much sitting causes stiffness because of the compression of the spine, Olson explained. "One time I was so stiff I had to grab the door jamb with both hands and do a sort of hula," Olson recalled, before he was able to walk over to the stopped driver. With their back aggravated by this strain highway patrolmen are prone to back injuries.

Both men stressed, however, that patrolmen don't try to intimidate the motorist either by their walk or any other means.

Speaking of helmets ("hardhats" as they're called) peace officers have differing opinions about their effectiveness.

SEVERAL HIGHWAY patrolmen, who prefer to remain anonymous, have said they don't like the helmets. The hardhats, they say, are dangerous because they cut down the wearer's side vision and impair his hearing. Also, because they are heavy and uncomfortable, the helmets restrict certain head movements, the officers claim.

The helmets also have a disputed psychological effect. Some patrolmen contend that the mere wearing of them seems to antagonize civilians, most often in crowd control situations. One patrolman said that when he was on duty during the 1964 Sproul Hall demonstrations in Berkeley "some kid came up to me and sneered 'What do you think you are, a Gestapo storm trooper or something?'. The officer added, "Heck, he wasn't even born 'til after the war."

Others go further and say that the appearance of helmeted officers not only antagonizes but actually incites the violence they're there to supress, especially among minority groups. The appearance of a helmeted officer, often carrying a nightstick, is a symbol of the authority the crowd is often lashing out against.

DISAGREEING is Lt. George R. Barnes of the Tiburon sheriff's substation, who says that the helmets are "worth a million dollars in certain situations." He said that an officer always needs the protection. "Some people are going to cause trouble whether you wear a helmet or not," he asserted.

As for comfort, Barnes said that the suspension helmets become comfortable "after a week or two" since the heat from the wearer's head tends to shape the plastic. He said he found no restriction of movement nor danger in them.

One psychological advantage for an officer in a helmet is that it make him appear four inches taller and 10 times more authoritative.

Teen-Agers Learn Brand New Dance Style To Slow Rhythm

WASHINGTON — Teen-agers who live in the world of the frug, the monkey, the swim, and other such energetic dances occasionally come up with some startling discoveries.

The other night the 16-year-old daughter of a friend of mine rushed into her mother's bedroom after attending a dance and said excitedly, "Mother, you'll never guess what we did!"

The mother, expecting the worst, grabbed onto both sides of the bed and said weakly, "What did you do?"

"WE DANCED holding onto each other."

"Oh," said the mother, "how did it happen?"

"I don't know. We were each out there dancing separately and not paying any attention to each other when suddenly Roger put his arm around my shoulder and he took my other arm like this, and we started dancing together."

"How could you possibly do that?" the mother asked.

"I don't know. But he asked me to follow him and do whatever he did. It really felt funny."

"In what way?"

"I MEAN the idea of actually dancing with another person and him holding you in his arms. It was kind of crazy."

"Did you like it?" the mother asked.

"I loved it. At first it was kind of hard to follow because I was supposed to do exactly what he did. But then when I got the hang of it, it wasn't hard at all."

"What else did you do?"

"I know this is going to sound ridiculous, mother, but he put his cheek on mine and we danced cheek to cheek all around the floor."

"And he held you the whole time?"

"Yes, the whole time we danced."

"What did the other kids do?"

"THE COULDN'T believe it. I mean none of them had ever danced like that and they thought Roger and I were kooks. But then a couple of them tried it and they liked it, too, and pretty soon about five or six couples were dancing cheek to cheek.

"I asked Shirley to try it with Bobby, but she said she wasn't going to follow any boy around a dance floor, and Bobby said it spoiled the dance if you and the girl did the same step. But I said they just wouldn't know how good it felt until they tried it."

"What kind of music did they play?" the mother asked.

"That was the weird part of it. Roger asked the orchestra to play slow music because you dance better together that way. A few of the kids got mad, because, they said, nobody could dance to slow music."

The mother said, "I don't know how to break this to you, Barbara, but that's the way your father and I used to dance."

"You couldn't," the daughter cried. "It's a new dance. Roger told me no one had ever done it that way before."

"Roger is wrong," the mother said. "Everyone danced that way. That used to be the whole idea of dancing—to let the fellow hold you and to follow him on the dance floor."

"I'll be darned," she said, "I didn't think you folks had it in you."

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Henry DuPertuis of San Geronimo will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary May 30 with a family reunion in San Geronimo planned to include all of their nine children, 28 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

San Geronimo Couple Fete Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Du Pertuis of 10 Creamery Road, San Geronimo, will celebrate their golden wedding May 30.

The couple's nine children, 28 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren are expected to join them in San Geronimo for the celebration. The family will have a dinner at the San Geronimo Community Presbyterian Church, followed by a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Du Pertuis have lived in Marin County since 1945. They lived in Marin City for 14 years, and moved to San Geronimo seven years ago.

They were married in Charleston (now part of Bremerton), Wash., in 1916, 10 years after they met at the University of Puget Sound. Berna Miller was teaching school in Du Pertuis' home town of Chehalis, Wash., when they were married. She taught school for four years.

Their eldest son, Laurance S. Du Pertuis, now lives in Redwood City. Their other children are Donald Du Pertuis of Mill Valley, Harold Du Pertuis of San Leandro, Henry Du Pertuis Jr. of San Leandro, Mrs. Marjorie Hook of Wapakoneta, Ohio, Gilbert Du Pertuis of La Habra, Mrs. Dorothy Bretz of Bell, Charles Du Pertuis of Woodacre, and Dr. F. M. Du Pertuis, a chiropractor in Merced.

Du Pertuis, 79, retired from his work as a carpenter in 1965, but still keeps busy with a hobby that stems from his trade. He does wood-turning and polishing, and has made several pieces of the furniture for the couple's home, including a floor lamp from a twisted juniper tree. He also has made quite a collection of wood-carved dishes.

Mrs. Du Pertuis, 77, says that she hasn't retired yet. She plays the organ as a hobby.

Asked how they have managed to stay married for 50 years, Du Pertuis answered: "We didn't have any alternative. When we were engaged I told her I couldn't live without her."

Silva Gives Bond Ideas For Novato

New Police Station, Road Work, Park Sites Sought

A five-million-dollar bond issue, to provide Novato with a long list of capital improvements, was proposed for the November ballot last night by Novato City Councilman M. E. Babe Silva.

The councilman suggested that his four-part program be presented to the voters item by item. It was given to City Mgr. J. Julien Baget, who was asked to get expressions from city department heads.

1. A two-story concrete block police station, with holding cells and with a city maintenance garage in the rear, at the location of the present police station and the neighboring George Morrison home. He estimated this would cost $200,000 to $300,000.

2. A broad program of street improvement, to run between three and four million dollars, including: reconstruction of South Novato and Novato boulevards from Highway 37 to Wilson Avenue; reconstruction of all of Grant Avenue; completion of widening of Center Road to Wilson Avenue; widening of Simmons Lane from San Marin Drive to Novato Boulevard, and "any other major street projects which the public works department feels should be on the list."

3. Covering and fencing of many open drainage ditches in the city, notably on Diablo, Tamalpais, Olive and Vallejo avenues, where children must walk to and from school beside streams of water three and four feet deep, estimated to cost up to a million dollars. "Novato has been lucky in the past that no child has fallen into one of these ditches and drowned," said Silva.

4. Park site acquisition. Silva said if the county park bond issue passes, it will give the city "a good deal of money" for this

Red Vessel Still Coy Off Coast

A Coast Guard spokesman said today that a cargo of fish was being transferred from the Russian fishing vessel Skryplev to the Chernjakhovsk, the Russian ship that is supposed to be in need of engine repairs.

Monday night the Chernjakhovsk's master radioed the Coast Guard in San Francisco that his vessel's engine breakdown had created an emergency, and requested permission to enter San Francisco harbor to make repairs.

The Coast Guard refused permission, and radioed the Russian master that his ship would be boarded if he attempted to enter the bay. The Russian master radioed back that he had no objection to being boarded.

The Coast Guard had indicated it would probably agree to board the ship, either in international waters or in Drake's Bay, to see if it is in dire need of repairs.

The Russian master indicated that the Chernjakhovsk would transfer cargo to the Skryplev for two or three days before the inspection. The Coast Guard spokesman said he could not understand why the Russians would be transferring fish to the disabled ship, instead.

International law provides that calm waters must be allowed a ship in an emergency.

DRIVE-IN PETITION SIGNING

Taking a cue from banks, opponents of Marincello today took to Southern Marin roadsides to flag down cars and get signatures in their campaign for a referendum on blocking the development. With a boost from a few disc jockeys, they parked today near the Spencer Avenue on-ramp of Highway 101, waving to each driver to pull off and sign. At least 13 persons did so. Here, Mrs. John T. Vander Male signs as Mrs. Peter Erickson holds the petition.

Viet Nam Political Feuding Affecting War: McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today political disorder in South Viet Nam has reduced the effectiveness of U.S. military operations.

However, McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this "reduced effectiveness in recent weeks will terminate shortly."

As a measure of the reduced effectiveness, the Pentagon chief said the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese fatalities fell about 50 per cent in the first three months of the year.

This, he said, is "some measure of the effect of the political situation."

"South Viet Nam is in the midst of a political ferment," he said, "and we should expect a ferment at a time when a nation is seeking to form institutions that had been absent in the society."

In an earlier exchange on Viet Nam, McNamara said the Viet Nam, McNamara said the Viet Cong is "losing what support they had of the population" in South Viet Nam.

McNamara said if a new emergency flares while war rages in South Viet Nam, the United States may have to summon military Reservists to active duty.

But McNamara told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he does not expect any Reserve callup this year.

Asked about the possibility of escalation, McNamara said "the strategy and tactics we're following are designed to avoid extending the war."

"We're doing everything we can to make clear to the North Vietnamese and the Chinese the limited character of our military objectives," the defense secretary said.

"The United States is showing great restraint."

Shifting to Latin America, McNamara defended the military assistance portion of the foreign aid program, which Fulbright called "one of the most controversial issues in the bill."

Some critics of the military aid have argued it has been used to keep military regimes

Russian-Built MIGs Fire Missiles, Miss

SAIGON (UPI) —Communist MIG 17 fighters attacced U.S. war planes twice over North Viet Nam yesterday and in one attark fired air-to-air missiles for the first time of the war, a U.S. spokesman reported today. The missiles missed, but two U.S. planes were shot down by groundfire.

The Communists reported five American plans shot down over North Viet Nam Tuesday but the Air Force said two planes were lost and one pilot was rescued. It was during his rescue the MIGs appeared, the Air Force spokesman said.

The spokesman said a flight of three Russian-designed MIG 17s shot a pair of heat-seeking air-to-air missiles similar to the at Air Force planes protecting a pilot shot down in North Viet Nam 105 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The missiles missed and the MIGs fled, he said, and an Air Force helicopter recovered Capt. Martin A. Mahrt, 32, of Custer, S.D., in the longest successful rescue mission of the war.

Before yesterday's attack, the MIGs relied strictly on 20-mm cannons the few times they ventured out to challenge attacking U.S. fighter planes, the spokesman said.

U.S. pilots also reported for the first time that the Communists are using surface-to-air antiaircraft missiles (SAMs) to protect the vital Gu Mai Pass which is the gateway to the main Communist supply route into South Viet Nam. Previously most SAM missile sites were in the industrial area around Hanoi.

A spokesman said two SAMs were launched at a reconnaissance flight of U.S. Air Force Phantom jets yesterday as they streaked by at more than 1,500 miles per hour. The missiles missed.

U.S. Using 'Great Restraint' In Viet Nam, Johnson Says

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — President Johnson today replied to charges of American "arrogance of power" in world affairs by saying this nation has used "great restraint" in Viet Nam and other world crisis spots.

"The exercise of power in this century has meant for the United States not arrogance but agony," the Persident said in apparent reply to recent statements by Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"We have used our power not willingly and recklessly but reluctantly and with restraint," Johnson said in a speech prepared for delivery at dedication ceremonies for Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson school of public and international affairs.

"What nation," he asked, "has announced such limited objectives or such willingness to remove its military presence once those objectives are achieved?"

"What nation," the President continued, "has spent the lives of its sons and vast sums of its fortune to provide the people of a small, striving nation the chance to elect a course we might not ourselves choose?"

Johnson's statement presumably referred to U.S. willingness for South Viet Nam to elect any government it chooses.

The President flew to Princeton to make his speech and accept an honorary degree in a hastily announced trip. He replaced Welfare Secretary John W. Gardner as the main speaker at the ceremonies.

Supervisors Tee Off Golf Course Purchase

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Fore!

They approved in principle the suggestion that a non-profit corporation be formed to buy the course from San Geronimo Valley Properties through sale of revenue bonds.

The 146 acres would be deeded to the county, the revenue bonds would thus become tax-free and would be paid off over a 25-year span through lease of the golf course under administration of the non-profit corporation.

The proposal was announced by Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen April 18, after he conferred with Robert Roumiguière, one of the principals in San Geronimo Valley Properties.

It has brought protest from the Kentfield Civic League, which does not want land removed from the tax rolls, and from the Town Council of Corte Madera, who feared the course in San Geronimo Valley might lessen supervisors' interest in backing a public course in Corte Madera.

Roumiguiere told supervisors yesterday that possessory interest tax would still be paid on the property by the non-profit corporation. The reduction in taxes would be about $2,000 a year, he said.

He said the deal would be an advantage to his firm because it would receive back its "hard costs" in development of the course.

Administrator's Job Elimination Hinted In Hub

By STEPHEN COOK

San Anselmo's new city council began showing its colors last night with an intimation that some would like to abandon the city administrator form of government.

Implications were that it could be replaced by the city's commissioner government of nine years ago, backed by an advisory council of citizens willing to donate time and skills.

Vice Mayor Arthur W. Smith raised the flag at the end of last night's council meeting with an announcement he wants to discuss "the advantages and disadvantages of a city administrator" at the council's June 14 meeting.

Smith, who has been on the council 23 years and was mayor when the city changed from the old system in 1957, said today he has been asked by councilmen about the advantages and disadvantages of the two systems.

He said councilman Woodrow V. Capurro approached him on the subject "some time ago," and that, more recently, newly elected councilmen Duane C. Ragan and Robert M. Scott have asked the same question.

"Because of my experience under both systems, they have asked me what the disadvantages would be under the non-manager government. I want to talk to all the councilmen at once about this at a public meeting," Smith said.

When Smith asked for time on the June 14 agenda, Mayor John M. Reichmuth cautioned:

"Now, if you are going to consider changing our city administrator government, I think we will need extensive public hearings on it so that all the public interested will have a chance to state their views."

Smith later recalled he voted for the switch to a city administrator government in 1957. He declined to say whether he has changed his mind. "I'd rather wait until June 14," he said.

Smith's announcement came on the heels of a surprise suggestion by Councilman Scott that the council establish "the advisory Council of San Anselmo" —a suggestion immediately supported by Smith and Ragan.

"Its purpose shall be to establish a group of civic minded persons skilled in the arts, science and professions who will

Fire Ruins Residence In Fallon

All retired dairyman John Nelson and his wife, Ethel, had worked for and saved in their lifetimes was destroyed in a few minutes yesterday when their seven-room home at Fallon was burned to the ground.

Marin County Fire Department units from Tomales, Point Reyes Station, Hicks Valley and Chileno Valley fought the $14,000 blaze but Fire Chief Louis Bloom reported, "The fire was so well underway when we arrived all we could do was try and prevent it from spreading."

No one was home at the time. Mrs. Nelson had left for work at Dillon Beach and the couple's two children, Philip, 11, and Mary, 14, were at school in Tomales.

John Nelson, 62, on a visit to brothers in Illinois, was unaware today that the house, where the couple had lived for 14 years, was gone.

Candidates' Views Vary On Prop. 14

Court's Decision Makes It Debut In Political Arena

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's campaign for governor got a bristling new issue today, provided by the State Supreme Court's decision to overrule a popular vote that allowed racial discrimination in housing.

Candidates fired away with comments on the high court ruling that threw out a constitutional amendment giving landlords and homeowners the right to refuse to rent or sell to anyone—even on grounds of race or religion.

Two lawmakers demanded that Democratic Governor Edmund G. Brown submit the issue to an election-year legislative session already packed with controversy.

Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, Brown's main foe in the June 7 primary, said "the philosophy and political persuasion of the justices is playing an increasingly decisive role in their decisions," he said.

Ronald Reagan, campaigning for the Republican nomination for governor, called on Brown to start enforcing the Rumford Act, the anti-discrimination law that

Hub Council Refuses Again To Back Bonds

San Anselmo City Council again refused to endorse the $4.3 million county park bond issue last night, instead voted 4-to-1 for a resolution explaining the bond issue and stating what would be done with San Anselmo's $218,514 share if the issue passes.

Councilman Robert M. Scott voted "no," recommending citizens take a self-help approach to recreation, building a park and a recreation center themselves. The audience applauded.

Scott said he opposed the bond issue "because taxes are high." Then he asked those in the audience favoring the bond to stand and watched as half the audience rose. In a dramatic tone, he asked:

"Now let's see where you really stand. How many of you would be willing to donate your own labor and $5 out of your pocket for a park project?"

All nodded that they would. Scott suggested that a poll be taken of parents of high school and seventh and eighth grade parents to see if they are similarly inclined and of the city's teen-agers to see if they want a recreation center.

"We could do things with our own hands that would make the people of San Anselmo stand taller than if we run to Washington or Sacramento or anywhere lese for help. These things may be dirty words today, but we could even have an old-fashioned barn raising," Scott said.

Applause greeted this. Councilman Duane C. Ragan stepped in with a pitch for more parents to take an active part in little league baseball.

On the park bond proposal, only Woodrow V. Capurro said the council should endorse it. "The people look to us for guidance and we all know we could use the money," he said.

Arthur W. Smith said, "There is no question but that we can make good use of the money, but endorsement should be left to the taxpayers."

Mayor John M. Reichmuth

Long Island Rail Road Halted

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was, after all, a matter of principle. If the executives can't be counted on to set a good example, who can?

Pryor

That was the "official" explanation yesterday when diesel engineers on the Long Island Railroad suddenly walked off their jobs and disrupted the normal routine for 12,000 evening rush hour passengers on four branches of the nation's busiest commuter line.

Three weeks ago, three employees were suspended for drinking beer with their lunch.

Goodfellow

The walkout was called by Harold J. Pryor, president of the LIRR local of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. He said the luncheon honoring LIRR President Thomas Goodfellow "was notable for a free-flowing liquor supply."

The strike was a short-lived affair. It was ended by a federal judge's temporary injunction, and all the engineers were back on the job today.

Kidnaped Priest Freed In Spain

ROME (AP) — Black-masked kidnapers freed a Spanish priest-diplomat unharmed today after holding him for 12 days in a vain attempt to get Pope Paul VI to intercede for political prisoners in Spain.

Msgr. Marco Ussia, ecclesiastic councilor of the Spanish Embassy to the Vatican, was released 28 miles north of Rome. He said he had been held in some sort of house, he did not know where, and could not recognize his captors.

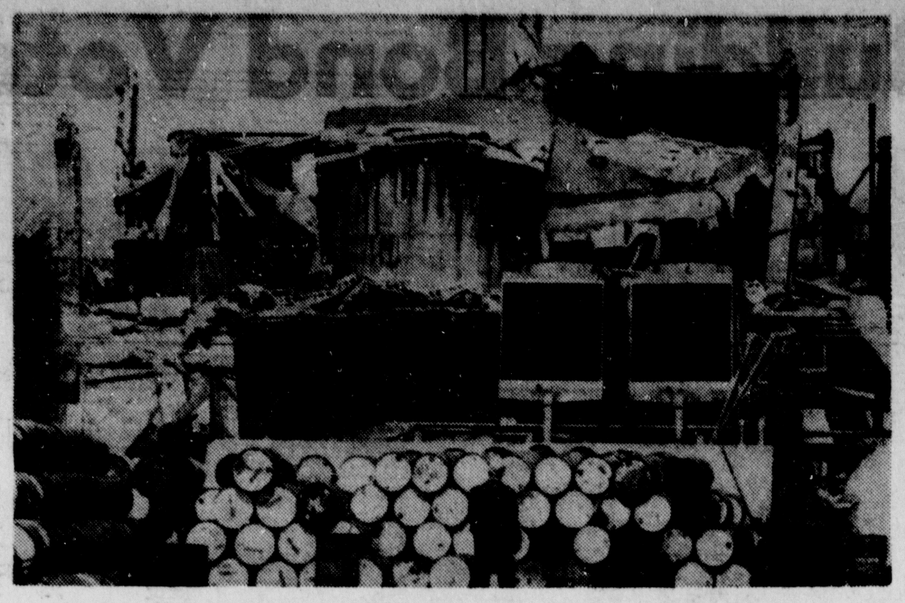
Police said they had located the area where they believed an anti-Franco group of Spanish anarchists was holding Msgr. Ussia.

China Fallout Heads For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service and other agencies are bracing for some hard work later this week when radioactive fallout from Red China's third nuclear device explosion begins drifting across the United States.

Depending on the weather conditions, it may be four or five days more before the radioactive cloud appears in this hemisphere and can be analyzed, officials said yesterday.

Until then, reconnaissance planes operating out of the Far East will pick up debris and take it to laboratories in South Korea and this country for analysis to determine the exact nature of the Chinese blast, which took place Monday.



SOAP PLANT WRECKED — The demolished plant of the Wayne Soap Co. in downriver Detroit after it was rocked by a heavy explosion yesterday. The blast shattered windows as far as a mile away. Children in an elementary school nearby were sprayed by glass fragments. Some 80 children and 27 adults were injured. One worker in the plant died of burns today. Damage was estimated at $250,000 to the company's three buildings. (AP Wirephoto)

Old Hit-Run Case Solved By Driver

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Police sent manslaughter and hit-run warrants yesterday to Florida where an appliance salesman was quoted as admitting a hit and run fatality here nine years ago.

Police in Jacksonville, Fla., said that Paul M. Gess, 46, told them he was wanted in San Francisco in the accident.

Married and the father of four children, Gess told Florida policemen he thought about the accident daily and had nightmares about it each night.

Lloyd V. Stephens, 66, a machinist at Hunters Point Navy Shipyard, was struck by a car and killed April 14, 1957, at Mission and 17th streets.

Witnesses said the death car was driven three blocks, swerving and braking to dislodge Stephens' body which had been caught on a fender.

Gess, then a soldier stationed here, was quoted in Florida as saying he had his car repaired and sold it after the accident. He was discharged at Ft. Ord two years later and since has lived in Galveston, Tex., Atlanta and Pensacola, Fla. He moved to Jacksonville in 1965 and has been a department store appliance salesman.

Pulitzer Prize Party Draws 165 Winners

NEW YORK (AP) — A distinguished and lively assembly, one which may not come again for some years, brought together 165 Pulitzer Prize winners last night celebrating the 50th anniversary of the awards.

Edward W. Barrett, dean of the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, which presents the awards, told the dinner audience the occasion was a "special, one-time family affair."

Next year, Barrett said, the prizes would be awarded by the old procedure—announcing them the first Monday in May and mailing of checks.

It was the first time since World War II that the year's winners received their awards in a public presentation. Of prizes awarded to nearly 500 persons, about 300 still are living. All were invited to the dinner.

Poet Archibald MacLeish, a three-time winner, told his audience the prizes "have warmed the world in which the art of letters must be practiced."

On hand to welcome the guests was Joseph Pulitzer Jr., grandson of the founder of the awards.

James Reston, associate editor of the New York Times and a two-time Pulitzer Prize winner, said journalism must find a way to merge its "publish and be damned tradition" with its "new sense of intelligence, duty and responsibility."

Reporters, while smarter than ever, Reston said, "don't knock down as many doors," adding: "We are going to have to use blunt instruments and have some tough characters around."

Admiral Applauds Australian Fighters

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — U.S. Vice Adm. Paul H. Ramsay said today that Americans and Australians are fighting side by side in Viet Nam in the same spirit of cooperation and dedication that they showed in the Coral Sea battle 24 years ago.

Birth Control Bill

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts has lifted its 87-year-old ban against the dissemination of contraceptives and birth control information. Gov. John A. Volpe signed the bill yesterday.

Dirksen Receives Foes' Best Wishes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen's political foes have tried to pin him down many times. Today they did their best to get him up from a hospital bed with words of encouragement.

A hospital spokesman said the operation to put a pin in Dirksen's hip had had "excellent results" and reported a fracture "in the neck of the femur" as a result of the fall.

The spokesman said he slipped from the edge of a hospital bed early yesterday. He had entered the hospital late Monday, after a full workday, for what his office described as the latest in a series of routine checkups.

The Illinois Republican, one of the most colorful and hardest working members of the Sente, has been hospitalized several times in the past two years for treatment of painful abominal spasms of apparently unexplained origin.

He also suffers emphysema, a congestive lung disease, and complained during the 1964 political campaign of severe back pains caused by a hairline facture of the vetebrae.

Dirksen was expected to remain at Walter Reed for two or three weeks. He probably will have to use crutches for several more weeks after he leaves the hospital.

Petty Theft Arrest

Rowena June Stores, 40, of 14 Mar Vista Court, Tiburon, was placed under citizen's arrest on a charge of petty theft by David Elizondo, Red Cart Market clerk, at 4:01 p.m. Monday after she had allegedly taken a 16-ounce jar of honey in her purse from the store without paying for it. The store is at 759 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Astronauts Practicing

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —With an excellent countdown rehearsal behind them, the Gemini 9 astronauts today planned a day-long series of test runs for next Tuesday's launching.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan were to make simulated launchings and practice emergency procedures for the three-day orbital flight, including a make-believe rendezvous with an Agena target satellite.

Stafford and Cernan yesterday suited up and crawled into their spacecraft as launch teams conducted a flawless double countdown on the Titan 2 rocket that is to hoist Gemini 9 into space and the Atlas which is to lift the Agena.

Water Scalds Infant Left Sitting In Sink

Nine-month-old Astra Fletcher, daughter of Mrs. Kathleen Fletcher of 6A Deer Park Lane, San Anselmo, suffered second and third degree burns on her trunk and legs last night when, left sitting in a sink, she turned on the hot water.

The infant was in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital.

Police said she was left with a 12-year-old baby sitter while her mother was at a party in Sausalito. The sitter left the child in the sink while she went for a fresh diaper, police said, and found scalding hot water running over her when she returned.

The frightened sitter first told officers the child was scalded when water splashed out of the sink and onto the baby sitting on the floor, Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said.

Small Safe, Cash Taken In Burglary

Burglary of a small combination safe containing $52 cash, a $60 check, and two penny coin collections from the home of Andrew W. Zimmerman at 115 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Zimmerman said the safe, which had been looted of $42 only last Saturday, was taken from a closet. No forced entry to the home was evident.

Deputies said burglars also entered the panel truck of Gary Hoffman, 100 LaPaseda Way, Santa Venetia, taking its radio valued at $30. The truck was parked at a Santa Venetia service station.

An unsuccessful attempt to enter the home of Herbert J. Stout, 575 Whitewood Drive, Terra Linda, also reported. Stout told officers he discovered pry marks on a rear door.

The council received a letter from the Isabel Cook School Parent-Teacher Assn. urging it to endorse the issue.

In the resolution adopted, councilmen said they would approve priority of allocation of bond money and matching federal funds as follows:

Completion of San Anselmo Memorial Park to master plan standards, including possible acquisition of the American Legion Log Cabin as an interim recreation center; planning and initial development of the 62-acre Sorich Ranch property as a community recreation park; acquisition and development of neighborhood park facilities; city beautification projects in conjunction with volunteer efforts.

Lie Detector Test Given On Assault

Mrs. Patricia Ann Wilson, 25, was struck a near-fatal blow on the head by a blunt instrument while asleep in her bed early last Friday. Her husband told police he was in an adjoining bathroom, heard his wife call, and went into the bedroom where he saw a crouching figure. He said he chased the intruder out of the front door and returned to find his wife with her head bleeding.

Guilty Plea To Burglary

John Organ Lem, 19, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to six counts of burglary and to possession of marijuana.

A count of attempted robbery of Greenbrae Lanes on Sept. 7 was dismissed by Judge Harold J. Haley, who will pronounce sentence for the other offenses May 31.

Lem, of 12 Eagle Rock Road, Mill Valley, committed the burglaries last summer. He had the marijuana in his possession Jan. 21.

REACTION

was nullifed by the amendment.

Brown, however, said "I don't think this will be a political issue." And George Christopher, another Republican candidate for governor, said "further quarreling would not seem to be in California's best interests."

All the candidates were aware of the 1964 election in which the voters approved the amendment by more than a 2-1 margin. The vote, crossing party lines, amounted to a massive rebellion against the 1963 legislature's bitterly contested housing law.

"Evidently the will of the people no longer counts," said William Penn Patrick, a San Rafael businessman campaigning for the GOP nomination for governor.

But Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, a Democrat up for election, said he will intervene in favor of anti-discrimination housing laws if an appeal is made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Reagan said Brown should begin enforcing anti-discrimination laws "until the legislature decides whether it wants to take some further action reflecting the will of the people."

Other comments:

Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson: The decision "will usher in a new era in California human relations and assure equal rights for all our citizens."

Lloyd Hand, former U.S. chief of protocol and Democratic candidate for Andersons post: The decision is a "bow for equal housing for all our citizens and a better life for all our citizens."

Thomas M. Braden, president of State Board of Education and third Democratic candidate for Lieutenant governor: The decision is "a breakthrough toward de facto integration of our schools."

Democratic candidate for governor Dr. Carlton Goodlett: "I would like to urge that when the case is finally adjudicated in the U.S. Supreme court, the real estate interests live with the decision rather than try to circumvent it. The decision shows once more that the court can be a refuge for oppressed minorities."

purpose, but said the parks and recreation department should make up a request for what it thinks the city should have, and city bonds could finance whatever is required.

"The assessed valuation of Novato is now approximately $35 million. That means that the city has a total bonding capacity of $5,150,000," he said.

He pointed out that the city now has a $100,000 bond issue for the swimming pool, which was passed while he was mayor. This would leave approximately $5 million availiable for bonding, he said.

"I think that the bond issue should be presented item by item with the estimated cost on it so that the voters will know exactly what they are voting on," he said.

Two Boys, Man Hurt In Wreck

Two 17-year-old Greenbrae youths and a Novato man suffered cuts and bruises from a two-car head-on collision at Vista Grande and Patenco streets near Greenbrae at 3:22 p.m. yesterday.

Treated at Marin General Hospital were Mark E. Meyer of 305 Vista Grande; his passenger, Diane Simpton of 445 Vista Grande, and Alexander R. Dougan, 29, of 660 Midway Boulevard, Novato.

The California Highway Patrol reported that Meyer was driving north bound uphill when his car collided with Dougan's south bound auto.

Mail Opened At Four Homes

Four cases of mail tampering on Simmons Lane were reported yesterday to Novato police.

The cases are similar to one last Friday in the same neighborhood. Police suspect they are the work of a small child.

Reporting that their mail had been opened were Marion Kay Herman of No. 1007, Jim Louis Wright and Ramona Kay Pedler of 1009, and Jack Delbert Deen of 1011, all on Simmons Lane.

Supervisors Approve New Tiburon Deputy

Tiburon will get another deputy sheriff added to its police force under its contract with the county.

County supervisors yesterday aproved an additional deputy at a cost of $1,250 for the balance of the fiscal year. The cost will be fully covered by the city under the contract agreement.

Ky Repeats Prediction Of Power

SAIGON (AP) — Fresh Buddhist agitation was reported today in units of the Vietnamese army as Premier Nguyen Cao Ky repeated his prediction that he and his military government will remain in power at least another year.

Informed sources said Buddhist chaplains were stirring up troops against the government in the 1st and 2nd Corps areas. Both are north of Saigon, toward the frontier with Communist North Viet Nam.

Most of Viet Nam's 15 million people are Buddhists, but only a small part of them are politically organized.

Ky again told newsmen he thinks it will take a year or more to get an elected civilian government for South Viet Nam. He said he intends to stay in power until then.

of funds would be returned to the developers to be used in future development" of the San Geronimo Valley, he said.

There was no price mentioned yesterday, but Roumiguiere said that the developer would expect it to cover cost of the course, ciubhouse and other facilities and pay about $2,700 an acre for the land. This, he said, would be about half the selling price the developer could expect if the property were sold for subdivision.

Approval in principle was the first of three steps needed to consumate the deal, he said. Next, the Internal Revenue Service must rule whether the revenue bonds would indeed qualify as tax-free municipal bonds.

After that Ebasco Services, a national consulting firm, would study the proposal for feasibility.

Under county ownership, the course would be open to the public, but use of the clubhouse and swimming pool would be through membership, Roumiguiere said.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that there have been some "unfortunate rumors" circulated about the proposal. He particularly wanted to scotch the rumor that the revenue bonds proposed were involved in any way with the proposed $4.3 million general obligation bonds issue for parks purchase and development to be put to voters June 7.

serve without pay and who will give their talents as they may be requested from time to time by the city council and any city agency, including the chamber of commerce," Scott said in a proposed resolution.

The council should be composed of eight divisions, he said —public relations and communications counselors, architectural arts and design, fine arts, music and museum, engineering and construction, economic finance and purchasing, insurance, legal, and public health.

He provided a list of 38 persons who should be immediately appointed to the council and said they should, in turn, recruit others. "It would not be exclusive," he said.

Scott moved adoption of the resolution and Ragan seconded. But Mayor Reichmuth and Councilman Capurro objected to immediate action.

"You throw something at us we've never seen before. That's not being fair to us," declared Capurro. Scott said he wants unanimous council support for the matter and agreed to hold it over.

Smith, asked later if he thought the advisory council would be a logical addition if the city were to revert to the commissioner form of government, said:

"I think that it would work hand in hand with that very well."

Red Cross officials in San Rafael and at Point Reyes Station were assisting the family by supplying emergency clothing. Mrs. Nelson was staying on the ranch where her husband formerly worked.

in power in Latin-American countries.

But McNamara contended the aim of the program is to keep Latin-America armies small. He said "there is no question in our mind" that the problems of Latin America depend on economic development and the elimination of poverty and disease.

Meanwhile, the committee said Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, will testify tomorrow on the Southeast Asian war at a closed hearing.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Lodge spent nearly an hour today discussing the agricultural situation in South Viet Nam.

Lodge, who is in Washington conferring with the administration officials, would make no comment on the conference except to say that "Viet Nam is an agricultural country."

U.S. Considers New Eagle Trial

The U.S. attorney's office in San Francisco said today no decision had yet been made on whether to seek a new trial for Leroy Martinelli, whose day-long trial in U. S. District Court Monday for shooting eagles ended with a hung jury.

The government has, however, 30 days to press the prosecution if it wishes.

After debating five hours, the jury Monday could not agree on whether Martinelli had violated federal law when he shot two eagles on his Point Reyes ranch early in 1965. The rancher had testified the birds were attacking new-born lambs.

OBITUARIES

Violinist Argiewicz Dies At 85

Artur Argiewicz, 85, widely known violinist and resident of Marin County for almost 40 years, died yesterday in Sequim, Wash.

Argiewicz was born in Warsaw, Poland. He came to the United States in 1905, and to San Francisco in 1917. He moved to a home he had built at the end of Tamalpais Avenue in Mill Valley in 1919, and moved to Ross about eight years ago. He left Ross for Washington less than a year ago.

Argiewicz began studying violin at the age of 6, and gave his first public recital two years later. Encouraged by composer Johannes Brahms and teacher Josef Joachim, he toured Europe with the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra. At 15, he was a concertmaster in Helsinki, Finland.

His lifelong friend and mentor, violinist Fritz Kreisler, paid Argiewicz the extraordinary compliment of appearing as his accompaniest on the piano when Argiewicz made his London debut.

Argiewicz became a naturalized United States citizen just before World War I, when he was on the faculty of the Institute of Musical Art in New York, which later became the Juilliard School of Music.

He came to San Francisco to be with his sister, Eugenia Argiewicz Bem, also a well-known violinist. He was a member of the San Franicsco Symphony for 39 years, and its concert master for eight years, retiring in 1956.

He continued to teach music at his home in Ross until he left the county.

He is survived by his wife, Destiny; a son, Artur Jr. of Mill Valley, a daughter, Angela, of Sequim, Wash.; his sister, Mrs. Bem of San Francisco, and four step-children, Frances Willson of San Francisco, Mildred Goodman of Berkeley, Josephine Belmont of San Francisco, and Victor Jacobs of Beverly Hills.

Slim Chance Seen For Redwood Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The proposed and controversial Redwoods National Park in Northern California today had only a slim chance to get financial support during this sesson of Congress.

The Senate Appropriations Committee followed the House lead yesterday and refused to recommend funds for the park. Instead, it took the $10 million in President Johnson's budget for the redwoods and reallocated it to several forest service and national park locations.

The Senate conceivably could write money for the park into the committee's recommended appropriations for the Interior Department when the bill reaches the floor. But such a possibility was remote.

Money for the redwoods was to come from the Land and Water Conservation Fund. Johnson had recommended a total appropriation of $110 million from that fund.

Seminary Professor Sets USF Precedent

Dr. James W. McClendon, professor of systematic theology and philosophy of religion at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry, has resigned and accepted a joint appointment at University of San Francisco and Stanford University.

McClendon has been a member of the Golden Gate faculty for 12 years. His USF appointment makes him one of the first Protestant theologians ever given faculty status at a Catholic university.

He will spend the fall semester at USF as an associate professor in the theology department, teaching a graduate division course in Protestant thought. During the spring of 1967 he will be a visiting professor of religion at Stanford, in the special programs in humanities.

Although not sponsored by his denomination in the USF and Stanford positions, Dr. McClendon said he will remain active in the Southern Baptist ministry.

"I believe the ecumenical scene has been unbalanced because it has been too long dominated by Protestants who think very nearly alike. There is another Protestant understanding of Christianity reflected by such groups as the Baptists, and that understanding needs to be rethought and presented to the world," he said.

Dr. Harold K. Graves, president of Golden Gate Seminary, accepted Professor McClendon's resignation on behalf of the trustees.

"He has made an outstanding contribution to this growing institution. His stimulating approach has been effective, not only in the seminary halls, but in communicating with college students, particularly those in the fields of philosophy and science," said the seminary president.

Mill Valley Planners Deny Auto Body Shop Permit

Mill Valley planning commission last night recommended that property at East Blithedale Avenue and Forrest Street be rezoned from office to commercial use, but refused to approve a permit for an auto repair and body shop at the location.

Commissioners recommended that the building, formerly containing Hagen and Smith, movers, and the adjoining Do-Nut Kettle and self service laundry be rezoned to general commercial, and that a lot to the rear be rezoned from offices to apartments. G. C. Kott of Mill Valley is owner of the Hagen and Smith building.

About 25 persons were in the audience in opposition to the body shop use, citing the noise which might be created. The moving company moved about a week ago to San Rafael.

The commission directed City Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon and City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to study further a proposal to make Woodbine Drive a one-way street, after two motions failed by 3-3 tie votes.

First motion was to make the street one-way to end at Upland Avenue and Woodbine and to include an assessment district for minor street improvements. The second motion was to make the street one-way with no assessment district.

Commissioners approved a plan for Dr. Alex Finkle and Lee Ceccotti to build five shops at Lovell Avenue and Madrona Street. Parking is to be on the roof, and plan of Marinways Corp. to build eight condominium apartment units at East Blithedale and Catalpa avenues which will be the first condominiums in Mill Valley.

Hearings were set for 8:30 p.m. Tuesday for a map and ordinance revisions.

Ciggarette Smokers Complain In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Cuban smokers had better stick to cigars.

Supervisors Require Plywood Fire Safety

Marin County supervisors, after hearing protests from the plywood industry yesterday, adopted a change in the county building code requiring noncombustable backing on plywood partitions of less than a half-inch thickness.

The action was by a 4-1 vote, with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen dissenting. He urged further study of non-combustible finishes for plywood.

These were described to him in a letter from Gerald E. Misner of Albi Manufacturing Co., producer of a fire-resistant paint.

"I don't want to wait for further study while some company gets a monopoly," Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker declared he was most insistent that the code change be adopted yesterday and parried the arguments put up by the plywood representatives.

Malcolm Hill, speaking for the national hardwood plywood industry, urged that the board delay for further study.

Leydecker replied that the industry has had two years to study and make recommendations on improving fire resistants and changing building codes.

Yesterday's change, adopted as an urgency ordinance to take effect at once, was prompted by a March 22 fire in Lucas Valley, which took the life of Rebecca Ellen Fong, 7.

After the board adopted the change, supervisors unanimously approved Kettenhofen's motion that the County Board of Appeals study any further suggestion that might be made by the building industry on preventing spread of fire.

County Building Inspector Hans Berge told supervisors it would be nearly impossible to conduct proper inspections to assure that fire resistant paints or a certain quality of treated plywood was being installed.

Ads Opposing Park Bonds

Fifteen members of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn. met last night and agreed to place a series of newspaper advertisements opposing the $4.3 million county-wide park bond issue which will go before county voters June 7.

P. J. Rowland, president, said members also decided to seek the support of four political candidates for a plan the association has long advocated to do away with property taxes, substituting a "gross transaction tax" on goods and services.

"If they run on this, we think they can get elected," he said.

Rowland said his group will propose the idea to candidates Ronald Reagan, Robert H. Finch, James Pockrus, and Pearce Young.

FAMILIAR NAMES TAKE PRIMARIES

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nebraska Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen and West Virginian John D. Rockefeller IV moved their family names back into the political spotlight today after strong victories in yesterday's primary elections.

Sorensen, 32, brother of former presidential aide Theodore C. Sorensen, won the Democratic nomination for governor in Nebraska by a wide margin. His Republican opponent in November will be political newcomer Norbert T. Tiemann, a small-town banker.

Tiemann, little known outside banking circles until six months ago, overwhelmed former three-term Republican Gov. Val Peterson.

Rockefeller, nephew of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and son of John D. Rockefeller III, led a 56-man Kanawha County Charleston ticket in winning a Democratic nomination for the West Virginia House of Delegates.

The 28-year-old bachelor, who has been an antipoverty program social worker for the past 19 months near Charleston, changed his party registration to Democrat earlier this year.

The Rockefeller-Sorensen elections topped primaries that also included a spate of congressional races and two battles for senatorial nominations.

Mayoral elections also were held yesterday in Trenton and Newark, N.J. in Trenton, Mayor Arthur J. Holland was defeated in a close election. It was his first bid for re-election since moving into a racially mixed neighborhood. In Newark, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio was forced into a June 14 runoff against former Mayor Leo P. Carlin.

Los Angeles Demos Blast Dorn, Yorty Over Stands

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles County Democratic Central Committee has passed a resolution critical of Mayor Samuel W. Yorty and Supervisor Warren M. Dorn, and charging Yorty with employing "smear tactics" and "McCarthyism."

Yorty, challenging incumbent Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, was accused in the resolution passed last night of "revising the old Communist smear tactic against the governor of California."

The committee then turned to Down, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and attacked his criticism of the controversial Kienholz exhibit at the County Museum of Art.

Also criticized was the State Senate Fact - Finding Committee on Un-American Activities, headed by Sen. Hugh Burns, D-Fresno.

The report, alleging Communist influence and homosexual activities of the Berkeley campus, was labeled "the same old hash" by the council.

In Pomona Ronald Reagan said he knew in advance the findings of the committee's report on the University of California.

The Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination told supporters at a rally here Tuesday night that the university should divest the faculty of any responsibilities and should require that the faculty maintain high campus standards.

Open Space Assessment Bill Advances

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment intended to keep the suburbs from gobbling up California's remaining open land today faced just one more major legislative test.

The Senate-passed measure was approved yesterday by the Assembly Constitutional Amendments Committee and sent to the lower house floor.

If passed by the Assembly, the proposal would be returned to the Senate for routine approval of lower house amendments and then it would go on the November ballot for ratification by the voters.

Sen. Fred S. Farr, D-Monterey, said the Constitution now requires all property to be assessed at its highest value. In the case of land near cities, that value usually is for housing tracts. When a farm is assessed at the housing rate, Farr said, the taxation usually is so high the farmer must sell to a subdivider.

Farr's amendment would permit the legislature to authorize taxation of farm and recreation land at the value of its current use, ignoring its value as a subdivision.

But the legislation would have to provide an "enforceable restriction" requiring the property to continue to be used as open land. Farr said that part was to keep the plan from becoming a boon to land speculators.

School 'Team' Wins Applause

There was sustained applause for the Gearharts, who were present when their resignations were announced last night at a meeting of the San Rafael School Board.

E. B. Gearhart, a business education teacher at San Rafael High School, after more than 36 years, and Mrs. Gladys Gearhart, San Rafael High School librarian, who has served 12 years, will leave the district June 30.

Board President Carl J. Brown assured them they will be missed.

Legislature Held By Taxes Constitution

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Disputes between the Senate and Assembly over revising the California Constitution and avoiding a tax boost are balking the Legislature's drive toward adjournment.

Senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, told reporters after a caucus yesterday that not enough votes could be lined up to reach agreement with the Assembly on constitutional revision.

At issue in the constitutional revision problem is the question of whether legislators should set their own salaries. Burns declared, "The senators don't like the idea of allowing the Legislature to fix its own salaries. They don't think it can be justified."

The Assembly proposal for constitutional revision, voted overwhelmingly, calls for legislators to fix their own pay rates. It also would provide annual six-month sessions of the Legislature.

Proposed increases would boost the pay of lawmakers from $6,000 a year to $18,000 a year.

At the request of its sponsor, the Senate bill was sent back to the Governmental Efficiency Committee. The sponsor, Minority Leader John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, noted "There are many differences of opinion."

The Assembly failed to get enough votes to approve a method of avoiding a tax boost. The method, pushed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, has been passed by the Senate.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Reagan Will Appear At Montecito Center

Ronald Reagan, who seeks the GOP nomination for governor, will meet Marin residents and answer questions at a special "Reagan Rally" Friday about 10 a.m. at the Montecito Shopping Center in San Rafael.

This will be his final appearance in Marin before the June 7 primary election.

Tomorrow night, two buses will take Marinites to the Cow Palace in San Francisco for the Bay Area-wide "Reagan Roundup."

James A. Rowen of Marinwood is handling the arrangements for the trip. Tickets are available at Reagan headquarters at 1417 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

RAFFERTY DINNER

A dinner honoring Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, will be held next Wednesday evening at Dominic's Restaurant, San Rafael. Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch of Novato is in charge of arrangements.

YOUNG CHAIRMAN

Assemblyman Young, D-Napa, is opposing Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, in the new Fourth Senatorial District, which includes Marin, Napa and Solano Counties.

Gibson, who has been in the state Senate for 18 years, announced last January he is retiring from the Senate. At that time, he came out with a strong endorsement of Assemblyman Young.

STORER CHAIRMAN

Herb Schulze, former postmaster of Santa Rosa, has been named Santa Rosa campaign chairman for Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress.

DRATH BACKERS

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, candidate for Democratic nomination for Congress, announced the appointment of two area campaign chairmen.

Mrs. Everett C. McKeage of 27 Legend Road, Sleppy Hollow, will be Drath's chairman for the San Anselmo area. Robert Dunn, attorney, of 170 Upper Via Casitas, Greenbrae, will be Drath's area chairman in Greenbrae.

Civil Rights Fund Request From Bagley

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, announced today he will seek large state outlays to implement human rights legislation.

Following the Supreme Court's nullification of Proposition 14, Bagley said that within a few days, he will present to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee these two proposals:

1. An outlay of funds, perhaps a half million dollars, to help local governments staff local human relations commissions with professional help.

2. An outlay of two or three million dollars to the Fair Employment Practice Commission, which has jurisdiction over fair housing as well as fair employment.

"I'm able to propose these appropriations because the Republican caucus has come up with suggestions for a budget cut of $60 million," Bagley said. "My proposal is to use a couple million of that for improvement in human relations.

"The idea is not to force, not to hire a lot of policemen to enforce. The idea is to create an atmosphere of acceptability. And the state Legislature, fostering fair housing, helps create that atmosphere."

County Awards Civic Center Drive Project

Marin County supervisors yesterday awarded a contract to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael for extension of Civic Center Drive to connect with the Terra Linda Interchange at Highway 101 at $58,305.65.

The second lowest of seven bidders on the job, A. J. Bresnan, with an offer of $59,576.62, had protested because Ghilotti's total offer had been higher. It was reduced when the County Department of Public Works found an error of $1,500 in multiplication of unit prices. Bresnan yesterday withdrew his protest.

Gordon Enters Innocent Plea On Embezzlement

Donald J. Gordon, whose alleged embezzlement from a Mill Valley man's San Francisco paper company put it out of business, pleaded innocent to the theft Monday in San Francisco Superior Court.

Judge Francis McCarty set the trial for May 20.

Gordon is accused of taking $90,000 from the now liquidated Bonestell and Co., which was owned by Daniel K. Beswick of 35 Elaine Avenue, Mill Valley. Considered a model employee until he and the funds vanished in September, he was captured March 18 in Cleveland by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The amount originally reported taken was $270,000, but the indictment against Gordon cited only $90,000.

Supervisors Beat Deadline On Mental Health Request

With only hours before the deadline, Marin County Board of Supervisors approved yesterday an application for federal and state funds which would help expand the mental health service program in the county over the next four years.

After making sure they would have the money to spend, supervisors asked the county administrator to supply by next week information on subsidies available for studies on the best ways to spend it.

The application approved yesterday was for a total grant of $345,736 by the fourth year for staffing a community mental health center. Of this, the county would have to provide $57,254.

Decision on the application was postponed last week when Dr. Clyde M. Miller was asked for more information and alternative applications.

He said yesterday he had reduced the county's share of cost in a new program which allows aid to new mental health services. The county would pay 6.25 per cent of the first year, 9 per cent the second year, 13 per cent the third year, and 16.5 per cent by the fourth year.

Supervisors were concerned that they had to make a decision on the fund application "at the eleventh hour."

Dr. Miller, director of the county's mental health services, said his department had been able to work on the matter for only a month.

Stanley Siederman of Ross Psychiatric Center criticized the section of Dr. Miller's plan dealing with alcoholics and described it as "a drop in the bucket." He said Miller should have been working on plans to co-ordinate the county's mental health program two years ago. (Miller has not been on the job that long).

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker said how additional staff were employed was a policy matter which concerned everyone. He said they should be employed through the many public agencies already in the field.

"Already there are many mental health agencies which are not co-ordinated in any sense. The idea of putting a expanded governmental empire on top of it all is all wrong," he said.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen asked what would happen if at some time the county wanted to reduce this staff.

Dr. Miller replied: "There is a lot of movement in this profession. I think if we want to cut back we can do it."

"At least, we would have the knowledge we were going in the right direction," said Kettenhofen.

Court Reporter Bill Passes Legislature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A court reporter pay bill which would give Marin court reporters $12,000 per year instead of $35 per day passed the Assembly yesterday and went to the governor for signature.

The bill, AB-139, was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, at request of the Marin court reporters and judges. In addition to the annual salary of $12,000, each fulltime court reporter is entitled to the same vacation, sick leave and other benefits of other county employees. The bill had already been passed by the Senate.

Bolinas Budget For Fire Jumps

Preliminary fiscal 1967 budget of $10,906 was set Monday night by the Bolinas Fire Protection District board.

This compares with the current $8,970 budget, reported board secretary Sherman Smith, the increase representing $2,000 toward a building fund for a new fire station and $500 toward providing one fire truck with a radio.

Tax rate, now 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation, cannot be estimated now, Smith said, because the commission doesn't know what the assessed valuation will be.

Commission Interest Wanes On Locomotive

Mill Valley parks and recreation commissioners expressed little interest Monday night in a suggestion that an old steam engine be acquired by the city for possible train service between Mill Villey and Sausalito on weekends.

They did not seem to think it could be used either as a playground object or for display purposes, reported Don Dimitratos, city parks and recreation director. However, Chairman Jerome C. Hauke said he will attempt to get further information including how much it would cost to bring an engine from Oregon or Northern California.

The idea was recommended March 28 by Dean N. Meyer, former commissioner, now a city councilman.

Commissioners suggested that that a model of a house, now at the Community and Youth Center, might be used for display at the new public library. The model is of a type of house first built in Mill Valley and was formerly housed at old St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon.

Names of Jack Larson, special teacher at Tamalpais Valley and Homestead schools, and Edward Sykes, a San Francisco high school teacher, were recommended to the city council to take the seat of Meyer.

The commission recommended that $12,000 be earmarked for capital improvements in the fiscal 1967 budget for Molino Playground, completion of Sycamore Park, new playground equipment at Freeman and Boyle parks, and improvement to the Optimist Club ball park at Project 17, Dimitratos reported.

Behr To Appear At Ross Council On Park Bonds

The Ross Town Council will hear a discussion of the $4.3 million county park bond issue by County Supervisor Peter Behr at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Also on the agenda is discussion of Shady Lane traffic by Police Chief John Harris and town engineer Philip B. Lygron.

Other items include a report by building inspector Elmer C. Scott on demolition of a building on Lagunitas Club property and trees at 18 Fernhill Drive.

Also to be discussed are the nuisance ordinance, and continuation of the Marin Art and Garden Center variance request.

Marin Catholic Student Wins Youth Award

John Bruemmer of San Rafael, a senior at Marin Catholic High School, has been chosen to receive the Archbishop's Youth Award for 1966.

The award will be presented by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of the Archdiocese of San Francisco next Wednesday at the seventh annual award dinner to be given at the Fairmont Hotel by the archdiocesan Catholic Youth Organization.

Young Bruemmer was one of four young men in Marin, San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties chosen for their "leadership and interest" in youth activities.

He is president of the Marin Catholic High School student body, was a delegate to the Governor's Youth Conference last fall, and attended the recent Catholic Youth Organization conference in Los Angeles.

He is a son of Mrs. Barbara Bruemmer of 100 Santa Margarita Drive, San Rafael.

LeCount Given Divorce Decree

An uncontested interlocutory decree of divorce was granted Samuel N. LeCount, College of Marin counselor, from his wife, Lucille I., Monday by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court.

LeCount, one-time candidate for county superintendent of schools, charged cruelty. His wife, of 27 Sierra Avenue, San Anselmo, did not appear in court.

They were wed in Kentfield June 4, 1955, and separated Jan. 15.

Supervisors Vote Down Heavy Industry Zone Near San Rafael

After considerable discussion yesterday, Marin County supervisors voted 4-0, with Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen abstaining, to turn down heavy industrial zoning on 27 acres east of San Rafael.

The land on the south side of Highway 17 is owned by Henry Ghillotti and Elmo Maggiora, who want to put an equipment yard on a portion of the property.

Their attorney, Bryan R. McCarthy, said that under the present planned industrial zoning his clients must prepare a master plan for the entire acreage and get use permits for each use proposed.

Kettenhofen agreed it would be "ridiculous" to require a master plan when the owners did not know who users of the rest of the property would be, but said a use permit made sense.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the heavy industrial zone "is wide open."

Attorney Albert Bianchi, representing Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bartell, owner of 100 adjacent acres, said that the heavy industrial zone would deter his clients' plans for residential development.

Zucker said heavy industrial use would set an "image" not in keeping with Marin.

McCarthy attacked this vigorously.

Strike Number Sets Record Since 1953

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A total of 755 strikes began during the first three months of 1966, idling 406,000 workers, the largest number of any first quarter since 1953.

But because several major strikes were of short duration the total working time lost was not especially great, the Labor Department reported Monday.

Poverty War Official's Pay Not Yet Set

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to hold off setting of Douglas Quiett's salary as temporary county director of community relations, but said it would not be less than $753 a month.

The countywide advisory committee on the War on Poverty and the Community Action Committee for Marin City had both recommended that Quiett's salary be $870 a month, putting it in the same range as that of Walter Bremond, who was fired and subsequently resigned three weeks ago.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said a person not fully meeting the requirements for the job should not receive the full salary according to standards set by the office of economic opportunity.

Supervisors at one point appeared ready to adopt Bruce's recommendation and increase Quiett's salary from the $486 a month he was receiving as community aide to $753 a month, but Supervisor Peter H. Behr protested the two committees should be consulted first.

Quiett also said he thought this would be the best way to proceed.

The board agreed that whatever action is taken, the increase will be retrocative to May 1.

Union Campaigns For $1 Million For Pepperdine

FRESNO (AP)—"Any college or university which has the guts to turn down $1 million for a principle deserves support," said a group of union leaders planning to raise $1 million for Pepperdine College.

J. E. Batten, secretary of Chemical Workers Local 97, said he referred to Pepperdine's refusal last week to accept money that was contingent on the granting of an honoary degree to a conservative commentator.

The will of D. B. Lewis, multimillionaire dog food manufacturer, bequeathed $1 million to the Los Angeles school if it would confer an honorary degree on Dan Smoot.

But the college declined the offer, saying that "The academic process precludes awarding a degree based on the contingency of a gift."

Batten said representatives of Teamsters Union Local 431, Wine Workers Local 45, Butchers Local 128, Fire Fighters Local 753, and Machinists Local 653 are participating in the drive to secure funds for the college.

FRONT PORCH NEST

A family of Linnets is living in a planter box on the front porch of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Kowski, 430 Bee Street, Sausalito. The mother bird is standing watch over her brood which was hatched in the box containing false geraniums. There were five eggs laid, between April 10 and April 23, and the mother pushed one out of the nest, Mrs. Kowski reported. This is the second year the birds have had a nest and have been hatched there.

Mental Illness Rise Worries Officials

Marin County's population has increased by about one-third since 1959, but the rate of admissions to the state mental hospitals has doubled in that time, according to Mrs. Nevada Christian of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health.

The help of interested persons from the community is needed if the number of admissions and readmissions is to be lowered, Mrs. Christian said.

Mental patients are being returned to the community before they are entirely ready to resume their normal lives, Mrs. Christian said, because state hospitals are extremely overcrowded and because facilities like the Community Mental Health Services office at 610 D Street in San Rafael are able to provide limited out-patient care.

Patients on leave from state mental hospitals meet with social workers at the State Department of Mental Hygiene at 2144 Fourth Street in San Rafael. But these patients need more help than professional social workers and psychiatrists are able to give, Mrs. Christian said. Six of every 15 patients returned to Marin County from state hospitals returns to the hospital in a short time, she said.

Volunteers from the community to help patients adjust to the community could eliminate many of the relatively minor frustrations that send these patients back to the hospital, Mrs. Christian said.

Patients returning to the community are often not able to obtain a driver's license immediately, and a layman willing to provide transportation to grocery stores, to employment agencies, and so on, for these patients are needed, Mrs. Christian said.

Laymen willing to take a patient out for a drive to the beach, a trip to a museum, or just a ride around the county could help the patient overcome the feeling that he is entirely alone in the community, she said.

Some communities have organized "friendly clubs" where mental patients can find social life and recreation and can escape from loneliness, but no such facility exists yet in Marin County, she said.

College Hit By Burglary Of Equipment

Burglars stole about $3,000 worth of movie equipment and other items from a storeroom at College of Marin, sheriff's officers reported yesterday.

Stephen Hopper, audio-visual technician at the school told deputies entry may have been through a ground-level window to the storeroom, under the college library.

Officers said loot included two movie cameras, four projectors, a public address system, two sound projectors, a portable television set, and a tape recorder.

Two partially burned envelopes found on the storeroom floor may have been dropped by the burglars, officers said.

Richard D. Hamann, 29 Stanford Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, reported burglars entered his home via a bathroom window and took a wallet and passport owned by Frances C. Hamann, and $22 in cash.

Grants Offered Prospective Educators

Dominican College of San Rafael announced today that eight grants for graduate students, to be known as prospective teacher fellowships, will be available this fall for persons who plan careers in elementary or secondary education.

The winners will have tuition waived and will receive a stipend of $2,000 for the first year of graduate study and $2,200 for the second year. There also are $400 allotted for eligible dependents and $400 for attending summer session between the two years of study.

The fellowships will be awarded first, to recent college graduates (within three years); secondly, to college graduates who have never taught, and third, to college graduates who have not taught recently. Experienced teachers are not eligible for the grants.

Applicants may write or telephone the dean of the graduate division of the college for application forms and further information.

Novato Chamber Unit Picks Five Voting Trustees

Five new members were elected to the Novato Chamber of Commerce board of directors in balloting which was tallied Monday night.

Elected to serve three year terms on the 15-man board were: Ross Tankersley, owner of Tankersley Realty; Otto Haiungs, Novato police detective sergeant; Harold McAfee, owner of McAfee's Department Store; F. James Picchi, owner of Picchi Realty; Henry Puccinelli, owner of the Medicine Chest, and Lee Wise, Novato manager of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The board will meet Thursday noon to name new officers, who will be installed at a dinner meeting June 11 at the Marin Country Club.

Typewriter, Adder Stolen From Store

San Rafael police also reported a $185 belt sander was taken from the home of Mark McCoy Neadeau at 318 H Street some time since April 28, when it was last used.

Al Capone's Son Changes Moniker

He claimed that his father's reputation as a Chicago gangster "pushes me into the glare of publicity for even minor violations of the law."

Broward County Circuit Judge L. Clayton Nance, noting that "The sins of the father are often visited upon the son," told Capone before granting the change of name position: "I hope you will not besmirch your name so nothing will be visited upon the heads of your children." Capone, a divorced father of four, works for a Miami tire company.

Banana Desserts Perfect For Club

When it's your turn to entertain the bridge club this spring, serve a light and luscious banana dessert as a welcome change of pace from winter fare.

Banana Bavarian Pie and Banana Peach Tarts are quick and easy to fix, using packaged mixes to speed preparation. Both can be made ahead in the morning and just popped into the refrigerator until serving time.

BANANA BAVARIAN PIE

2 packages (3¾ oz. each) vanilla dessert mix
1 cup cold milk
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
3 large bananas, sliced
1 nine-inch graham cracker crumb crust

Prepare dessert mix following package directions, using 1 cup cold milk for the two packages; beat in cinnamon and almond flavoring. Chill 10 to 15 minutes, or until slightly thickened. Fold in sliced bananas; pile lightly into crumb crust. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Garnish with additional banana slices. Makes 1 nine-inch pie.

GRAHAM CRACKER CRUST

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

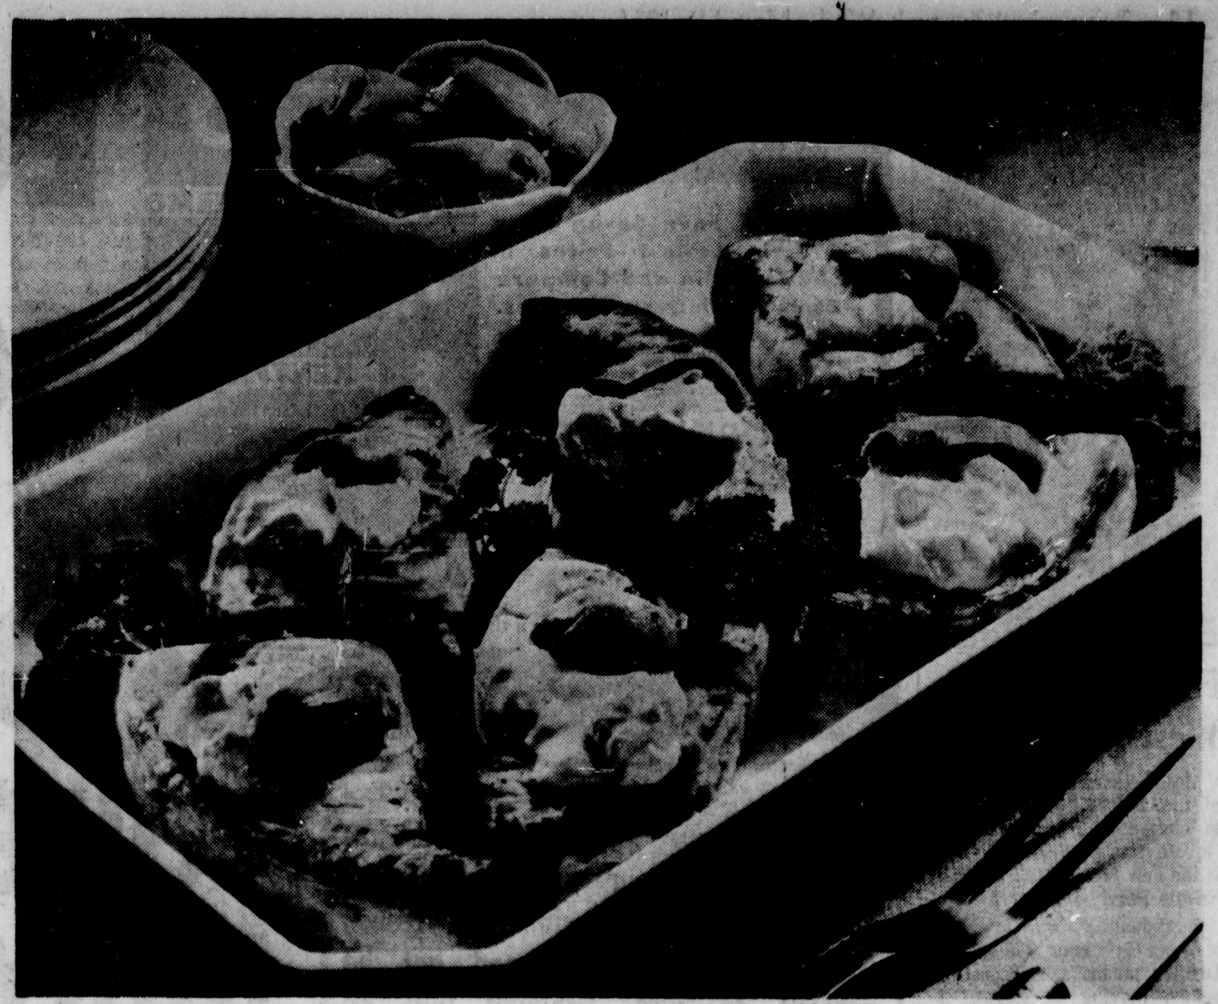
Combine all ingredients; blend thoroughly. Press crumbs firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill crust and fill. Or bake crust in moderate oven (350°F.) 8 to 10 minutes; cool completely before filling.

BANANA PEACH TARTS

1 package peach-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
Three drops yellow and two drops red food coloring
1 cup diced fresh, frozen or canned peaches
3 tablespoons sugar
3 bananas, sliced
½ pint (1 cup) heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon sugar
6 to 8 baked tart shells

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add coloring and cool until slightly thickened, reserving 3 tablespoons gelatin at room temperature. Combine peaches, sugar and 2 bananas; fold into thickened gelatin. Spoon into tart shells; chill. Chill reserved gelatin until slightly thickened; fold into whipped cream and sugar with remaining banana. Spoon over gelatin layer in tart shells. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Makes 6 to 8 tarts.

LUSCIOUS BANANA DESSERTS to serve as a springtime menu change of pace when the bridge club meets include Banana Bavarian Pie and creamy Banana Peach Tarts.



GOURMETS RECOMMEND adding marinated artichoke hearts and sour cream to the hearty goodness of fresh swordfish which is enjoying popularity across the country by being rushed from ship to shore and market.

Swordfish A Delicious Meal Wtih Artichoke Heart Toppings

Seafood aficionados across the country are enjoying swordfish more these days because it's rushed fresh or quick-frozen from ship to shore and market.

And San Francisco gourmets have found a way to make this tasty dish even better—by adding marinated artichoke hearts.

ARTICHOKE TOPPED SWORDFISH

1 jar marinated artichoke hearts
2 pounds swordfish steaks, fresh or frozen
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup fine cracker crumbs
2 tablespoons butter

Drain oil from artichoke hearts and coat baking dish. Combine lemon juice, salt, pepper and sprinkle over steaks. Top fish with marinated artichoke hearts, sour cream and top with cracker crumbs. Dot with butter. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 25 minutes. Serves six.

Good Main Course

Macaroni turkey salad makes a main course for a buffet supper. Cook 6 cups (1½ pounds) of elbow macaroni as label directs. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water and drain again.

Toss macaroni with 6 cups of cubed cooked turkey, 3 cups of thinly sliced radishes, ½ cup of finely chopped onion and 1½ cups of thousand island dressing. Chill and serve on lettuce. Makes 12 servings.

Raspberry Pear Compote Delicious

Chicken Curry Steamed Rice
Condiment Tray Salad Bowl

RASPBERRY PEAR COMPOTE

1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) pear halves
1 cup dry white wine
1 package (10 ounces) frozen raspberries

Drain pears and reserve syrup. Pour wine over pears, cover tightly and refrigerate overnight; refrigerate pear syrup separately. Next day, boil pear syrup until it is reduced to ¾ cup; pour over pears and keep chilled. Before serving, defrost raspberries so they are still icy. Turn pears and wine-flavored syrup into a glass bowl; spoon raspberries and their syrup over the pears. Makes 5 to 7 servings.

New Items In Frozen Foods Easily Served

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frozen food sales this year are expected to total close to $7 billion, which represents a 50 per cent increase in four years and is $1 billion more than 1965 sales.

This estimate from a management engineering firm was announced at the 14th annual taste-testing lunch of the Eastern Frosted Foods Association EFFA, which is made up of packers, wholesalers, brokers and retailers.

Most of the new products tasted were thaw-and-serve, bake-and-serve or heat-and-serve items. One quality that many had in common was a spicy flavor. Some are being test marketed and others already are available nationally.

Frozen, ready-to-bake cup custards had the texture and flavor of homemade ones. The 4-ounce custards in reuseable foil containers are packed four to a box. New from the same manufacturer are individually-wrapped sweet buns swirled with cinnamon and honey and glazed with confectionary sugar frosting. They are ready to eat after 8 to 10 minutes in the oven.

New cocktail snacks include heat-and-serve clam cocktail of raw clams packed in tomato sauce highly seasoned with grated horseradish in reusable 4-ounce footed glasses and three varieties of ready-to-bake puff paste hot hors d'oeuvres. Forty-eight puffs about the size of butter pats are frozen in flat sheets. They bake in 10 minutes. The flavors are cheese, pizza and bacon.

Heat-and-serve seafood dishes include shrimpburgers, shaped like hamburger, and made of shrimp, spices, vegetables and bread crumbs; king crab newburg and crab au gratin in 2-serving packages; deviled crab containing crab, celery, onions, green pepper and seasoning, packed in reusable aluminum containers and topped with toasted bread crumbs; and shrimp rolls, adapted from traditional Chinese spring rolls. This 5-to-a-package item comes with a packet of ready-to-serve Chinese mustard.

Heat-and-eat stuffed baked potatoes now come with sour cream and chives mixed in. Four spuds to the package.

New poultry products include heat-and-serve all white meat boneless turkey roast in a 2-pound 6-ounce package and a 2-pound package of boneless sliced turkey in giblet gravy, containing 14 slices of light meat and eight of dark.

Spicy Sauce Livens Shrimp Omelet Dish

This Open Faced Shrimp Omelet served up with its Creamy Fresh Tomato Sauce is a perfect main dish for breakfast, lunch or supper . . . particularly when company is around. Cream and butter add good milk nutrition. Recipe makes 4 servings.

OPEN FACED SHRIMP OMELET

8 eggs
½ cup all-purpose cream
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon dried or ½ teaspoon fresh dill
¼ cup (½ stick) butter, melted
1 cup small cooked shrimp (fresh, canned or frozen)

Beat eggs slightly with cream, salt, pepper and dill. Heat 2 tablespoons of the butter in an 8-10 inch skillet or omelet pan until it bubbles. Pour in egg mixture and cook as for a French omelet, lifting mixture and tilting the pan to allow the uncooked portion to flow underneath. Do not fold. Toss shrimp with remaining butter; sprinkle or arrange in a pattern over the top. Slip pan under broiler or simply cover pan with lid for a few minutes to heat shrimp and set up top of omelet. Garnish with a bit of fresh dill, if available. Cut into quarters and serve immediately topped with creamy fresh tomato sauce.

CREAMY FRESH TOMATO SAUCE

Combine 1 cup (½ pint) dairy sour cream, 1 firm-ripe tomato, cut into small pieces, 2 green onions, minced tops and all, 2 tablespoons finely minced celery, 2 tablespoons finely minced green pepper, salt and pepper to taste and a dash of tabasco or curry powder, if desired. Blend lightly.

Quick Canapes

Quick canapes: first cut slices of bread into small squares — four from each slice. Mix soft yellow cheese with salad dressing and spread over bread. Bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes.

CREAMY FRESH TOMATO SAUCE complements this Open Faced Shrimp Omelet, a bubbly mixture sprinkled with shrimp and garnished with a bit of fresh dill.

DEAR HELEN:

Does the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals cover fish?

There is a new bar gambling game called Piranha Ante, and I think it should be stopped! Everybody bets a dollar, and then the bartender drops one of those fierce piranhas into a tank of goldfish. If he eats the goldfish you bet on, you win. The poor things are living bait.

This is worse than cock fights — at least the roosters have a fighting chance. And I imagine fish hurt too, even if fishermen don't like to think about it.

—SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Call your local SPCA. And I'd suggest that if your bloodthirsty bartender wants to make bets on his piranha he should put his own ten fingers in the fish tank, for bait. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

You were downright cruel in your reply to "20-Year Widow with a Live Husband." You said widow-wives don't rate much sympathy with you because "there is always something they can do, if they have the gumption to make a decision and stick to it."

If you, Helen, have a kind, understanding, cooperative, loving, sweet, self-sacrificing, obedient, spiritual husband . . . (Stop the music, friend: If this is what you think all husbands should be, you have got a problem.—H) . . . you should thank Heaven for your lucky break. I'm sure you don't possess any finer qualities than some of us who just happen to get stuck with a louse.

Decision? If you mean leave him, state law differs. We would be left with nothing to live on. See a counselor? He ties my hands with his sarcasm, saying it isn't he who needs one. He can see no fault in himself.

I have a husband who is a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, taking all his hostilities out on me, hiding his cruelness in subtle ways, keeping God and me at arm's length. I could fill several pages telling you of the kind, thoughtful, religious front he has and how he is ruining lives through his deceitfulness, but I won't take time. There will be a day of judgment for the wicked. His day will come.

If a man commits adultery, is an alcoholic or has obvious vices, at least his sins are obvious and the wife can get sympathy. But when he is a troublemaker who loves to burden others secretly, what can a poor wife do except be a good Christian and hope his sins will someday find him out. To the world, he is a "wonderful person." Not to me.

Why don't you show a bit of pity to those who need an understanding friend? Don't be so sarcastic and caustic in your remarks. It doesn't make you look feminine, refined or compassionate.

—CHRISTIAN WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

What did I say? Only that women with gumption are mistresses of their own destiny. They don't have to wallow in self-pity — or play the saint to their husbands' sinner, which could turn almost any Dr. Jekyll into a Mr. Hyde.

Counseling might help if you'd listen, listen, listen . . . to yourself as well as the counselor. And learn that a man who is wonderful to others but mean to his wife may simply be living up to expectations. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Should you give a housewarming for a cold fish? This woman and her husband built a new house. She lorded it over the rest of us and our "old shacks." She never has anything nice to say, but always thinks she is the best. Most of the neighbors are against the housewarming, but a few think it is the thing to do because her husband is a great guy, and he is treated pretty badly by his wife also. Decisions, please? —D. T.

DEAR D:

Give the housewarming! If Mrs. Fish remains cold, you can feel self-righteous. If it warms her up, you'll be pleasantly surprised. Either way you can't lose. Have fun! —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

A FASHION TRYOUT and discussion concerning the latest sportswear fashions appropriate for Pinecroft summer camp were the topic when, from left, Mrs. Robert Boyer, Charlene Wyly and Dianne Dieterle met in Novato recently. Charlene and Dianne will model at the fashion show and dinner sponsored by the Guild Girls of the Bethel Baptist Church in Novato at 6:30 p.m. Friday. (Independent-Journal photo)

Novato Baptist Guild Sets Banquet, Show For Mothers

"Symphony of Fashion at Pinecroft" is the theme of the fashion show to be presented at the annual mother-daughter banquet to be sponsored by the Guild Girls of the Bethel Baptist Church in Novato at 6:30 p.m. on Friday.

Latest sportswear fashions will be modeled appropriate to wear at Pinecroft, the American Baptist summer camp, for the girls that will attend this summer.

Models will include Cathy Boyer, Clara Feaster, Charlene Wyly, Terri Scott and Diane Dieterle and mothers, Mesdames Robert Boyer, David Henderson and Tom Patterson.

Mrs. Roy Anderson, guild leader, will be the commentator and Mrs. Clark Wyly will serve as organist.

The dinner will be cooked and served by the Men's Club Fellowship of the church. Chairman is Lt. Col. (ret.) W. J. Olsen.

PREPARING FOR CONCERT—Flutists Carolyn MacPhail and Phillip Edwards intently follow their parts as they rehearse for the spring concert of the College of Marin Community Band to be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

College Band To Play Contemporary Works

Contemporary compositions and 19th century Russian folk songs will be among selections played by the College of Marin Community Band at its spring concert at 8 p.m. Sunday at the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

John H. Myers will direct the band in a program of music from different eras.

Contemporary American composers will be represented by "Canzona" by Peter Mennin and "Festival Prelude" by Alfred Reed. The band also will perform eight Russian folk songs by Anatol Liadov.

The band also will play marches by John Philip Sousa and Kenneth Alford, and the "Barch of the Belgian Paratroops" by P. Leemans, a march with unusual melodic and harmonic ideas.

There is no admission charge.

LONDON (UPI) —The army sold 60,000 pairs of unused false teeth for $1,288 at auction yesterday. They were snapped up by a Toronto firm of general dealers.

Candidates Swap Blows Over Plan

Two candidates for county supervisor accused each other of "lies" and "doubletalk" last night at a Santa Venetia gathering at MacPhail School.

Dr. William F. Upton repeated his charge that John F. McInnis, former mayor of San Rafael, favored the city general plan, which included "filling the bay."

In a radio talk in 1964, Mayor McInnis had called the plan "a most imaginative plan," Dr. Upton declared. "He supported the plan to fill San Rafael Bay to Marin Islands and McNear's Point with multiple dwellings."

"He was and still is a liar when he accuses me of being in favor of bay fill," McInnis stormed. The general plan "was not an official plan of mine or the city's," McInnis said. (It was turned down by the city council after a big outcry over its provisions for control of filling privately owned bay lands.)

McInnis said he admired the basic concepts of the plan, but "I defy you to find any quotation in which I approved filling of the bay!" In fact, said McInnis, he had worked to try to get privately owned tidelands into state ownership so they would not be filled.

"If McInnis says he didn't push this plan, (San Rafael general plan) then I can turn around and say that's a lie!" Upton replied.

The third candidate, Melvin Warenback of Terra Linda, steered clear of what he called "bickering and discussing the past." Warenback urged the county to look to the future for methods of eliminating duplication of districts and of broadening the tax base to relieve the property tax payers.

He said he would endeavor to get a University of California campus located in Marin County. He predicted that a "satellite of research industries" would develop around a university campus.

Warenback called for encouraging hotels and restaurants to handle the crowds that will be attracted by the Point Reyes National Seashore.

McInnis outlined his record as mayor of San Rafael and cofounder of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

Dr. Upton listed his 14 years as county planning commissioner, six years as chairman, and membership on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Upton pointed to the Francisco Boulevard area of San Rafael as an example of bad planning under Mayor McInnis. "It's a confusing array of signs and billboards."

He charged that San Rafael has divided Terra Linda, "biting off choice areas for tax revenue and then claiming a 10-cent drop in tax."

Upton said he was responsible in part for helping push through the McAteer-Petris bill to control bay fill.

Only about 20 heard the three speakers, at a meeting sponsored by a Santa Venetia citizen committee headed by Donald Anderson.

Meetings Changed

The Reed School District Board has changed its May meeting schedule and will meet May 17 at 8 p.m. in Tiburon School, Mrs. Helen Dias, secretary to the superintendent, reported. The other May meeting is scheduled for May 31.

Cluster Project Approved By San Rafael Commission

Overriding protests of Lynn Court and Irwin Street residents, the San Rafael Planning Commission voted 4-3 last night to recommend approval of a plan for townhouses on a hilly extension of Lynn Court.

Commissioners spent much of the 55-minute hearing trying to explain to the angry residents why developer Carl A. Warden had chosen to lump his 16 townhouses in a cluster at one end of his oblong 6.6-acre property instead of running them from one end to the other in conventional style.

Acting City Planner Charles J. Linthicum angrily replied to several persons who contended the cluster plan would cause drainage problems and force removal of most of the vegetation from Warden's land.

Linthicum termed the plan "a very desirable project." He said it was the type of thing the city was trying to encourage when it passed a zoning ordinance amendment last year to allow cluster developments.

Voting against the plan were commissioners Thomas R. O'Toole, John A. Miskimen and V. Judson Klein. They agreed with Linthicum that a cluster development was desirable, but said they were unimpressed with plans shown by engineer Beverly J. Whitlow which called for the 16 units to be made up of eight duplex buildings.

Miskimen suggested the plan be scaled down to a cluster of six buildings, with a total of 12 units.

A spokesman for the angry citizens in the audience was Norman B. Campbell of 14 Lynn Court. He insisted the hilly property could be developed conventionally without loss of many trees, but Whitlow said three engineering firms had tried it and given up.

Washington Grave Marker Offered

Roy Magnaghi, owner of Marin Monument Co., has offered to donate a marker for the grave of Catherine Washington, 104-year-old Marin City resident who died last year and was buried by the county.

Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, when Mother Washington lies in an unmarked grave, may waive the customary $25 fee to install the marker.

Magnaghi said he will donate the marker because "it's better than a number. If I had a loved one I'd want something to remember them by."

The marker will be the standard flat rectangular style used in the lawn area where "Mother" Washington is buried, and will include engraving. Who will decide the words to be engraved hasn't yet been determined. The county's responsibility has been fulfilled with the burial, according to County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

A few readers have mailed money to the Independent-Journal to pay for a marker. This will be returned to them.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has been directed by county supervisors to learn the cost of providing markers for all indigents buried by the county. The investigation was called for after an Independent-Journal story on May 2 disclosed that the county buries all indigents in unmarked graves.

CITY FATHERS CAN'T AGREE ON PARK BOND

Like Tweedledum and Tweedledee, the Belvedere City Council and the Belvedere Park and Recreation Commission don't agree. Cause of the disagreement isn't a rattle, but the proposed $4.3 million county park bond issue.

Tweedledum is the Belvedere City Council, already on record in favor of the issue.

Tweedledee is the Belvedere Park and Recreation Commission, members of which last night expressed disapproval of the bond issue.

After listening to County Park and Recreation Director Pierre Joske speak on behalf of the issue, commissioners decided they weren't in favor "because more than 50 per cent of the funds would go to special districts which have no definite park program," said secretary Norma Bunker.

Empire Fund Discussed

Concern over a proposed cut in Marin County's contribution to the Redwood Empire Assn. was expressed by Carney Campion, association manager, in a talk to the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting yesterday.

The county's preliminary budget shows a cut from $8,400 to $1,600 in its contribution next year.

"Tourism is an industry," Campion said, "and we have a serious problem in Marin since the county is tourist oriented."

Campion said a new advertising campaign, including increased magazine, travel poster and billboard advertising and establishing a visitors information bureau north of Grants Pass, Ore., is planned by the association.

Novato Sets Three-Week Clean-Up

Novato's annual clean-up campaign will run next Monday to June 5, the City Council decided last night.

Trash will be picked up in three special free pickups: The northwest section of the city on May 22, the central part on May 29, and the southern portion, including Bel Marin Keys and Loma Verde, on June 5. The Novato Sanitary District and the city are sharing expenses.

In addition, the city will hire 16 Novato High School boys to work three Saturdays, starting May 21, to clean up debris on city rights of way.

Hamilton Air Force Base officials have promised to make a major effort to clean up Raphael Village.

Civic clubs were asked to work on projects of their own choosing.

Architecture, Budgets Busy School Trustees

The San Rafael Board of Education last night set a busy schedule for itself for the remainder of this month.

The board is to meet May 21 to inspect the work in Marin of three architectural firms seeking to be hired as architects for the Peacock Gap School.

A regular board meeting will be held at Terra Linda High School library May 24 at 7:30 p.m.

There will be a special meeting to review preliminary drafts of the high school and elementary district budgets for fiscal 1967 at the district office, Third and E streets, May 31, at 7:30 p.m.

The preliminary budgets are, San Rafael High School District $3,707,094, and San Rafael Elementary School District, $3,373,913.

Woman Claims Table Cloths Taken By Man

Linda L. Roberts of 21 Enterprise Drive, Corte Madera, complained to police Monday that she trusted two table cloths worth $70 to a man representing himself as Rod Smalley of Locust Cleaners in Mill Valley, when he came to her door in January. They have not been returned, she said.

Corte Madera police said people at the Mill Valley cleaning shop knew a man named Smalley, but said he never worked for them.

SAN RAFAEL HIT BY SUPERVISORS

San Pedro Road Utility Undergrounding Dispute Brings Sharp Board Comments

The San Rafael City Council came under fire from Marin County supervisors yesterday in the long-standing debate on undergrounding of utilities in connection with San Pedro Road widening.

The city council wants uitilities streamlined, that is with main lines on light standards and distribution lines underground, even if it costs an extra $43,000.

Supervisors several weeks ago resolved that lines could be streamlined as far as Lowrie Yacht Harbor, but from there to the end of the project at Marina Boulevard, all should be underground.

George M. Henderson, a Marin manager for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., said the undergrounding might cost $48,000 more. He wondered who would pay it.

Since about 500 feet of the section is in city territory, the supervisors proposed that the city pay $12,000 and the county pay the rest if any pay is required.

Councilmen have refused to agree. Yesterday Henderson revised his estimate, putting the added cost at $43,000.

About 500 feet of San Pedro Road to be widened next year is within the city. The council is reluctant to require undergrounding in this section when it might have to be carried on next year at added cost to the city, Henderson explained.

"It just gripes me," Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said. "Here is this tremendous leadership of the City of San Rafael just sitting on its haunches."

"The trouble was," Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said, "that the staff work went too far before it came to either board. So they got us."

"Can't we get together?" Supervisor William A. Gnoss asked.

"With that council? No," Leydecker answered. "You just don't know those people."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said that the supervisors were "on the side of the angels" in the dispute. The heavenly position, however, still might prove more costly.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said he thought PG&E had agreed to bear the extra cost. He said he would like a letter from the utility stating its position.

Supervisors confirmed their demand for underground utilities from the yacht harbor to Marina Boulevard, and asked Maloney to confer with utility officials to see what might be worked out on the cost.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Set second hearing on the West Marin Master Plan for 8 p.m. July 27 at the Civic Center.
2. Put off consideration of access to Marincello via Bunker Road until after action on the West Marin Master Plan.
3. Continued until next week consideration of the final map on Sharon Park in Bolinas, next to the county park.
4. Approved modification of the Marin garden apartment development plan in Meadowsweet, allowing a facade on the building backing onto Highway 101.
5. Amended the County Building Code to require that electrical installations for lights in swimming pools be done by a licensed contractor.
6. Rejected all seven bids on road resurfacing projects after Public Works Director Donald R. Frost reported a section of Wilson Avenue near Novato was to be dug up in connection with sewer line installations. He said he just learned of the sewer job yesterday afternoon, a few hours after the bids were opened.
7. Put off action on Robert Lewis's request for encroachment permits for television cable installations after discussing the possibility of cross-arm installations to allow more than one cable on a utility pole.

Demonstrations Out Of Control, Chief Complains

CHICAGO (AP) — Group civil disobedience has "gotten beyond the ability of the police to handle it," a California police chief said yesterday.

Berkeley Chief A. H. Fording, was taking part in a panel discussion on civil disobedience and the law. The discussion was sponsored by the Bar Assn. of the Seventh Federal Circuit.

"I've witnessed the debasing of the philosophy of pure civil disobedience," the chief said. "We're at the point now where it's gotten beyond the ability of police to handle it."

"We are not getting any clear-cut guidance," he continued. "We can look only to the courts for guidance."

Six Yugoslavs Killed

BELGRADE (UPI) —Six persons died and 10 others were injured yesterday when a small bus skidded off a highway and plunged into the Cetina River, the Yugoslave news agency Tanjug reported.

Civic Affairs Council Backs Park Bond Issue

Directors of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs last night approved the county's proposed $4.3 million dollar park bond issue, to be decided by voters June 7.

Vice president Ezilda Lucheta said about 20 of the 28 directors were present. The approval was by voice vote with none voting "no."

The council also voted to donate $100 toward cost of the bond campaign, Mrs. Lucheta reported.

ICICLES, NOT BLOSSOMS

A sparkling sun glistens through a tree that is loaded with icicles at Wilmington, Del., yesterday as cold weather gripped much of the East. Temperatures dipped to a record-equalling 33 degrees and Ronald A. Young breaks off the icy points that spread over trees after a sprinkler had been left on by mistake all night. The frost killed crops from the Carolinas to Connecticut and in the Midwest. Thunderstorms hit the Great Plains with tornadoes on the edges. (AP Wirephoto)

San Anselmo's Magnolia Pots Barking Shins

San Anselmo city councilmen last night found themselves in at least partial sympathy with an inebriated gentleman who attacked seven of the potted magnolia trees in the downtown area early Monday.

The man damaged the plants after telling police they were a hazard to citizens trying to walk San Anselmo's sidewalks. Councilmen agreed they are, adding that they are also a hazard to opening car doors.

The occasion was City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt's announcement that the 59 trees planted five years ago are dying as their roots fill out the pots. Only 28 now survive, he said.

The Chamber of Commerce, which bought the trees, is talking about replacing them with flowering shrubs with a longer life expectancy, he said. The remaining trees could be transplanted in a park.

Councilmen approved the suggestion, but some thought the pots themselves should be planted elsewhere.

"I've had many a car door scratched on those things," said Duane C. Ragan.

"I'm not so familiar with the problem of car doors," said Arthur W. Smith, "but I've had many a bruised shin because of those pots."

"I wonder why the man did that to the trees," mused Mayor John M. Reichmuth.

"Perhaps he bruised his shin," suggested Flautt.

San Anselmo City Council also:

1. Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday to discuss a fire protection contract with Sleepy Hollow Fire District commissioners.
2. Appointed Grant Thompson Jr. as police sergeant on Chief Raymond Banfield of Santa Venetia as police officer at $517 a month, and called for a civil service examination to create an eligibility list for the police department. Police Chief Buchignani said the only man remaining on a list promulgated two weeks ago failed the eyesight examination.
3. Agreed councilmen would like to meet individually with the newly formed San Anselmo Police and Fire Assn. to learn of the organization's purpose.
4. Introduced an amendment to the subdivision ordinance which allows the city engineer to set standards for curbs and gutters and requires a labor and materials bond in addition to a performance bond.
5. Held over two weeks a request to reconsider refusal to change the fire zone for property at 20 Tamalpais Avenue.
6. Approved placing a concrete sack rip-rap wall in Sleepy Hollow Creek at 46 Park Drive, and a concrete retaining wall in San Anselmo Creek at 5 Hooper Lane.
7. Set June 15 as the deadline for clearing grass, debris and other fire hazards from lots.

Novato Moves To Buy Lots For City Park

First major steps toward acquiring city parks for Novato were made last night by the Novato City Council.

The council approved application for federal matching funds for the purchase of two lots adjoining the Ranch School from the Housing and Home Finance Agency. It then approved taking an option to buy the lots from Joseph Glickberg for $20,000.

Also approved were options to buy four acres from Taylor and Napier for $49,000, and two acres from Daniel Wise for $22,374, to add to Pioneer Memorial Park. An application for federal matching money for this park has already been approved by the HHFA.

Appraisals on the first parcel ran from a low of $46,650 to a high of $51,000 and on the second from $17,500 to $20,000.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget said Wise wanted $2,374 above the high appraisal to repay the cost of engineering for a subdivision, for which he had already filed the map. Councilmen agreed to this.

The council thus committed $93,374 of the approximately $100,000 voted by the last council in a special 30-cent tax rate for park acquisition. However, it should get half of this back from the federal government.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Approved plans for the Novato Auto Mart with the stipulation that the entire area be filled and not have a one-acre ponding area, that it have a frontage road to Scottsdale Avenue, and an access road to Hill Road.
2. Approved purchase of right of way easement for $3,520 for the Diablo Avenue Bridge over Novato Creek and for an easement at the Novato Fair Shopping Center for a temporary bypass for $420.
3. Introduced an ordinance rezoning from single to multiple family the lot at 1110 Olive Avenue owned by Anibel P. and Velma R. Azevedo.
4. Accepted withdrawal of an appeal by Bud Rose of planning commission denial of a permit for a barn close to the property line at 1037 Simmons Lane.
5. Approved annexation of four and a half acres on Eucalyptus Avenue near Vineyard Road, owned by Harold Fraser.
6. Adopted a budget for expenditures of gasoline tax money to be submitted to the state, carryover for one and two years of funds for the Diablo - De Long Avenue realignment project.
7. Approved the parade for the Holy Ghost Festival for May 22 for the IDESI of Novato.
8. Set May 31 as "Student Government Day."
9. Agreed to postpone the scheduled May 24 meeting until May 31.

Johnson Offers Aid In Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Labor executives telegraphed President Johnson yesterday asking "fullest possible support" in the solving of the shotgun slaying of two Painters Union leaders.

In its telegram, the AFL-CIO group said the slayings suggest "an evil plot against unions and union officials."

Killed were Dow Wilson, leader of Local 4 in San Francisco, and Lloyd Green, financial secretary for Local 1178 in Hayward. Wilson was shot April 5 and Green last Saturday, each after attending night union meetings.

Book Complaint Revision Asked

San Rafael School Form Raises Queries

The San Rafael City Schools' proposed new system for handling complaints about books and other instructional material was sent back for revision last night.

After comments from several residents, the San Rafael Board of Education agreed the policy should have a preamble stating that it does not stop a parent from complaining orally to the teacher.

"The first and most appropriate place to go is to the teacher," Board Member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said.

Board Member Anita C. Strom said she hoped that parents will have spoken to the teacher, department head or assistant superintendent before reaching the point of filing a complaint.

Under present policy a parent must file a complaint by filling out a form provided by the schools office.

Under the proposed policy, a parent could either fill out the form or submit a letter containing "substantiated reasons" for the complaint.

Supt. Bert C. Corona said the word "substantiated" was added because persons might object on the grounds of philosophy or general presentation, and "we feel we have to have details."

One resident objected to the form questions, "Are you aware of the judgment of this material by literary critics?" and "What do you believe is the theme of this material?"

He asked, "Are you going to grade us?"

"That's why I asked for the letter."

Theodore Lachelt, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, urged that the wording that the parent "may" present his complaint by either form or letter be changed to "must."

Paul L. Jones of Terra Linda countered that parents have a right to object orally. "A lot don't have time to document their objections," he said.

Board members assured him that the policy wouldn't stop a parent from talking to the teacher or principal before filing a complaint.

Mrs. Strom said filing of the complaint should not be the first step, but the "last step."

Another proposed revision is to have the review committee select its own chairman. There were objections to the original proposal to have assistant superintendent or his delegate act as chairman.

The board referred the proposed policy for inclusion of a preamble and the substitution of "must" for "may" regarding presentation of complaints by form or letter.

Mrs. John M. Douglas of 80 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael, said it is not clear at what point an inquiry becomes a complaint.

The board also received a proposed policy on complaints made against teachers and other staff members, but delayed full discussion until May 24 after Mrs. Strom said she got her copy too late to evaluate it before the board meeting.

Mrs. Strom also reported that she had received telephone calls from parents who wanted to discuss the proposed policy.

The policy calls for complaints to be "processed in a professional and respectful manner." Anonymous or second hand complaints will not be acknowledged.

The board received a letter from Mrs. Irene Pettit of Mill Valley, an English teacher at San Rafael High School, who has resigned, saying she was disturbed by the attitude of the board and administration toward the teachers.

"I refer to their failure to give as much weight to the professional judgment of teachers as to the criticism voiced by anonymous parents," she wrote.

Mrs. Pettit said she was "struck by the complete lack of support for the professional competence of the teachers. It was possible for those who complained anonymously to disrupt an entire program planned for those qualified to plant and teach."

The board agreed that its next agenda will be available a week in advance of the meeting. Under the present system, the agenda is prepared on Friday preceding the Tuesday board meetings.

Attorney Bella H. Aaron said letters must be submitted to the board by noon Friday, but an agenda is not available at that time. Therefore, there may be an item on the agenda that she would want to submit a letter about, but she wouldn't know about it until after the deadline for letters.

Mrs. Strom said that getting an agenda earlier would give board members more time "to do homework."

Board members agreed that the agendas available would be the full agendas, not the abbreviated form.

Tam High's Canteen Now Just Debris Pile

The much-maligned Canteen located at Stadium Avenue and Homestead Boulevard near Tamalpais High School has been flattened.

Tamalpais Fire Chief Herbert Owen said today that he arranged for demolition with the owner, Blanda Tealander of Mill Valley. It was carried out Monday.

Debris is in two piles awaiting disposal. Miss Tealander is paying for the razing, Chief Owen reported.

The former eating establishment, largely patronized by high school students, was object of three fires in recent months, all believed set by arsonists, plus a "bang-in" by youths in cars. The place went out of business over a year ago after it was declared "off campus" by the school administration.

YOUR ACHING BACK

By HANS KRAUS, M.D.
(Eighth in Series)

By now you will have tried the K-W exercises and know which ones you failed. If you have back trouble you will have checked with your doctor to be certain that exercise won't be harmful.

And now, knowing which K-W tests and which muscle problems you have, you are ready for the set of six general exercises.

These are the exercises to relax you and help strengthen muscles that will precede and end every exercise session. They are done in order 1-2-3-4-5-6 at the beginning of each session, and 6-5-4-3-2-1 at the end. Regardless which K-W test you failed, do all these general exercises.

To begin, strip down to your underclothes, take off your shoes and stockings, and lie on your back on a rug or pad on the floor. Get in a comfortable position. Put a pillow under your knees, a pillow under each arm, and another pillow or rolled-up towel under the back of your neck. Now, remember you do each exercise two or three times, and rest between each time.

EXERCISE 1.—Loosen up by wobbling your neck, your shoulders, arms, thighs and legs and feet. Raise your arms slowly, then let them drop. Do the same with your hands, legs and feet. Let your head drop to the left, then to the right. Take a deep breath—do not strain—exhale slowly.

Now try to feel heavy—let your head, shoulders, arms and legs rest on the floor. Do not keep them up even slightly by tensing your muscles.

Breathe again. Close your eyes. Let your jaw sag. Try to exhale as slowly as possible, humming or hissing.

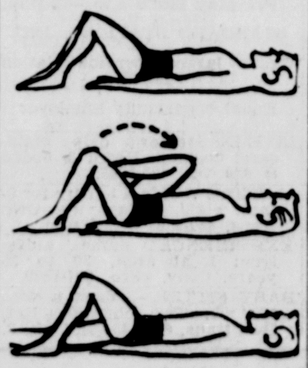
Tighten your arm muscles, then let go. The important thing is the letting go, not the tightening. The tightening is important only to make you feel the difference between tenseness and relaxation.

Breathe again, slowly lift your shoulders to your ears. Let them go, shrug.

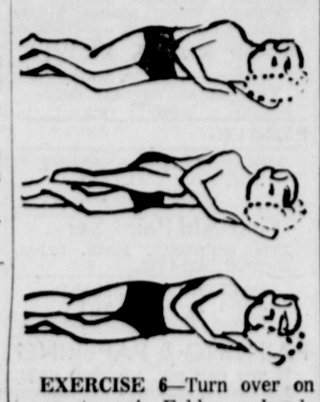
EXERCISE 2—Get up, sit on a chair, shrug your shoulders again. That's all there is to it.

EXERCISE 3—Turn your head all the way to the left. Then return it to the normal front and center and relax. Turn all the way to the right as far as you can, return, and let go. If you have a stiff neck, do this while sitting as well as lying down.

EXERCISE 4—Lie flat on your back with all pillows removed, this time with your knees flexed. Slowly draw your right knee up as close as possible to your chest. Slowly straighten your leg. Let it fall to the floor limp and relaxed. Pull up again to the flexed starting position. Now do the some thing with the other leg. Alternate legs.



EXERCISE 5—Lie on your left side, place a pillow under your head so it rests comfortably and your neck can relax. Keep both knees flexed and hips slightly flexed. Slide your right knee as close to your head as is comfortably possible, then slowly extend the leg until it is completely straight. Let the leg drop to the floor relaxed. Do the exercise two or three times on one side, then turn over to the other side and do the same thing with the other leg.



EXERCISE 6—Turn over on your stomach. Fold your hands under your head and let your head rest on your hands comfortably. Then tighten your seat muscles. Hold for two seconds, then relax.

That's all there is to the six general exercises. From here on out, you will have to know which of the K-W tests you failed to get your exercise prescription from the next set of corrective exercises.

You may have weak stomach muscles that need strengthening. You may have stiff back muscles, or you may find that you are tense.

Then again you may have a combination of weaknesses. But once you know your deficiencies, you can do prescribed exercises, designed to correct these specific difficulties. These are exercises with a purpose to right what is wrong with you.

You may have been given exercises previously and they may not have helped. Do not let that discourage you.

You may not have done the correct kind of exercise the right way for a long enough time. Perhaps you can decide this for yourself by answering the following questions:

Have you been given a muscle test before exercises were prescribed? If not, the chances are you were not given the correct exercises.

Were these exercises just given to you without detailed descriptions of how they were to be performed? If so, the chances are you didn't do them properly.

Were you supposed to do all the exercises at once, or were you given a gradually increasing sequence? If you were given the whole program at once, the chances are it was not effective.

Were you told to repeat each exercise many times, say five, ten, or more? If so, this may have been too much.

Have you done your exercises every day, gradually increasing the number of minutes up to 20 or 30 minutes, slowly, relaxed, and consistently, for several months? If not, again, you may have missed the boat—and ticket to a healthier life.

Tomorrow, we will describe the corrective exercises. Don't do them when you read them. The final article in the series will help you prescribe for yourself—on the basis of your K-W failures—which exercises and which sequence is right for you.

Tomorrow: Corrective exercises—read, but don't do them yet.

Southwest's Residents Eye Northern California Water

WASHINGTON (AP)— Northern California was suggested today as a potential source for more water for the Colorado River basin.

The suggestion was made at a House Interior subcommittee hearing on a bill to authorize the $1.6 billion Colorado River Basin Project. Included would be two big dams in Arizona, five smaller irrigation units in Colorado and a study into whether water should be imported from other river basins.

The import proposal has touched off some fireworks. Congressmen from the Pacific Northwest have protested what they call plans to raid Columbia River waters.

Northcutt Ely, California special assistant attorney general and special counsel for the Colorado River Board of California, was questioned on a 30 - page statement he read to the committee.

He said any import proposal would have to be approved by Congress and the affected states.

"No Columbia basin state may be deprived of protection except by its own consent given in an interstate compact," he testified. "By the same token, if California rivers, instead of the Columbia, are the source of the exported waters, California receives the same protection."

If Northern California provides the 2.5 million acre - feet of water estimated to be needed annually for diversion to the fornia will contribute a quantity Colorado River, Ely said, "Cali- of water which is several times the quantity that this bill would give us out of the Colorado."

Questioning of Ely was de - layed briefly by a committee dispute. The chairman, Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., an - nounced members would be restricted in questioning the witness, "or we'll be here a month."

Chinese Bomb Hottest Yet, Japanese Report

TOKYO (UPI) —Comminist China's third and biggest nuclear test explosion Monday produced radioactive fallout 200 times greater than fallout from its first explosion and 100 times greater than from its second, Japanese scientists reported today.

Prof. Takeo Kosaka of Niigata University said 29 were detected in Niigata Prefecture, on northern Japan's west coast which faces China, less than 48 hours after the blast.

Although the level of fallout was high, Kosaka said, it was not sufficient to endanger humans.

One of the particles registered a radioactivity of 500,000 counts or 1.5 million micro-microcuries. Its radioactivity was 100 times as great as that found in particles two days after the second Chinese test on May 14, 1965.

Particles detected in Niigata after the first Chinese test on Oct. 19, 1964, contained a radiation content of from 1,800 to 7,500 micro-microcuties.

Red China said the test materials," indicating that it may have been experimenting with a hydrogen bomb or a triggering device for such a bomb.

Kosaka said the nature and scope of the explosion could not be determined from the preliminary samples of radioactive debris detected so far. But he said first indications were that the bomb components were "very much like (those) of the second Chinese experiment."

Japanese scientists said detection of the radioactive debris came at least a day earlier from this Chinese test than from the two previous explosions, probably because it was carried on a "jet air current" from the test site in Western China.

Weathermen in Osaka, in central Japana, also reported they detected radioactivity in rain that fell last night. They had not yet determined the radioactive content, however.

Board Denies Lot Division

Marin County supervisors yesterday turned down the appeal of Alex and Loyal Davis for a lot split that would create two lots of 5,600 square feet each at Molino Avenue and Seymour Lane near Mill Valley, where the minimum lot size is 6,000 square feet.

Davis had 18 letters favoring his appeal. Stanley Sullivan of 359 Molino Avenue presented a petition with 18 signatures opposed.

Trial Date Set On Obstructing

Claude B. Burton, 21, of 33 Cole Drive, Marin City, is scheduled to stand trial in Marin Municipal Court July 11 on a charge of obstructing sheriff's officers from their duties during a Marin City riot April 4. Trial date was set yesterday.

Two other Marin City youths face felony assault charges, and two juveniles are charged in juvenile court in connection with the affray.

Deputies said the brawl, which saw an estimated 100 youths and some 28 officers clash, started over the throwing of a rock at a sheriff's vehicle.

LONDON (AP) — Liza Minelli, 20-year-old entertainer and daughter of singer Judy Garland, plans to marry in the fall, her agent says.

The agent said yesterday that Miss Minelli will marry Peter Allen, 22, an Australian lyric writer and composer. The wedding probably will be in California in September.

Committee Votes To Hike Wage Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Rules Committee today cleared for floor action legislation to raise the federal minimum wage by 35 cents to $1.60 an hour and extend coverage to seven million new workers.

The vote in closed session was 9 to 6.

The bill, backed by the Johnson administration, had been stalled in the committee since late March. House leaders now are expected to schedule it for debate within two weeks.

The measure would increase the minimum wage for about 30 million workers to $1.40 next Feb. 1 and to $1.60 a year later.

The wave floor for newly covered workers would start at $1 an hour next Feb. 1, and rise in 15-cent yearly steps to $1.60, except for 485,000 farm workers whose minimum would stop at $1.30.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Leprosy Becomes More Prevalent, But Vaccine May Stop Disease

VAN DELLEN

Leprosy (Hansen's disease) is twice as prevalent in the world today as it was 10 years ago, according to a British report.

The disease has been one of the last to receive the benefits of medical investigation, but research is catching up with the condition and two new preventives are promising.

BGG, the anti-tuberculosis vaccine, has been used as a prophylactic against the disease for at least a decade. A large scale BCG project was started in Uganda several years ago by the English and the preliminary results are most encouraging. The study involves more than 16,000 children under 10 years of age.

AT THE END of three years, 107 of these youngsters were leprous. Eighteen victims were among the 8,091 BCG vaccinated children whereas 89 were among the 8,071 unvaccinated youngsters. The figures 18 to 89 are significant.

A similar study is being conducted in India using dapsone as a prophylactic. The Indians selected 585 children living in homes where contact had been made with a leper. During the next two years 43 of the youngsters developed the disease: 14 in 291 contacts of the group receiving dapsone, and 29 in the 294 who received placebos.

Time will tell whether others will catch the disease. Leprosy is a slowly progressing chronic malady of variable course.

Three years is too short because some contract the disease only after years of exposure. All that can be said is that these procedures offer protection against the early forms of leprosy for at least 36 months.

NINETY PER CENT of the children develop the neural tuberculoid type which is less serious and spontaneous healing occurs occasionally. However, if untreated, severe nerve damage may ensue.

Less than 10 per cent develop the lepromatous form against which the individual has no natural resistance.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envolope accompanies request.)

WEIGHT LOSS, CANCER

Mrs. D. writes: Is there a type of intestinal cancer that a person can have and not lose weight?

REPLY

Early, yes; late, no. In this respect, weight loss is inevitable when the cancer is permitted to grow in its usual lawless fashion.

HIGH TONES

N. P. writes: Could you explain what hearing loss in the higher tones means?

REPLY

This type of hearing loss is referred to commonly as nerve deafness. Here the higher tones go first, which means that the sibilants such as "s" are indistinct.

VOICE MATURATION

P. O. K. writes: Can a man's voice be matured by treatment?

REPLY

It is conceivable that the voice could be deepened by speech training but medicines such as hormones will not be effective.

Rh AND JAUNDICE

Mrs. E. P. writes: Is it possible for Rh incompatibility to cause jaundice in a woman after the birth of the baby? I know the baby can develop jaundice.

REPLY

To my knowledge, this complication never develops.

San Rafael Planners Deny Gas Station In Loch Lomond Marina

Armed with an opinion by City Atty. David Menary, the San Rafael Planning Commission last night turned down Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s application to put a gasoline station in the Loch Lomond Marina shopping complex.

Menary told commissioners in a letter that he did not believe service stations were a proper use under the marina's commercial C-1 zoning.

The attorney said the city was not obligated to follow a "master plan" for this or any other project because there is no such thing mentioned in the zoning ordinance. But he said the planning commission and city council could follow such a plan if they chose.

This latter opinion, however, failed to settle a debate which started last month among commissioners as to whether they should have any more to do with the marina's master plan. Commissioners Pat Hetherton and Carl S. Brown, who have been on the commission since the plan was accepted, argued this was proper and that Menary's opinion did not make the plan any less binding.

Brown went so far as to say Menary might be wrong.

Commissioners rejected a request by attorney Roger P. Garety, representing Humble, that they consider changing the zoning ordinance to permit service stations in C-1 zones. But they agreed to consider including master plans in the ordinance.

They set June 28 and July 12 hearings on this and on reviewing the marina master plan—provided the ordinance change goes through. .

Two other actions — both of denials of architectural approval for advertising signs—renewed the often-voiced displeasure of sign maker Robert Bohanna.

One sign would have advertised Zenith appliances in the window of McPhail's Inc., 917 C Street. Acting City Planner Charles J. Linchicum said the store now has eight signs.

The second would have gone on the roof of Pearson Yacht Sales, 557 Francisco Boulevard, for which the commission approved another sign April 12.

Bohanna, who has long charged that commissioners unfairly interpret the zoning ordinance, promised once fore to fight it out with the city council.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Recommended that the city council amend the zoning ordinance to eliminate requirement for excavation permits when no dirt is taken on or off the site.

2. Granted Chrysler Corp. a permit for a Dodge agency at 1075 Francisco Boulevard, and granted a "subdivision" reducing five lots to two, after ironing out technical problems.

3. Granted Lafargue French Laundry a permit for commercial parking lot at 902 B Street, requiring that it be surfaced with asphalt.

4. Granted Leon C. Felton Co. a permit for an auto body repair shop at 102 Mill Street.

5. Moved first hearing on the San Rafael General Plan up to June 29. It had been set for July 5, but the commission will not meet that night.

Woman Dies With Plastic Bag On Head

Mrs. Phylone Noble Schwartz, 68, of 546 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley, was found dead with a plastic bag over her head at her home yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Bon of 39 Laurel Grove Avenue, Kentfield, went to Mrs. Schwartz's home at 5:15 p.m., but got no response when she knocked at the front door.

Mrs. Bon went to the back of the house and saw Mrs. Schwartz lying on her bed. Mrs. Bon entered with a key, found Mrs. Schwartz was dead, and called the Mill Valley fire and police departments.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley said today that Mrs. Schwartz had apparently been dead since Friday. She left a note dated Friday.

Mrs. Schwartz's husband, Roy John Schwartz, 69, died of a heart attack in a Mill Valley doctor's office April 11. The couple had no children.

Bradley said Mrs. Schwartz's sister, Mrs. Sylvia McKeon of Saratoga, had stopped in Mill Valley Saturday and called the home by phone, but no one answered.

Mrs. Schwartz was born in Oakland. She is survived by five sisters.

An autopsy will be performed at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Something was wrong with their street maps because the street over which thousands of cars were detoured turned out to be dead end.

It took hours to unsnarl the resulting traffic jam.

County Auctions Off Six Surplus Parcels

County supervisors yesterday sold six parcels of surplus property at public auction for a total of $18,345.

Most bids were offered on a buildable lot on Cardinal Road next to Coyote Creek in Tamalpais Valley. Robert Middagh, an employee of the county public works department, was the highest of eight bidders at $1,675. He was also the highest of five bidders at $3,555 on another buildable lot on Maple Street in the same area.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost called supervisors attention to the fact that Middagh was a county employee, working in the same department that arranged yesterday's sale. Supervisors agreed he had as much right to bid as anyone else.

Bringing top price was a lot and house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Rosebank Avenue, Kentfield, purchased by C. T. Ladd, of Bechtel Corp. for $13,020. A second lot and house next door brought no bid.

Joel B. Hart of Tiburon purchased three small parcels along Coyote Creek at $30, $35 and $50.

Growers Backed On Strawberries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Albert Tieburg, director of state Department of Employment, has endorsed a request by Salinas Strawberries Inc. for 1,000 imported Mexican workers and passed it on to the U.S. Department of Labor for decision.

Tieburg yesterday certified that the firm is guaranteeing a minimum wage of $1.40 an hour and offering other conditions to U.S. workers. The government requires that these conditions be met before a grower is eligible for Mexican workers.

Tieburg said that the recent failure of Northern California asparagus growers to meet the federal requirements kept them from getting his endorsement of their request for 1,500 Mexican workers and resulted in federal rejection of their bid.

Employment Now Highest Ever

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A total of 7,015,000 persons held jobs in California last month, the state history, the Department of Employment reported today.

The report showed employment was 330,000 higher than April of last year.

At the same time, the Department of Industrial Relations said the statewide unemployment rate was 4.6 per cent last month, the lowest figure in 6½ years. The rate was 4.9 per cent in March and 6.1 per cent in April a year ago.

Attention Earth People!

We have just received another message from Howard Benedict.

Howard Benedict at Cape Kennedy, standing in front of a giant missile tracking device, is wearing the splash suit required of all personnel in the launching area.

Every time something takes place or takes off from Cape Kennedy, we hear about it from Howard Benedict. And so do you.

Benedict is the chief aerospace writer for The Associated Press, and one of the chief reasons why our reports of the space program, from the first Alan Shepard flight in the Freedom 7 to the latest space feat, have been so complete and so authoritative.

In seven years, Benedict has witnessed more than 1200 countdowns and spent countless hours with every expert in the space program. He's as much up on the subject as anyone can be who hasn't been up in space.

Howard Benedict, of course, is just one of the many skilled AP reporters, writers, researchers and photographers covering the field. There are dozens of them, and they're all there just to make sure that we get all the news from space. Just so we can get it all to the earth people, our readers.

Everything that's going on, goes into our newspaper. That's why you get so much out of it.

TELEVISION REVIEW

CBS Takes On UFO In A Documentary

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Is it possible that there are more intelligent beings than those who inhabit this planet?

Is it possible that there aren't?

In one way or another, "CBS Reports" touched on these matters last night in a one-hour color documentary about unidentified flying objects entitled "UFO: Friend, Foe or Fantasy."

Quite naturally, the program, whose host and chief reporter was Walter Cronkite, was prompted by the alleged "sightings" of unidentified flying objects not long ago in Michigan.

And quite naturally, there could be no definite type of answer to the questions posed, though the hour was decidedly skeptical in its attitude toward flying saucers—while rather believing in its views on life evolving elsewhere.

A standard documentary format was employed in looking at the subject at hand. There was the usual history backdrop, and there were the interviews with alleged eyewitnesses of sightings, and there were the experts who were skeptical, and those who were not so skeptical.

One English authority, rather miffed at the possibly conceited attitude of earthlings who think they are the center of attraction of the entire universe, asked who we thought we were anyway?

"We're a potty, fifth-rate lot," he suggested.

Other points, however, were brought up. One of them was the oft-repeated charge by some believers that the truth is being covered up by the military establishments. Of course this was denied.

Then there was the suggestion that as a result of illusions, reflections and other tricks of nature, there has really been less there than meets the eye.

Then there was the rather sure that the undertaker of a Michigan town is also the Civil Defense director.

In addition to the recent focal area of Michigan, last night's program was also filmed in California, Colorado and Britain, but not even "CBS Reports" was able to solve the dilemma.

The same network, by the way, has two more rather timely hour documentaries coming up in the next week:

On Friday, it will offer a broadcast about the current auto safety controversy. One of the guests is Henry Ford II, and another is lawyer Ralph Nader, whose book "Unsafe At Any Speed" and congressional testimony have been key highlights of the arguing.

Next Tuesday, CBS-TV will have a program about "The Use of the Powerful and Controversial Drug LSD—not its headlined use by young people seeking thrills but its use as an important tool in serious research in the field of mental medicine."

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Official election returns from last week's Democratic party primary show that Mrs. George C. Wallace, aspiring to succeed her governor-husband, dealt nine male opponents a more thorough defeat than was first thought.

Terra Linda Inks Poverty Firemen Pact

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District last night approved a contract with College of Marin for employment of four students as assistant firemen in the Terra Linda Department at $2 an hour.

The agreement was made under the War on Poverty program, aimed at providing employment for low-income students. The federal government will provide 90 per cent of the cost, District Secretary Mrs. Cleo D. Murray reported.

Directors accepted the resignation of chairman W. H. Beckstead. An engineer with the State Division of Highways, Beckstead is to be transferred to Sacramento.

Director Richard L. Less was named to replace him as Chairman, and Alan Shattuck was named to fill the vacancy on the board.

Shattuck was an opposed candidate for director and was to be appointed by supervisors after the June 7 election to replace Beckstead, who had not sought another term.

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District also:

1. Set for 9 p.m., June 14, adoption of the preliminary budget for fiscal 1967, and for 9 p.m., June 28, a public hearing prior to adoption of the final budget. Both will be at the Terra Linda Community Center.

2. Heard from Less that Pacific Gas and Electric Co. plans improvement of street lighting on Del Ganado Road and Las Gallinas Avenue at no cost to the district.

3. Adopted a resolution seeking annexation of Terra Linda Terrace, a tract proposed on the South side of the district. The County Planning Commission approved preliminary map on the tract on condition that all of it is annexed to the Terra Linda Community Services and Recreation and Parks districts.

Swivel Chair Injury

Terry V. Sullivan, 38, of 90 Eagle Drive, Novato, an employee of Sears Roebuck and Co., was given first aid by Mill Valley firemen Monday, then taken to a doctor for stitches, after a swivel chair fell on his right knee, causing a deep cut. He was delivering furniture when the accident happened.

Quail Hill Townhouse Plan Gains Approval

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night put its blessing on the Draper Companies' plan to put 216 townhouses and 34 conventional houses on Quail Hill, west of the Northgate Shopping Center.

Action came after a 30-minute hearing in which members of the Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Assn. said Draper had eliminated all of the features which had stirred their violent opposition to two previous plans for the hill.

Commissioners unanimously recommended that the city council zone the 82-acre hill as a planned community district, then approved a use permit with eight conditions attached.

One condition requires that the unfinished link of Nova Albion Way be completed at the same time Draper carries out the first phase of the project, whatever that may be. Another, requiring a pedestrian easement through one corner of the area, was added when engineer Carlos Gonzalez said this was planned anyway.

Attorney William G. Corrigan, representing Draper, said open areas will be owned by a nonprofit corporation, in which each person who buys a home on the hill will become a stockholder.

Gonzalez said the San Rafael High School District has talked of paying half the cost of completing Nova Albion Way. He tried in vain to get commissioners to word their conditions so Draper would only be bound to finish half the street.

He got some sympathy on this point from commissioners Carl S. Brown and Thomas R. O'Toole, but Chairman Fred C. Robbins said he would not hear of it.

The developer must see to it that the whole road is done, said Robbins, "and if you can't get the school district to improve half, that's just tough."

First plan for Quail Hill, submitted in 1964, called for 1,200 units. The second, last year, reduced the number to 949 units. Each was turned down by the city council.

The new plan, unlike the others, will call for sale rather than rental of each unit. Like the others, it will use one acre at the southeast corner for administrative-professional buildings.

Homeowners Active

Bayside Acres Homeowners Assn. has been re-formed after several years inactivity and Wallace Curtis is the new president.

Other officers are John Bradley, vice-president; R. E. Thawley, treasurer, and Mrs. Daniel Polak, secretary.

Park Budget Up In Terra Linda

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District last night adopted for study a preliminary budget setting expenditures for fiscal 1967 at $75,700, up about $2,000 from the current year.

The district's tax rate will remain unchanged at the legal limit of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, bringing in a total of about $28,000, Recreation Director James Hand reported. Other revenues will come from fees charged for various district programs.

Public hearing on the budget was tentatively set for 8 p.m. June 8, at the Recreation Center.

Giants Keep It Alive: Nine Down, Juan To Go

PITTSBURGH (AP) — For a while it looked as if the trade had been made a little too early.

Here the San Francisco Giants were battling the Pittsburgh Pirates without either Willie McCovey or Orlando Cepeda. But they managed to win their ninth straight last night by beating Pittsburgh 2-1 in 15 innings, extending their National League lead to 3½ games over the second-place Pirates.

The only extra base hit the Giants got all night came off the bat of starting pitcher Bob Bolin. He tripled in the fifth and came home on Tito Fuentes' infield hit that tied the score.

Earlier in the day, Cepeda made his debut for St. Louis and hit a homer as the Cards beat Chicago 4-2. Cepeda was traded Sunday for Ray Sadecki because the Giants considered they needed a left-handed starter and didn't need two first basemen.

But the Giants didn't have even one regular first baseman after the second inning because McCovey re-pulled a muscle in his right leg and had to leave the game after singling.

The injury was not believed serious and the move was considered precautionary because of the cold weather. The game started in 44-degree temperature and the thermometer read 35 when the game ended 3 hours and 46 minutes later.

McCovey could play tonight when Juan Marichal goes for his seventh victory without a defeat. Don Schwall was the probable opponent.

The Giants won last night on a 15th inning bases-loaded force play and survived a shaky bottom of the inning when the Pirates put men on first and third with one out.

After Tom Haller led off the 15th with a single off losing reliever Bob Purkey, the Pirates fouled up a force play at second with both runners safe. Frank Linzy loaded the bases with a single.

Fuentes flied out too shallow for an advance but Len Gabrielson, playing his first major league game at first base, hit into the force at second that scored Haller with the winning run.

But ex-Giant Matty Alou and Roberto Clemente singled in the 15th off the winning Linzy. Ex-Pirate Joe Gibbon entered at this point and got pinch-hitter Andre Rodgers to hit into a game-ending doubleplay.

Pittsburgh manager Harry Walker put on a special new shift against Willie Mays. The third baseman stood on the line, the shortstop moved toward third and the second baseman played on the left field side of the bag. It went into effect after Mays singled in the first inning and it worked.

Mays went one-for-six and the shift took a base hit away from him in the eighth inning when second baseman Bill Mazeroski stopped a ball from leaving the infield and threw Mays out at first.

New Cardinal First Baseman Looks A Lot Like Cepeda . . .

"Say, Chub . . ."

"Yes, Horace?"

"That's a mighty fine looking first baseman the Cardinals have. What did you say his name was and where did they get him?"

"Uh . . . well . . . sure is a nice day today, eh, Horace?"

"Chubbykins, you are evading my question . . ."

"Well, Horace, I don't remember. Everything is blank. I guess they brought him up through their farm system. Ha-ha, yep, that's it, farm system."

"HMMM. MIGHTY fine looking young man. Big and strong, popular with the fans, bright smile, and oh, such POWER! Sure reminds me a lot of that feller we have on the bench. That Cepeda feller. Wonder why Herman hasn't used Cepeda lately. Especially since I boldly declared back in May that he would not be traded."

"Hey, Horace, look at that little blonde broad down there in Section 5!"

"BOY, THAT Cardinal first baseman has been murdering us, Chub. Especially the day before yesterday when he hit that grand slam in the ninth; and yesterday when he doubled home the winning run; and just last inning when he hit Hunter's Point. On the fly. Boy, I can't get over how much he looks like our boy Cepeda that I insisted I wouldn't trade. Why, he even limps like him."

"Aw, come on, Horace, let's go get a soda pop and talk about something else."

'YES, CHUBBY, quite a slugger, that Card first sacker. Thought I'd die when he hit four homers off that new southpaw pitcher you got for me. What's that lefty's name—Sadistic, or something?"

"That's Sadecki, Horace, and just because he's lost 10 straight games, you don't have to be so facetious, you old smartie pants."

"WELL, THAT'S okay, Chub. You've made some good trades for me, getting rid of Stu Miller and Bill White and Ernie Broglio and those two Alou boys and Billy O'Dell and Jose Cardenal and . . ."

"Oh, shush your mouth, Horace."

"AND REMEMBER the time you talked me into paying $150,000 bonus for that Santa Clara pitcher, Bob Gibraltar, or something? Ha-ha, you little devil you, Chubby."

"Please, Horace, you are making me ill."

"WELL, I'LL let bygones be bygones, Chubbykins, but I'm sure glad I didn't let you talk me into trading Cepeda for a left-handed pitcher earlier this season. Remember when I told the press Cepeda was not trade bait. Why, I wouldn't have traded him for the world, and I told everybody just that. The press was sure suspicious when you flew to St. Louis on May 8. They said you were going to trade Cepeda for some lefty. Ha! Sure glad I stopped you. I did, didn't I, Chubby?"

"UH, LISSEN, Horace. I got a great trade cooking with the Cards. We give them that new left handed pitcher, along with McCovey, Mays, Hart, Marichal, me, my wife and kids, your new Cadillac, a year's lease on Big Al's topless joint, Russ Hodges, the south tower of the Golden Gate Bridge and a two-year subscription to the Independent-Journal, serving all of Marin County."

"Yes, Chub, but who will we get in return?"

ELSEWHERE AROUND THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

Koufax, Cepeda Star; Reds Sweep Pair

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quick, sprinkle salt on their tails before the Los Angeles Dodgers steal the National League pennant again.

Walt Alston's go-go boys and their chief second story man, Maury Wills, ran all around the Philadelphia Phillies last night with their oldtime speed and their oldtime Sandy Koufax producing a 6-1 victory.

Wills stole three bases, Lou Johnson two and Ron Fairly one but Alston denied the six steals meant Los Angeles would be running regularly now.

"Sometimes you can run," Alston said, "and sometimes you can't. That's the way we're going to play it too. We're going to keep them guessing."

Koufax, whose lengthy holdout cut deeply into his spring training, pitched a strong six-hitter, striking out 10 and winning his fourth game in five decisions.

The performance had to please Alston, whose ace was shelled from the mound in two innings against San Francisco last week. "He came up with a sore elbow in San Francisco and it worried me a bit," Alston admitted.

"He's looking better every game he pitches," the manager added.

Koufax said he still does not feel as strong as he would like. "The curve could be better, and the fast ball too," he said.

"He's pretty good," said Mauch, "even when he's not at his best."

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, St. Louis blanked Chicago 8-0, Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Atlanta 8-2, 8-0, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 2-1 in 15 innings and New York bested Houston 7-4.

The Dodgers had stolen 21 bases in their first 25 games but the six against the Phillies accounted for their biggest one-game haul. It was Wills' second three-steal game and pulled his season's total to 11.

"It's the first time all season, I felt really good," Wills said. "I had a good jump on the pitcher and that's what counts."

Fairly's two-run double was the big hit for the Dodgers in the first inning as they gave Koufax a quick 3-0 lead against Chris Short. That was all Sandy needed.

Orlando Cepeda, acquired from the Giants just two days earlier, poled his first homer for St. Louis and three other Cardinal homers made it easy for Bob Gibson, who pitched a six-hitter. Gibson, Mike Shannon and Curt Flood hit the other homers.

Jim Maloney and Milt Pappas pitched the Reds to their sweep over the Braves, who managed just seven hits in the doubleheader.

Maloney, out two weeks with an arm ailment, gave Atlanta a pair of first inning runs in the opening game and then shut them out on one hit until the eighth when Don Nottebart came in to finish up. Pappas hurled a four-hitter in the nightcap.

Pete Rose had three hits and Tony Perez and Leo Cardenas drove in two runs apiece in the second game after the Reds pumped 14 hits including a two-run homer by Deron Johnson to win the opener.

Dick Selma worked four and two-thirds innings of sharp relief and the Mets pounded three homers to defeat Houston. Selma permitted just three singles, all of them in the ninth inning. Johnny Lewis, Ken Boyer and Jim Hickman homered for New York.

Russell No. 1 Pick In NBA

The 6-foot-5½, 218-pound athlete scored 800 points last season and ranked third in the nation among the major college performers with a 30.8-point average.

New York, last in the Eastern Division, won the right to make the first pick by a flip of the coin with Detroit, which had finished last in the Western Division of the league.

Russell, 21, was the most valuable player in both the East-West college all-star game and the AAU tournament in which he led the Dearborn (Mich.) Mustangs to the title.

Detroit chose Dave Bing, 6-3 Syracuse University guard, who was the fifth highest scorer in the nation with a 28.4 average.

WARRIOR PICK

San Francisco, with the third pick, selected Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, who averaged 22.7 for the season. Lee, 6-9 and 220 pounds, has said he will play in Italy next year.

St. Louis picked Lou Hudson of Minnesota. He's a 6-5, 207-pounder.

Baltimores' pick was Jack Marin of Duke, who is 6-6, 200 pounds. He was the leading scorer for Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference champions, with 558 points.

Then came:

Boston — Jim Barnett, Oregon, 6-4, 180.

Philadelphia — Mass Goukas, St. Joseph's (Philadelphia), who has announced he will play another year of college ball.

BYE-BYE, CEPEDA

Orlando Cepeda, traded by the Giants Sunday, starred in his first game for St. Louis yesterday, hitting home run (shown here) and single, driving across two runs and scoring two in 8-0 Cardinal victory at Chicago. Cub catcher is Randy Hundley; ump is John Pryor. (UPI Telephoto)

New Soccer League To Import Players

NEW YORK (UPI) —Eleven teams in cities throughout the nation will form the proposed North American Professional Soccer League, the first major soccer league in the United States, with play scheduled to begin in the fall of 1967.

Robert Hermann of St. Louis, president of the league, and William Cox, president and founder of the International Soccer League, announced yesterday the teams would represent Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Diego, San Francisco and Hartford, Conn.

The U.S. Soccer Football Assn., which governs the sport in the United States, has not yet given official sanction to the new league but has scheduled a meeting later this week to consider formation of such a league and possible franchises. No decision is expected until next month.

"We decided simply to take the bull by the horns and make our announcement now," Cox said, in announcing the league's inception at a press luncheon. "Several of our club owners flew to England last week for a personal meeting with Sir Stanley Rous of Federation International de Football Assn. FIFA and we have his blessing."

Cox also made clear that the new league would make use of about 200 imported players for the first few years. Many would be younger European and Latin American players until a college draft procedure and system for developing young American players was established.

More Trout Stocked In Marin Waters

Lagunitas Lake, Bon Tempe Lake, Rodeo Lagoon and Nicasio Reservoir are scheduled to be stocked with catchable-size rainbow trout this week, it was announced today by the Department of Fish and Game.

Champagne Flows For Maple Leafs

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) —The Victoria Maple Leafs took the Lester Patrick Cup home today, after winning it Tuesday night with a decisive 5-1 hockey victory over the Portland Buckaroos.

Goal tender John Henderson blunted the Portland attack with 40 saves while a Victoria line of Larry Keenan, Mike Labadie and Dick Lamoureux accounted for four goals and seven assists.

Portland was denied in its attempt to become the first Western Hockey League team to win both the regular season title and the cup in successive years.

Champagne flowed in the Victoria dressing room after the victory, and coach Frank Mario would up in the showers.

Aussie Giant-Killer Wins Italian Tennis

ROME (AP)—Australia's Tony Roche, the upset sensation of the tournament, defeated a discouraged Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy 11-9, 6-1, 6-2 today to win the men's singles of the Italian International Tennis Tournament.

PREP BASEBALL

Novatan Pitches 2-0 Masterpiece

Novato righthander Wayne Jones pitched a one-hitter to pace the Novato High School baseballers to a 2-0 victory over Drake High School yesterday on the winners' field.

The game was originally scheduled for Drake, but a swampy diamond caused the game to be switched to Novato.

Jones, a senior, had pin-point control and didn't walk a batter. And since his teammates played air-tight defense without an error, just one man reached the basepaths for Drake. It was catcher Don Alvarado who slammed a line drive to left field in the third inning. He stole second base and died there, making the third base coach for San Rafael a very lonely boy.

Novato scored its two runs in the top of the third. Ev Fritz and Frank Perachiotti had back-to-back singles and then shortstop Tom Corder struck out. John Dolinsek, Novato first baseman-pitcher who has tossed a no-hitter this year, slammed a single to score Fritz, and then Perachiotti scored on Tom Owens' grounder that went through the shortstop for an error. Dolinsek had a perfect 3-for-3 day.

Jones, now 2-0 in league play, struck out nine. Roy Bunt, losing hurler for Drake, fanned eight and walked one, and allowed five hits.

The triumph kept the Hornets in first place in Marin Athletic League standings one-half game in front of Marin Catholic. On the other end of the scale, Drake iststill looking for its first win after nine league losses.

'Keane A Man Of Principles And He Must Live With Himself . . .'

HANLEY

PITTSBURGH—"Johnny Keane is a man of principles and must live with himself," said Bing Devine when Keane resigned as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals less than 24 hours after they won the 1964 World Series from the Yankees.

Had Keane been a man of flexible principles or pride he still would be managing the Cardinals with a long term contract at $60,000 a year instead of being a jobless ex-Yankee manager who just got the sack.

THE STORY behind Keane's present disappointments goes back to August of 1964 when the Cardinals seemed hopelessly out of the National League race that year, 11 games off the pace. Gussie Busch fired Devine, St. Louis general manager, and there were strong reports that he intended to fire Keane as soon as the season ended.

THEN, THE Cardinals won the pennant on the last day as the Phillies faded and the Reds failed in the final week on their home lot in Crosley Field. Busch, a very happy club owner whose joy was unrestrained when the Cardinals won the World Series, went to the St. Louis dressing room and tried to force a handsome contract on Keane. But Keane declined to talk contract.

It was a most embarrassing moment for the disillusioned millionaire owner of the team. However, it was nothing compared with the embarrassment to which he was subjected the next morning when Keane not only announced his resignation but disclosed he had been carrying the letter of resignation in his pocket for a month.

BUSCH MUST have felt like an old-time slapstick comedy stooge who had a pie pushed in his face. The warm afterglow every club owner enjoys following a World Series victory was short-lived for Busch. Keane saw to that in his retributive humiliation of Busch while keeping faith with his own fierce pride and inflexible principles.

KEANE, HIRED immediately by the Yankees, acted the way he did in leaving an organization with which he spent all 35 years of his baseball career out of loyalty to his good friend Devine. He didn't forgive Busch for firing Devine. But there was another reason, too, for the way he acted and once again it involved his pride and principles.

"I wasn't disparaging Keane," Groat said later in an apology he made to Keane in front of the Cardinal team, an apology that Keane and Devine insisted he make.

BUSCH HEARD about the incident that occurred early in August. Shortly thereafter Devine was fired. And the word was that Keane was next on Busch's dismissal list. But Keane subsequently beat his boss to the punch in preserving his pride and principles, a very costly punch in view of what ultimately happened.

Marin 'Cats Nip Troy 3-2

Staying on the heels of front-running Novato, Marin Catholic nipped Terra Linda High School 3-2 yesterday in Marin Athletic League baseball action on the Wildcats' diamond.

A bases loaded single by Dave Edson accounted for Terra Linda's two runs in the top of the third inning, but Marin Catholic came back with three of its own in the bottom of the sixth.

Joe Adams singled and then went to second on a passed ball and scored on shortstop Bob Lombardi's single. Lombardi got all the way around to third on an outfield error and then scored on an infield error. Catcher John Komo, who had got on base as a result of that infield error, eventually was squeezed home on a bunt from rightfielder Rick Denning, good for the winning run.

Ben Burch got the win for Marin Catholic, although needing relief help from Brian King in the seventh. Burch fanned four and walked three. In addition he got two singles in two at bats. Ed Beckley was Terra Linda's losing pitcher.

Buldogs Bop Redwood 5-2

A three-run rally in the top of the eighth inning pushed the San Rafael High School baseballers past Redwood 5-2 yesterday on the Redwood field in Larkspur.

The triumph kept the Bulldogs in the thick of the hectic Marin Athletic League scramble. San Rafael is now 5-3 and Redwood 4-5.

Redwood scored two runs in the bottom of the second, but San Rafael came back with one in the third and another in the fourth. After going through the regulation seven innings tied 2-2, the Bulldogs got to reliever Bill Poole for a walk and four straight singles—in the eighth.

Joe Cunningham, Sam Crowell, Jay Widmer and Rocky Shone all rapped hits, Crowell, Widmer and Shone driving in runs with theirs. Barry Stockwell came in to put out the fire, getting his man to fly out.

Mike Donahoo rapped two doubles for San Rafael, and Crowell had three singles in four trips. Joe Cunningham went the distance on the mound for the Bulldogs, striking out four and walking two-while limiting the Giants to just two hits.

Tam 'B' Swim Team Wins Championship

Malcolm Foster notched a pair of first place victories as Tamalpais High School's swimming team dumped the visiting Redwood Giants, 60-34, culminating the dual meet Marin Athletic League season for both teams, yesterday.

The Tam Class B mermen climaxed their campaign as victors of the MCAL championship with an unblemished 10-0 mark, and they won every practice meet, too.

Foster won the 100 fly in 1:02.5, and copped the 400 free, 4:41.3. And for the freshly crowned "Bees", Eric Young and John McClellan were both double winners.

The Tam varsity finished fourth in the final team standings with a 5-5 won-lost record, while the Giants were sentenced to help Novato's Hornets support the ladder until next year's campaign, both teams winding up with a lack-luster 1-9 mark.

Redwood Hands Tam 1st Loss; Drake, Novato Win

Redwood High School's tennis team handed Tamalpais High its first Marin Athletic League net loss yesterday, the Giants winning 3-2 on the Tam courts.

It was a hotly contested meeting, with two of the five matches going three sets and another taking more than an hour to complete. That marathon match was in singles action, Redwood's Ward Johnson defeating Tam's Ray Harper, 8-6, 9-7.

Mitch Fink and Jim Bedilion of Redwood earned the right to compete in the North Coast Section tournament next Saturday when the doubles team bested Tam's Dave Griffeath-Bill Clark duo, 6-3, 3-6, 10-8.

In other league matches yesterday, Drake whipped Marin Catholic 4-1 and Novato beat Terra Linda by the same score. Drake's Mark Vance, a junior, won his 14th match without a loss, and will be representing the Marin Athletic League in the singles portion of the North Coast Section tournament Saturday at Cal State, Hayward, beginning at 9 a.m.

SWIMMING CHAMPS

San Rafael Wins 44th Straight

San Rafael High School's mermen yesterday wound up their 1966 dual meet season by winning their 10th straight Marin Athletic League meet of the year, crushing Terra Linda's visiting Trojans, 63-32.

It was San Rafael's 44th consecutive league victory without defeat in four-plus campaigns, and adding luster to the MCAL crown which they clinched last Friday.

The Bulldogs have won the crown four years in a row, and won their last six league meets of 1962 before embarking on that incredible championship record.

That's a helluva indication the San Rafael splashers will more than make their presence felt in the MCAL trials, slated for 4 p.m. Friday. The finals, which are expected to get underway at 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon, will follow Saturday morning's eliminations, scheduled for 9 a.m. at Novato High School.

With the 200 medley relay team starting it off, San Rafael grabbed the lead after the first event, and limited the Terra Lindans to just two firsts the rest of the way. Bulldogs Bill Cannedy and Dave Strauss both breezed to two first place finishes, Cannedy taking the 200 and 400-yard freestylye events, and Strauss capturing the 50 and 100 free. Both have turned in better times than they did yesterday.

In a surprise triumph for San Rafael and a stunning defeat for Terra Linda, Scott Hewett racked up 201 points in diving competition, his best ever, out-doing Trojan ace Bob Keller, who has registered 224.6 points this season, tops in the county.

In Class B competition, Bullpups Randy Kline and Steve Strange each won two events to lead San Rafael to victory over Terra Linda's lightweight aquamen. Frank Seewester was a double winner of the Trojans "Bees."

Drake Whips Novato High In Swim Meet

Drake High's 200-yard medley relay team raced to a record-breaking clocking of 1:46.9 as the Drake aquamen thrashed Novato, 58-37; and the Pirates' Class B swimmers made it a clean sweep for the visiting San Anselmo preps, winning their first league meet of the season, 45-41, in Marin Athletic League competition, yesterday.

Drake's old school standard of 1:47.3 rated as the best time churned in that even in the county this season. It's still better than any other MCAL squad has done. Tamalpais High, with a 1:48.1, is the closest competitor for the top spot.

Novato got some satisfaction out of the final dual meet of the season for both teams when, in the last event on the menu, its 400 free relay team established a new school standard, 3:54.0.

They made precious little of their Bourbon, but what they made came up precious good. Rich and full. And so incredibly smooth that the Hill cousins were able to sell their whiskey for three times the going price.

Today, Hill & Hill is still made the same old way. As patiently as the Hill cousins meant it to be.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Happy Valentine Clobbers Angels

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Valentines everywhere have their day in February, but Washington's Valentine has had two in May.

He certainly didn't have any in March.

This Valentine, named Fred, lashed four hits for the second straight game last night, sparking the Senators to a 4-1 victory over California.

Rapping eight hits in his last 10 times at bat, Valentine has raised his average 71 points, from .229 to .300. He battered Angel pitching for three singles and a homer Monday night, then came back last night with a single, two doubles and a triple.

Life wasn't so romantic for Valentine during spring training. In the last three weeks of March, he was hit by baseballs five times, and he hit a catcher once and a wall once.

In fact, it seemed as if he were a better target than milk bottles at an amusement park booth.

On March 12 he was hit by a Frank Howard grounder and suffered with a sore ankle for a week. On March 15 he chased Curt Blefary's fly ball into a fence and was dizzy for the rest of the game.

If the 31-year-old outfielder's love affair with baseball had diminished any by this time, it could have been extinguished altogether in the last few days of the month.

On March 28 Jim Grant tried to pick Valentine off first but hit him on the shoulder. Two days later Valentine was hit on the head by Jack Fisher's pickoff throw, then was hit in the head by a pitch from Jack Hamilton.

The end of the month finally came but not before the valient Senator, running from first to second, was hit in the back by Gony Horton's throw for an attempted force play.

"It's better these things have happened now than in the season," Valentine philosophized.

It's better, too, that the hits happened now than in the spring.

The other three American League games ended 3-2, Baltimore edging Chicago in 12 innings, Kansas City trimming Boston in 10 and Detroit nipping Cleveland in nine. Rain washed out New York at Minnesota.

Valentine's lusty performance provided more than enough support for Pete Richert, who stopped the Angels on three hits. Valentine tripled and scored in the first inning and triggered a two-run eighth with a double.

Brooks Robinson singled in the 12th inning and scored Baltimore's winning run as Russ Snyder grounded into a force out. J. C. Martin's passed ball put Robinson at third. Another Robinson, Chicago's Floyd, ignited a two-run rally in the seventh that tied the game 2-2.

Bill Freehan singled in the Detroit ninth and raced home on Willie Horton's pinch-hit double. Mickey Lolich limited Cleveland to three hits before departing for Horton.

Kansas City won in the 10th inning when Ozzie Chavarria reached first on Mike Ryan's passed ball on the third strike, stole second and scampered all the way home as Bert Campaneris beat out a hit to third.

Indy 500 Record By Andretti

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Mario Andretti became the man to beat for the pole in the Indianapolis 500 yesterday, whisking around the speedway at unofficial record speed of nearly 165 miles per hour.

The dazzling performance by the national driving champion highlighted the busiest practice day yet and overshadowed the first two accidents, both minor, since the 2½-mile oval opened April 30.

Andretti was piloting the same rear-engine Ford in which he finished third last year, winning "Rookie of the Year" honors. The record will not be official because all records must be established during qualification, not practice, runs. They begin Saturday.

The unofficial mark came in mid-afternoon on a chilly but sunny day, certainly not ideal for racing. Andretti, a 26-year-old native Italian, clipped off four laps in about 164 m.p.h. then hit 164.5.

Five other drivers, including two-time winner A.J. Foyt, also surpassed the 160-mph mark. Foyt and George Snyder were clocked at 162.1 mph, Dan Gurney at 161.6, Carl Williams at 161.2 and Gordon Johncock at 160.1.

Britain's Graham Hill, former world grand prix champion, made his first practice Hill made his debut here three years ago but did not try to qualify because of no time to prepare.

Little Leaguer Hurls No-Hitter

GOLF TOURNAMENT

Extra Goodies For New Orleans Event

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In addition to the $100,000 purse in the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tourney, eight pros have a good crack at some Lagniappe —which is Louisiana French for an added extra special tidbit.

The Lagniappe for the tournament which gets under way tomorrow over the demanding Lakewood Country Club course, is the Seymour Weiss All-America Gold Cup, plus $5,000 cash.

Weiss, a retired hotel man and onetime associate of the late Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, annually puts up the cup—valued at $1,500—and $8,500 in cash for the pro having the lowest aggregate score for the U.S. Open, PGA, Masters and Greater New Orleans Open tournaments.

The other seven within striking distance are slimmed down Billy Casper at 870, young Raymond Floyd at 871, Doug Sanders at 872, Gay Brewer Jr., 874, Julius Boros 876, Gardiner Dickinson Jr., 878 and Frank Beard 879.

Nicklaus, who tied for fourth in last year's Greater New Orleans, won the gold cup and the $5,000 in cash that goes with it a year ago.

Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Sanders and other top stars of the play-for-pay ranks got their first look of the year at Lakewood today in the $5,000 pro-am preliminary.

The nonexempt pros qualified for 40 spots yesterday with Wayne Yates, a youngster from Atlanta, showing the way with a five-under par 67. Yates will be making his fourth start on the PGA circuit.

Ken Lawrence, the Lakewood club pro, predicted Tuesday a 276 for 72 holes would win this year's first prize money of $20,000, provided the weather holds. There were heavy rains throughout the week, but three days of sunshine has dried out the course.

'Li'l League For Kids, NOT Adults'

"Little League baseball is great, but sometimes adults take it much too seriously, instead of letting the kids have fun while they are learning fundamentals of the game.

"There is too much overemphasis of winning or losing for an 8 or 9-year-old, who should be having fun and finding out about team-work on his own."

Musial, a vice president of the Cardinals, and here for a series with the Chicago Cubs, said the National Physical Fitness program was progressing well.

"Trained staffs are demonstrating techniques of fitness training for teachers throughout 50 states," he said. "Many states have strengthened fitness programs for youth at neighborhood levels and in industrial plants."

Clay's Witless Fight With 'Ammering 'Ennery

Cassius Marcellus Clay, the 6-foot 3-inch theologian, the only major power who has not yet taken a stand on Viet Nam, is still busy running a million-dollar business into a nickel, I see. The world heavyweight championship, which was once at least as good as a seat on the Stock Exchange or a marked deck in a riverboat game, is headed for receivership.

IT WAS Jack Hurley, quondam fight manager, promoter and advance man for any kind of a clip game, who once said, "God deliver me from amateurs!" Cassius Clay's entourage has more bonafide amateurs than the Davis Cup squad.

THEY HAVE already dynamited two heavyweight "naturals" in the same night. By the time they got through with the Clay-Ernest Terrell match—which would only have determined which was the REAL heavyweight champion of the world—not even Terrell showed up. The fight had started out in New York, but the Board of Health or somebody ran it out of town. When last seen, it was heading through more tank towns than a goldbrick salesman.

WHEN A BIG fight like that blows up on you, the card to play is the joker. You hustle your chauffeur or your best friend in the ring, or you round up some neurasthenic challenger from the Medicare wait-list and promise to coast with him for seven or eight rounds and not kill him.

Clay's corporation, which ironically, calls itself "Main Bout Inc." and is run by a football player and a couple of guys whose sole qualification is they once subscribed to the Police Gazette, quickly substituted George Chuvalo, a guy whose grasp exceeds his reach, but who was the only really legitimate challenger to the title on the horizon.

CHUVALO SHOULD have been saved for a big outdoor shot in some major league city with a two-month buildup. Here he was pushed into the ring in a quasi-barge fight in a stopover town with a buildup so short the promoters had to phone a few close friends the afternoon of the fight, otherwise the audience would have consisted of the referee and a timekeeper. As a theater attraction, it was a bigger bust than Anna Sten.

LIKE JOE LOUIS, Cassius feels the necessity for fighting often to keep his competitive edge. But Louis was always careful not to use anybody who could be publicized up to major challenger status—any guy who had a "cosmic" punch, a beer belly silhouette or a light-heavyweight championship was saved for the carriage trade. Louis let the pros run his career. Cassius settles for 10 cents on the dollar.

CASSIUS IS taking the act to Blighty next. He's going to fight 'Ammering 'Ennery Cooper, the guy who has so many stitches in his face that if you look close, you can see Warren Giles' signature on it. 'Ammering 'Ennery owes his success to the fact his blood clots. Ringsiders bring their umbrellas when he fights.

HE'S WORKING on a winning streak of 11 straight sparring partners. He put Cassius on the deck the last time they fought but Cassius was arguing with a ringsider at the time. 'Ennery normally sees so little of his opponent in the ring that he not only can't hit him, he can't even identify a picture of him the next day.

IT'S A WITLESS fight for Cassius anyway. It will be somebody like Cooper who does him in one of these days—turns him from the Sahib Swat to the So What of Swat. Cassius fights best from hysterical fear—like the lion—or the mouse. With 'Ennery, all he can muster is hysterical laughter. His reputation was tarnished because he couldn't put Chuvalo on the canvas, or keep Floyd Patterson there, maybe 'Ennery will pull the switch on him and put him in real stitches for a change.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Find Most Harmful Opponent, So He Can Be Shut Out Of Your Game

In some hands only one of the opponents is able to hurt you, and you must play in such a way as to keep that opponent out of the lead.

Opening lead — ◇ K

West opens the king of diamonds, and South must refuse the first trick. Otherwise, East would win a later trick with the jack of diamonds.

He would return a club, and the defenders would get a diamond, two clubs, and a heart.

ANOTHER DIAMOND

West leads another diamond when allowed to hold the first trick. South takes the ace, and leads a heart.

If West puts up the king of hearts, South lets him hold the trick. The "normal" heart play would allow East to take the third heart trick.

He would then lead a club to defeat the contract. If South gives West a heart trick, he can later run the rest of the hearts, and West can take only one club trick.

TAKE ACE

It West plays a low heart when South first leads the suit, declarer should win in dummy with the ace and get back to his hand with a trump to lead another heart.

West gets the king of hearts and can only take the ace of clubs; he cannot defeat the contract.

West may try to get out of the trap by discarding the king of hearts when South leads the third trump to his hand.

If so, South leads a heart to dummy's queen and returns a club.

TWO CLUB TRICKS

West gets his two club tricks but must then lead a diamond or a club. In either case dummy ruffs while South discards his losing heart.

South makes the contract by keeping East out of the lead for the entire hand.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ K J 8 7
♥ A Q 5 3 2
♦ 10 4
♣ 9 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid despite the length in both major suits.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, May 11, the 131st day of 1966 with 234 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

Irving Berlin was born on this day in 1888.

On this day in history:

In 1832, the first political platform was drawn up for the campaign to elect Henry Clay President.

In 1846, President Polk sent a war message to Congress concerning what he called an invasion of American territory by Mexico.

In 1960, John D. Rockefeller died at the age of 86.

A thought for the day—Roman philosopher Epictetus: "Whatever you would make habitual, practice it; and if you would not make a thing habitual, do not practice it, but habituate yourself to something else."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Groundbreaking Rites Prepared For Pacheco Plaza Shop Center

Groundbreaking ceremonies are scheduled to be held tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. for the Pacheco Plaza Shopping Center, Ignacio, on the site of the home of pioneer Ygnacio Pacheco, who a century ago owned about one-third of Marin County.

The development, a project of Walter Kieckhefer Co., of San Rafael, will comprise 70,000 square feet of retail area, including a 20,000-square-foot Safeway store, Taylor Variety, Russell Ziebell's drug store, Donald Sparrow's third Royal Beauty Salon, U-Save Liquors—plus a cleaner and laundry and several other potential tenants. A bank location is also available but has not been leased.

Architects Apaydin, Angell and Lockwood designed the layout — now Crown Development Co. of San Rafael has been awarded the contract to build it at approximately $800,000.

The company has its main office and manufacturing plant in Redwood City, where it got into production about eight years ago. Local office, which covers all of the North Bay as far north as Ukiah, is managed by William Geery, now a resident of East San Rafael and brother of the firm's owner.

Products are tub enclosures and shower doors supplied to plumbers, contractors and builders, and there is some retail trade. No manufacturing is done in San Rafael, but Geery said eventually this branch may duplicate the Redwood City facilities. The company also acts as a distributor for some other bath and shower products.

BELVEDERE ASSOCIATES has opened its new real estate offices at 1647 Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon. This is in a new building next to the entrance of Tiburon Lodge. Principals are William A. Slater, Laura Dornbach, Jack McCormick, Brooke P. Halsey and Loretta Baker. All are residents of the Tiburon-Belvedere area except Slater, who still maintains his home in San Francisco. Bottle Shop of Tiburon, Inc., has also moved here from across the street.

REDWOOD TRAVEL ADVISORS, San Rafael, will open another branch office soon — this one in the lobby of Tiburon Lodge when the latter gets under way.

ZUT ALORS, new shop in Tiburon handling fresh flowers, soaps, candies, jewelry and gifts, has chosen an upstairs site at 14 Main Street for its location and should be open a week from today.

The owner, previously designated as "Corinne L-N," is now identified as singer Corinne La Comble Navarro of Tiburon no matter how she signs her checks. She has with her as a partner in the business Fatima Du Shey, a Turkish dancer, who will also be holding private classes in her art. Turkish or Egyptian dancing, she says, is usually handed down from mother to daughter through succeeding generations — and that's the way she acquired her training.

RICHARD HEXTER of Terra Linda has taken over the entire ownership of the San Francisco wholesale men's apparel firm Harry D. Grant Co., after a four-year partnership with Karl E. Graupner of San Anselmo. The latter's future business plans are still undetermined.

CONVENTIONS. Clifford O. Le Rud, San Rafael general agent for New York Life Insurance Co., reported from last week's meeting of leaders in Colorado Springs that the company passed the two-billion dollar mark in life insurance in force while he was there . . . Rudolph E. Lindquist of San Rafael, president of Bearing Specialty Co., and his wife attended last week's gathering of the Anti-Friction Bearing Assn. in Scottsdale, Ariz.

NEW HOME FOR FOOD PRODUCTS MANUFACTURER

La Ville Food Products owned by Maurice Bertauche has moved to this 8,000-square-foot building on Carlos Drive, Northgate Industrial Park after 20 years at 120 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo. The firm markets gourmet food items throughout the world. The building was designed by John Marshall and David Gibbs and constructed by Ronald Antonioli.

Supermarket Chief

CHICAGO — Robert Margulies has been elected a director and member of the executive committee of Consolidated Foods Corp. He is president of Eagle Food Centers, Milan, Ill., the supermarket subsidiary of Consolidated Foods.

Eichler Homes Sells Holdings To Charles Paar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Charles H. Parr Sr. and a group of Southern California associates bought control yesterday of Eichler Homes Inc., San Francisco development and construction firm.

Joseph L. Eichler and two sons owned about 65 per cent of the 499,542 Eichler shares, and those holdings were valued at about $1.5 million.

No purchase price was made public, however.

In its 18 years, the firm has built and sold more than $100 million worth of homes and apartments in this area.

Investors Want New Stock Market Index

By ANDREW BALDWIN

The Dow Jones Industrial Averages have been part of investors' language for some 70 years as the barometer of stock market trends. A growing number of market experts, however, have wanted to install other indicators of market trends.

The Dow Jones averages, a list of 30 leading blue chips, offer a composite reading which last June represented a total value of about 35 per cent of all stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The major criticism of this index is that it is misleading because it is limited to only 30 select stocks and can result in exaggerated price swings. For instance, a short time ago the averages rose 3.45 points in one day in a change almost entirely due to two of the 30 stocks, General Electric and Eastman Kodak.

The 30 issues had 1964 sales of almost $95 billion, equal to about 15 per cent of the U.S. Gross National Product for that year. Indeed, only two countries in the world had a 1964 GNP greater than the 1964 sales of the 30 issues, the United States and West Germany.

Now after months of study the New York and American stock exchanges have decided to come up with a better median. With prodding from the White House, the two exchanges will start compiling computer prepared market averages of their own this summer. The Pacific Coast Stock Exchange, where most of the issues are also traded on the New York exchanges, informed this column that it is studying the New York move.

The New York Stock Exchange (the "Big Board") will have two indexes; the first is a composite average which will come out every half hour of all the listed common stocks (1,268) that appear on the ticker tape. The second is a separate index for four industry groups—industrials, transportation, utilities and finance.

The American Stock Exchange will publish three averages: a price level index for its 1,040 common stocks that will be issued every hour, a daily tabulation of the point spread by which all stocks rose or fell, and the first price earnings index ever to be issued by any exchange, on a monthly basis.

Both exchanges will list their composite average in dollars and cents instead of points as is now the case. The new averages will provide the most comprehensive reading we have had to date. As for the Dow Jones averages, few think that the new indexes will push the Dow Jones list into oblivion, but it will, at the very least, have to share the spotlight.

Recovery Attempt Runs Out Of Steam

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today after a recovery ran out of steam.

Trading was only moderate in early trading as stocks resumed their comeback from a severe battering. The list reached its peak around the middle of the session, then began to back away as traders took profits.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.2 million shares compared with 9.03 million yesterday.

Blue chips held gains ranging to 1 or 2 points while the glamor issues were several points ahead in some instances. A number of early gainers backed away from their peaks. Some showed small losses.

IBM was up 10, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer 4, Motorola 5, Zenith 3 and Douglas Aircraft 2.

Aerospace-airline-color television-electronics issues — the same big winners in the early 1966 advance — emerged as the best gainers in the recovery. Plus signs were shown also by drugs, tobaccos, chemicals, oils, electrical equipments and farm implements.

Studebaker, halted temporarily in trading, spurted more than 4.

Hess Oil looked like a repeater as most active stock but backed away from an early rise and showed a fractional net loss.

Teledyne, Cyprus Mines, KLM Airlines, Anaconda, Eastern Air Lines and United Air Lines (new) were up around 2 or better.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher in heavy trading.

Stocks React In Confusion To Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI) —To car-conscious Detroit, the Wall Street reaction to disclosure of a slight spring cutback in auto production made little sense.

Yesterday's stock rally thickened the fog.

The market bounded up on an announcement from Chrysler Corp., that was cutting 4,700 cars from June production schedules but would still set a company record for June output.

Chrysler's June cutback will involve closing assembly plants at Newark, Del., and Los Angeles for four days starting May 31, laying off about 6,000 workers.

From here the news from Chrysler was about the same as that from General Motors Corp., late last week and Ford Motor Co., Monday. But the GM and Ford cutback disclosures were blamed for sharp declines in stock prices.

Their total effect will be to cut about 160,000 cars from earlier May through July production schedules which were pegged during the rosy glow of January, February and March when car sales were booming at a fantastic annual rate of 10 million a year.

All indications now point to total 1966 moel year sales of a little more than 9 million cars, down only slightly from the record 9.3 million o the 1965 model year.

April sales were down a little, prodding the car makers back to earth and forcing the schedule cutbacks. But car sales during the last 10 days of April set an all-time record, dampening speculation that the car safety controversy was starting a downward trend in auto sales.

Assets Increase At Tiburon Bank

Tiburon National Bank has reported total assets in excess of $8.5 million at the end of the first quarter of 1966.

Deposits were 73 per cent higher than a year ago; outstanding loans increased 125 per cent.

Charles Tijerina, president and chairman of the board, said a branch office is expected to be opened in Sausalito this fall. Headquartered in Tiburon, the bank also maintains offices in Alto, Kentfield and Corte Madera.

FREE DISCUSSION URGED IN CLASSES

Faculty, Citizens Committee Back Talks Without Bias On Controversial Subjects

A policy of free discussion of controversial issues in schools, without bias or prejudice, was recommended last night to the San Rafael Board of Education.

Committees of citizens and of faculty jointly recommended the policy, stating that free discussion of controversial issued is essential to the learning process.

The proposed policy states that "teachers shall strive to maintain an instructional atmosphere free of bias and prejudice in which controversial issues can be discussed in a fair and responsible manner."

It also states that "teachers shall strive to teach students to weigh issues, to think critically, to respect the value of differing viewpoints, to arrive at their own conclusions and to appreciate the role of controversy in the democratic decision making process."

The teacher has the responsibility to determine that the issues are germane to the course and that the students are ready for the topics and materials involved.

H. David Sokoloff, chairman of the citizen committee, said the committees worked independently at drafting a proposed policy. "The drafts of the two committees proved to be in essential agreement," he said. During a joint session, the two committees arrived at the recommended policy, Sokoloff reported.

In the proposed policy a controversial issue is defined "as one on which there is no unanimity within the community."

If adopted the proposed policy would replace the present policy on teaching controversial subjects which reads, in full:

"Teachers of the district shall feel free to teach controversial topics related to their subjects of instruction. They shall establish a classroom atmosphere whereby students may search for ideas and judge their implications."

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer moved for adoption of the policy. But Supt. Bert C. Corona reminded the board that it is its custom not to adopt a policy matter the first time it is before the board. Action was then postponed until the May 24 meeting.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

1. Directed Corona to prepare and distribute a fact sheet on the proposed unification of San Rafael City Schools and the Dixie School District, which will be on the ballot in the June 7 primary election.

2. Postponed until budget discussions a proposed contract with the Louise Boyd Natural Science Museum to provide museum services at a cost estimated at $450.

3. Bagley Requests Strike Inquiry

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, yesterday introduced a resolution in the State Assembly asking for study to see whether stronger law is needed to prevent strikes in public transportation and other public services.

The resolution was referred to the rules committee.

Bagley said he researched California law in this field and found it "very uncertain and inadequate." He says rights of the public versus those of public employees are "very ill-defined." He made the study as an aftermath of the New York transit tieup.

Support Mental Health Center Drive For Funds

Marin County does not merely talk about its concern for the mental care of its citizens. It acts.

The County of Marin and the Marin Hospital District have joined to sponsor a Community Mental Health Center for the care of both public and private psychiatric patients.

The center will be located northeast of and adjacent to Marin General Hospital.

The Community Mental Health Center will be jointly financed. The County of Marin has set aside $150,000 for construction, and another $150,000 will come from the Marin Hospital District. A third $150,000 is being raised via a public fund-raising campaign.

With this local contribution of $450,000, matching funds on a two-for-one basis will come from federal and state agencies in the amount of $900,000.

We urge full public support in this worthwhile fund raising campaign. Money raised locally will go a long way because for each dollar contributed here, two additional dollars will be received from federal and state governments.

The goal is to bring to Marin County a $1,350,000 center with the finest and most modern mental health care facilities possible.

The new center will expand and extend the services now offered at the Community Mental Health facility at 610 D Street in San Rafael, and at Ross general and San Rafael general hospitals.

Existing agencies in Marin have already adopted the modern concept of giving patients care and treatment in the home community with the least disruption in the patients' lives.

The proposed new Community Health Center will further this modern trend toward home treatment, among familiar surroundings and familiar faces. This also increases the opportunity for friends and neighbors and other volunteers to lend a helping hand to those who are temporarily distressed.

The proposed Community Mental Health Center has the enthusiastic support of various mental health agencies and professional workers, both public and private.

We trust that the public and private organizations and individuals will also support the project and contribute their share ($150,000) to the $1,350,000 structure.

A Potential Pandora's Box

Now that man seemingly has it almost within his grasp to divert storms, precipitate rain, reduce fog, and otherwise modify the weather, some people are taking a thoughtful second look at the situation. Such tampering with the weather could produce a Pandora's box of litigation, according to legal experts.

People will accept floods, hurricane force winds, or sun-blistered artichokes as long as they are created as "acts of God." But, suppose for example, that the government tried to divert a crushing winter storm from the Eureka region and succeeded only in funnelling it down to Marin County. We would be angry about the broken trees, the crushed buildings and the flooding. Predictably, many Marinites would sue.

It would be very nice to be able to control the weather. But will it be possible to please everyone? Making the desert into a lush garden sounds great, but what about the poor guys with sinus or asthma conditions who like dry air?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — So much propaganda has been circulated during the past few years to the effect that the California farmer is a rich and voracious despoiler of domestic farm labor that many people, without investigation of facts, have come to believe the malignment.

The propaganda has been aided and abetted both by the administrations in Washington, D.C., and by the state Capitol in Sacramento.

THE FACTS are that the farmer is no different than any other citizen who is trying to run a business, pay the wages the product will warrant, and at the same time pay the excessive taxes assessed both by the federal, state and local governments.

The government effort to downgrade the farmer now has reached the point where it is hitting the consumer with higher prices and decreased food supplies.

The Council of California Growers has surveyed the situation in the production of asparagus and come up with the announcement that failure of the U.S. Department of Labor to recognize the justice of the request for supplemental workers from foreign countries has doomed some 15,000 acres of asparagus, worth $6 million.

THIS IS the amount of asparagus for canning that will not be harvested this year, unless at least 2,500 additional workers are found almost immediately, officials of the council state.

The U.S. Department of Labor has refused to consider a grower request for workers, stating asparagus farmers have refused to undertake an effective recruitment program for domestic workers.

A. R. Duarte, manager of the San Joaquin Farm Production Assn., said the department ignores the intensive recruitment program the association has had under way. He said growers have through their own efforts, recruited more than 500 out-of-state workers and hundreds more within the state. Wages have been increased and are averaging more than $2 an hour. Housing conditions and menus have been improved materially, he said.

The department of labor, Duarte pointed out, allowed Florida importation of foreign workers when efforts to recruit in that state bogged down.

"WHEN OUR OWN effort to recruit began to lag," Duarte declared, "we asked the California Department of Employment for help. This was given us, but now it also is falling far behind our needs. In the past two days, only seven men have been recruited from Oakland and 16 from Los Angeles, to fill a need for 2,500.

"We will continue our efforts in every way possible, but failure to find 2,500 workers spells financial disaster for growers. It means a loss of 30 million pounds of asparagus this year following a 50 per cent reduction last year, because of the secretary's domestic recruitment program failure."

Asparagus is not the only crop needing labor. In Salinas, reports from Assemblyman Alan Pattee, S-Salinas, are to the effect that fields of strawberries are being plowed under for lack of harvest help. Pattee says growers purchased a trailer park for better housing and so far have been unable to keep it half full.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In the current issue (May 1, 1966) of the financial magazine, Forbes, appears an article dealing with the increasing entry of large corporations into the real estate field. The article contains the following two paragraphs of local interest:

"Real estate operations in the oil industry are no less varied than in the aluminum and railroad industries. Perhaps the most varied is Gulf Oil's. Gulf is a backer of the satellite city that Robert E. Simon Jr. is building in Reston, Va., 18 miles from Washington. The payoff for Gulf includes first choice of gas station sites in Reston.

"In Marin County, Calif., Gulf has bought a huge tract that it is gradually selling off to a developer. Gulf expects to make a profit on the land but, once again, a condition of sale is first choice of station sites."

Mammals Menace Habitat

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Richard Lyttle's article on those pesky, messy starlings was of particular interest to me inasmuch as I had just been reading reports on another European immigrant which has "flocked across the United States" during almost the same interval of time.

These two-legged mammals do extensive damage to any environment into which they move and have a similar talent for "messing buildings," streets, parks, and beaches, as well as polluting and poisoning the air and water around them with fumes, sewage, garbage, and pesticides. They have also been known to drive egrets from their nests and shoot American eagles.

The biggest threat in Marin is the gradual disappearance of trees and green hills. An alarming portent is a rumored swarming and breeding area on the barren Golden Gate headlands, which had been thought to be an unnatural habitat and hence safe from invasion.

Control of the problem becomes increasingly difficult. Perhaps, after we have at last crowded and poisoned ourselves out of existence, the world will once again be safe for starlings.

Why Waste Money On Youth Symphony?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On April 30, I attended a concert of Marin Youth Symphony in the gymnasium of the College of Marin. . . .

. . . The admission of $1 could have been better invested in a donation to a local charity such as Sunny Hills, than to an obvious glorification of a mediocre performance by neglectedly trained school children in a subject which was recently dropped from the school curriculum by California State legislators: Music! When legislators, who know more about how to raise hogs than young musicians, interfere in school education, the result is usually hogwash.

This is what one could almost call the performance of the last movement, by Marin Youth Symphony, of Dvorak's immortal New World Symphony. I heard many student orchestras perform this work, but this performance was the last word in sour delivery of that glorious music one could imagine. . . .

The violin soloist displayed an evident talent, but insufficient technical equipment for a composition like Bruch's G-minor concerto. . . . The highlight of the concert was the piano solo by a talented child who evidently had excellent technical and musical training with a private teacher. . . .

The usually gifted conductor Hugo Rinaldi did the best he could with the bad material at hand. It was due to his cool self-control and poise that he managed to overcome the handicap of poorly trained youngsters and bring the concert to a seemingly satisfactory conclusion . . .

Musically speaking the performance as a whole was totally unsatisfactory and far off the fine standard the Marin Youth Smyphony established at previous performances. . . .

The reason can be traced directly to the curtailment of music instruction in public schools recently enacted by the State Legislature. . . . If music is to remain in public schools, it has to be part of the school curriculum and a sufficient number of qualified music teachers must be available for music direction . . . I hope this letter will arouse a sufficient number of parents and music lovers of Marin to write to their state legislators and demand the restoration of music in the school curriculum in California public schools.

Withhold Payments Of Property Tax

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Let us have a unanimous "second" to taxpayer Carruther's motion to withhold payment of property taxes for the December-April installments and perhaps even longer. . . . All efforts short of withholding are predestined to failure. . . . The proposed reassessment clearly demonstrates that all rational protest falls on deaf ears and now is the time for all good taxpayers to come to the aid of one another and do something about this horrendous taxation. . . .

What's to lose on a 1 per cent delinquency penalty? (6 per cent invested at 5 per cent.) . . . There is no question in my mind that the rate is confiscatory right now. My tax bill represents 75 per cent of my yearly combined principal, interest and long term mortgage insurance. At the present four-year reassessment rate, the next reassessment will be equal to my whole mortgage payment mentioned above for each year paid.

. . . Remember taxation without representation and the Boston Tea Party? Let us initiate an effective tax party of our own . . . It is up to you now, fellow taxpayers. Shoot the works! No meetings, no committees, no fees, no strain, no pain. Just remember not to pay your property taxes in December and April. Then they will be asking for your advice instead of telling you what they are going to do with your money.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

COMMUTERS from Connecticut have become used to horrendous railroad service, but when a local limped into N. Y.'s Grand Central an hour-and-a-half late (on a scheduled forty-minute run) even one meek little man from Mount Vernon protested. The conductor reminded him, "We're always late when it's snowing." "I know that," persisted the man, "but this morning there isn't a cloud in the sky." We're not responsible for that," concluded the loyal conductor. "SNOW WAS PREDICTED!"

RISING YOUNG comedian Dick Cavett, fresh from the sticks, recalls that his mother raised him beatuifully on a salary of less than twenty dollars a week. She did some moonlighting on the side, however—taking in washing at night — off other people's clotheslines. "My whole first year at Yale," add Cavett, "I wore brown and white shoes. This didn't prove practical. The white one kept getting dirty." On the Jack Parr show, Cavett won instant national fame by his introduction of a famous actress: "Here they are folks: Jayne Mansfield."

CASKIE STINNETT tells of the very proper and proud Bostonian who marched up to the ticket window of a railroad station in London and announced firmly, "I would like one excursion ticket, please, to Cambridge—ENGLAND."

Negro, White Vote Shows Up Significant Election Aspects

The most significant aspects of the Alabama Democratic primaries last week are these:

1. For the first time since Reconstruction large numbers of Negroes voted—and their votes were counted. There was no resistance, no disorder, no violence.

The central meaning is that racism is at the point of becoming a dead end street for both Democrats and Republicans. Negro voters can no longer be neglected. They will find that the exercise of voting rights is the open door to all other civil rights.

2. There was no indiscriminate Negro bloc-voting — although it is not at all unreasonable that there should be.

3. Even more important, there was no visible move toward black-government-for-its-own-sake anywhere in the state, not even in districts with overwhelming Negro majorities and where Negroes, voting freely for the first time, might understandably want their own in offices so long denied them.

4. Despite the pleas of national Republican leaders—like Richard Nixon who warns that the GOP "must not go prospecting for the fool's gold of racist votes" in the South—it looks as though the probable Republican opponent, Rep. James D. Martin, will run against the Wallace ticket in a campaign keyed to a strong anti-Negro bias. In my judgment this is no proof that racism is the wave of the future; it just shows how blind and mistaken some politicians can be.

The fact that nearly all the whites voted for Lurleen Wallace, as the proxy for her husband, and nearly all the Negroes voted for Richmond Flowers, the state attorney general, produces the quick opinion that bloc-voting would be the instinctive, even irresistible reaction of the newly-franchised Negro voters and that it could well lead to a kind of racism-in-reverse.

There is no present evidence that it is going to be so. No candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Alabama conducted a racist campaign, but Attorney General Flowers was the only candidate to speak out for the cause of racial justice, to bid openly for the Negro vote. No wonder it went overwhelmingly to the man who sought and earned their support.

But does this mean that Negro voters are going to oppose white candidates because they are white and support Negro candidates just because they are Negroes?

NOTHING in the Alabama voting justifies this conclusion. The evidence thus far is that Negroes are going to vote their interests with discrimination and are not headed toward practicing any degree of racism-in-reverse.

In two Black Belt counties, where Negroes have never voted before and where they have approximately a 2-to-1 majority, the Negro voters rejected two young Negro candidates for sheriff and nominated two incumbent white sheriffs who have been in office many years.

In some districts it appeared that white candidates were saved from defeat by Negro votes. There were more than 50 Negro candidates for local and legislative offices; none won nomination but several will be in run-off contests.

It would not be surprising if some Negroes wanted to replace white government with black government in districts with big Negro majorities. But what is needed is good government, not color government, and it will be the Negroes' gift to the nation and themselves if, after long harassment, they shun reprisal.

Russians Testing Missile-Jam Device

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Russia is testing a deadly new jamming device in the aerial battles over North Viet Nam.

This radar counter-weapon appears to be highly effective against the two principal U.S. air-to-air missiles, the Sidewinder and Sparrow. Only one of the first 38 of these missiles fired at MIG-21s, most advanced Soviet fighter in Viet Nam, hit its target and destroyed the plane.

That's the disturbing report received by Air Force and Navy experts probing the failure of U.S. air-to-air missiles. Pilots expressed the belief that the MIG-21st are equipped with a jamming device that neutralizes the radar-guidance systems used in launching U.S. missiles.

DURING THEIR dog-fights with the MIG121s, the pilots stated that electronic impulses from the enemy aircraft repeatedly "unlocked" their radar as they zeroed in their guidance system for missile firings.

In clashes with slower MIG-15s and MIG-17s, this radar problem has not appeared. Careful checks of the guidance systems seem to rule out other reasons for their failure.

Sidewinder missiles, which are attracted to heat, have been found to be most effective against the MIGs when fired toward their jet engines in the rear. In making attacks, U.S. pilots maneuver into this position to "lock on" their radar guidance system to the tail of the enemy aircraft for the best results.

When the MIGs come within range, the missiles are automatically fired by radar. Any major disturbance to the radar system causes the missiles to veer off course and greatly reduces the chances of hitting the targets.

SPARROW MISSILES, with a much longer range, are guided to the target by radar. MIG-21 pilots apparently are diverting these weapons by directly jamming their guidance systems.

U.S. authorities have known for some years that the Russians were equipping their jet bombers with this anti-missile device. However, until the encounters in Viet Nam, it was the view of U.S. experts that the jamming system was too large for installation in the smaller MIGs.

This electronic development is rated a major breakthrough for the Soviet, as U.S. scientists still have not perfected a similar device for either bombers or interceptors.

Air Force officials are gravely concerned that the jamming device will give the MIG-21 a decided advantage over the F-4C Phantom jet, speediest fighter in the world.

WHILE THE MIG-21 has proved somewhat more maneuverable, the supersonic Phantom has a longer range, can attain a higher altitude, and is much faster. Its speed is "more than 1,800 miles per hour" compared to 1,600 for the MIG-21.

Monitoring of radio conversations indicate that both Russian and Vietnamese speaking pilots are manning the MIG-21s. These jets are based at Pucyen airfield, 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, and at Kep, 37 miles northwest of the capital.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have repeatedly proposed that these two bases be bombed, since all of the estimated 60 MIG-21s in North Viet Nam are stationed on them.

The number of jet aircraft permanently based in North Viet Nam is now estimated by the Air Force at 160. In addition to the MIG-21s, there are 30 MIG-15s, 40 MIG-17s and 30 IL-28 light bombers.

Stiff Backs, Hard Hats Are Some Problems Of Patrolmen

Have you ever been stopped by a California Highway patrolman and cringed as the officer, dressed in shiny helmet and boots, seemed to swagger toward you?

Well, he wasn't really swaggering. According to officers Arthur S. Olson and Theodore E. McGuire of the highway patrol's Corte Madera office, the officer was probably walking that way to stretch and loosen up his back muscles.

IT SEEMS a highway patrolman has to sit in his car for long periods of time. On night shifts he may sit for as long as three hours before he gets a chance to flag down an errant motorist.

That much sitting causes stiffness because of the compression of the spine, Olson explained. "One time I was so stiff I had to grab the door jamb with both hands and do a sort of hula," Olson recalled, before he was able to walk over to the stopped driver. With their back aggravated by this strain highway patrolmen are prone to back injuries.

Both men stressed, however, that patrolmen don't try to intimidate the motorist either by their walk or any other means.

Speaking of helmets ("hardhats" as they're called) peace officers have differing opinions about their effectiveness.

SEVERAL HIGHWAY patrolmen, who prefer to remain anonymous, have said they don't like the helmets. The hardhats, they say, are dangerous because they cut down the wearer's side vision and impair his hearing. Also, because they are heavy and uncomfortable, the helmets restrict certain head movements, the officers claim.

The helmets also have a disputed psychological effect. Some patrolmen contend that the mere wearing of them seems to antagonize civilians, most often in crowd control situations. One patrolman said that when he was on duty during the 1964 Sproul Hall demonstrations in Berkeley "some kid came up to me and sneered 'What do you think you are, a Gestapo storm trooper or something?'. The officer added, "Heck, he wasn't even born 'til after the war."

Others go further and say that the appearance of helmeted officers not only antagonizes but actually incites the violence they're there to supress, especially among minority groups. The appearance of a helmeted officer, often carrying a nightstick, is a symbol of the authority the crowd is often lashing out against.

DISAGREEING is Lt. George R. Barnes of the Tiburon sheriff's substation, who says that the helmets are "worth a million dollars in certain situations." He said that an officer always needs the protection. "Some people are going to cause trouble whether you wear a helmet or not," he asserted.

As for comfort, Barnes said that the suspension helmets become comfortable "after a week or two" since the heat from the wearer's head tends to shape the plastic. He said he found no restriction of movement nor danger in them.

One psychological advantage for an officer in a helmet is that it make him appear four inches taller and 10 times more authoritative.

Teen-Agers Learn Brand New Dance Style To Slow Rhythm

WASHINGTON — Teen-agers who live in the world of the frug, the monkey, the swim, and other such energetic dances occasionally come up with some startling discoveries.

The other night the 16-year-old daughter of a friend of mine rushed into her mother's bedroom after attending a dance and said excitedly, "Mother, you'll never guess what we did!"

The mother, expecting the worst, grabbed onto both sides of the bed and said weakly, "What did you do?"

"WE DANCED holding onto each other."

"Oh," said the mother, "how did it happen?"

"I don't know. We were each out there dancing separately and not paying any attention to each other when suddenly Roger put his arm around my shoulder and he took my other arm like this, and we started dancing together."

"How could you possibly do that?" the mother asked.

"I don't know. But he asked me to follow him and do whatever he did. It really felt funny."

"In what way?"

"I MEAN the idea of actually dancing with another person and him holding you in his arms. It was kind of crazy."

"Did you like it?" the mother asked.

"I loved it. At first it was kind of hard to follow because I was supposed to do exactly what he did. But then when I got the hang of it, it wasn't hard at all."

"What else did you do?"

"I know this is going to sound ridiculous, mother, but he put his cheek on mine and we danced cheek to cheek all around the floor."

"And he held you the whole time?"

"Yes, the whole time we danced."

"What did the other kids do?"

"THEY COULDN'T believe it. I mean none of them had ever danced like that and they thought Roger and I were kooks. But then a couple of them tried it and they liked it, too, and pretty soon about five or six couples were dancing cheek to cheek.

"I asked Shirley to try it with Bobby, but she said she wasn't going to follow any boy around a dance floor, and Bobby said it spoiled the dance if you and the girl did the same step. But I said they just wouldn't know how good it felt until they tried it."

"What kind of music did they play?" the mother asked.

"That was the weird part of it. Roger asked the orchestra to play slow music because you dance better together that way. A few of the kids got mad, because, they said, nobody could dance to slow music."

The mother said, "I don't know how to break this to you, Barbara, but that's the way your father and I used to dance."

"You couldn't," the daughter cried. "It's a new dance. Roger told me no one had ever done it that way before."

"Roger is wrong," the mother said. "Everyone danced that way. That used to be the whole idea of dancing—to let the fellow hold you and to follow him on the dance floor."

"I'll be darned," she said, "I didn't think you folks had it in you."

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Henry DuPertuis of San Geronimo will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary May 30 with a family reunion in San Geronimo planned to include all of their nine children, 28 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

San Geronimo Couple Fete Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Du Pertuis of 10 Creamery Road, San Geronimo, will celebrate their golden wedding May 30.

The couple's nine children, 28 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren are expected to join them in San Geronimo for the celebration. The family will have a dinner at the San Geronimo Community Presbyterian Church, followed by a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Du Pertuis have lived in Marin County since 1945. They lived in Marin City for 14 years, and moved to San Geronimo seven years ago.

They were married in Charleston (now part of Bremerton), Wash., in 1916, 10 years after they met at the University of Puget Sound. Berna Miller was teaching school in Du Pertuis' home town of Chehalis, Wash., when they were married. She taught school for four years.

Their eldest son, Laurance S. Du Pertuis, now lives in Redwood City. Their other children are Donald Du Pertuis of Mill Valley, Harold Du Pertuis of San Leandro, Henry Du Pertuis Jr. of San Leandro, Mrs. Marjorie Hook of Wapakoneta, Ohio, Gilbert Du Pertuis of La Habra, Mrs. Dorothy Bretz of Bell, Charles Du Pertuis of Woodacre, and Dr. F. M. Du Pertuis, a chiropractor in Merced.

Du Pertuis, 79, retired from his work as a carpenter in 1965, but still keeps busy with a hobby that stems from his trade. He does wood-turning and polishing, and has made several pieces of the furniture for the couple's home, including a floor lamp from a twisted juniper tree. He also has made quite a collection of wood-carved dishes.

Mrs. Du Pertuis, 77, says that she hasn't retired yet. She plays the organ as a hobby.

Asked how they have managed to stay married for 50 years, Du Pertuis answered: "We didn't have any alternative. When we were engaged I told her I couldn't live without her."

Sanitary District's Study Due In June

Report on a financial study of the Novato Sanitary District should be in the district board's hands by its June 2 meeting, Edward Wells of Bartle-Wells Municipal Financing Consultants of San Francisco told the board Monday night.
